Nixon Talks Back To Russ Hecklers In Siberian City

SVERDLOVSK, Soviet Union (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon took on a series of hecklers today and demanded to know why the Soviet Union sees fit to maintain troops in Poland, Hungary and East Germany.

The clashes took place in Novosibirsk, western Siberia, just before the vice president took off for Sverdlovsk. Several thousand silently waiting Russians greeted him in this city in the eastern Ural Mountains.

Nixon's eagerly awaited tour of the Siberian branch of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences at Novosibirsk turned out to be a bust. Soviet authorities allowed him to see only a single building which, they said, is to house their institute of hydrodynamics.

Soviet authorities only reluctantly allowed him the visit. Nixon insisted on it.

The over-all feeling toward Nixon in Novosibirsk was warm. He received there yesterday the friendliest greeting of his 11-day Soviet tour.

But shortly before leaving Novosibirsk he was subjected to some questions from hecklers. One of Nixon's aides said some of the hecklers appeared to have been planted in the crowd.

Nixon showed no outward sign of being upset at the sharp questioning which came as he toured the big hydroelectric plant and big scientific center.

On several occasions questioners stood toe to toe with Nixon challenging him to say why the United States will not accept Soviet plans for ending nuclear tests and why it will not trade more with the Soviet Union.

The vice president's patience wore a little thin when a workman, identified as Grigory Belausov Federovic, 30, an electrician, kept shouting questions and interrupting.

"The Soviet Union has no military bases outside our borders, and the United States has many in foreign countries. Why is that, I'd like to know," Federovic asked.

In replying, Nixon disclosed he had discussed this with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in their nearly six-hour talk at the Soviet leader's home Sunday.

"As you know we have political and foreign policy differences with the Soviet Union," Nixon said. "When we both agree on a disarmament proposal with adequate inspection then we can take up the question of bases. Now I'd like to ask you a question."

The heckler interjected, "I'm not satisfied with that answer."

In a loud voice, Nixon continued: "In East Germany, Poland and Hungary, the U.S.S.R. has troops. Why are your troops in those countries?"

"Is Poland your country?" Nixon went on. "Is Hungary your country? Why do you keep troops there?"

As several hundred workmen, Soviet officials, Nixon aides and newsmen crowded around, the questioner poked his finger a few inches from Nixon's chest.

"There are American and Western troops in Germany, and the Soviet has to maintain forces for that reason," the man retorted.

Smilingly, Nixon shook his head and countered: "You see, you always have a reason."

Liner Queen Elizabeth, Freighter Crash In Fog

Vessels In Collision Off New York Harbor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Coast Guard reported today that the liner Queen Elizabeth, the world's largest passenger vessel, had collided with a freighter about a mile and a half outside New York harbor.

The Coast Guard said the Queen Elizabeth reported that the extent of damage was not yet known.

The Coast Guard said it had received the report from the S.S. American Hunter, which was involved in the collision.

No injuries were reported in the collision, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard said both ships dropped anchor after the collision, but that the Elizabeth, was returning to its dock with the aid of a tug.

At the time of the collision, the Elizabeth was outbound and the American Hunter inbound.

Cunard Lines, operators of the 83,000-ton Queen Elizabeth, said 1,959 persons were aboard the liner

The collision happened in a fog, the Coast Guard said.

ARMY ENGINEERS SALVAGE SUNKEN BARGE

Five years ago, a big Army Engineers' barge sank off the Engineers' dock at Sausalito. Meantime the area was leased by the Engineers to Ludfor (Jerry) Kalfos, who operates salvage and boat repair facilities there. But Kalfos and the Engineers decided recently the long-sunken barge should be brought to the surface. Undertaking the job today was a detachment of the 561st Engineer Corps at Ft. Baker under Capt. Charles Monges. One edge of barge had been brought to surface by pumping air under it when this photo was taken by Independent-Journal cameraman..

House Slashes Ike's Foreign Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed a $3,186,500,000 foreign aid bill cutting deeply under President Eisenhower's request and tailored to force out information the administration wants to withhold.

The bill went to the Senate on a 279-136 roll call vote. Only that formal action had been left over last night after the House finished section-by-section consideration and tentatively approved the product.

Both the cut in funds and the force-out provision are sore points with Eisenhower.

Just before the House acted the President predicted at his news conference that the force-out plan never would get to his desk as legislation. He described it as an unconstitutional invasion of executive powers. The device consists of a section providing for a cut-off of aid funds if the administration holds back from Congress its evaluation reports on how aid programs are going.

San Rafael Police Nab Napa Escapee

San Rafael police, acting on an anonymous tip, arrested Jimmie Ray Smith, 20, about 7 o'clock last night at the Yacht Club bar on Irwin street.

Smith accompanied the officers quietly to county jail, but became violent at the booking desk, police reported. Jailers and police had to subdue him and put him in the padded cell.

Officials from Napa picked him up at 9:25 last night.

From a description of Smith, San Rafael police at first thought he might have been the man who crept into the Frank Nakagawa home at 2 Bay View street in San Rafael about 1:30 a.m. Monday.

But this prowler turned out to be an ex-Marine, who had become intoxicated and wandered into the living room where Alice Nakagawa, 25, was watching television. She ran into her father's room. When he awakened, the prowler left.

The person responsible for this incident was Ruben Lloyd Coble, 20, of San Geronimo, according to Inspector Nick Giampoli. Coble went to the police station yesterday and admitted he had been drunk and does not remember what he did. The Nakagawas positively identified Coble as the man who had entered their home, Giampoli reported.

Coble said he had been honorably discharged from the Marine Corps last April and is now working at a service station in San Anselmo.

GOP UPSURGE MARKS VOTE IN 50th STATE

HONOLULU (UPI) — A Japanese-American war hero and a Chinese-American millionaire captured congressional seats in Hawaii's first election as the nation's 50th state.

A Republican resurgence marked yesterday's election with more than 90 per cent of the island state's 183,000 voters jumping across party lines.

The GOP elected the governor, lieutenant governor and one U.S. senator. The Democrats, in firm control of island politics for the past five years, nailed down the other U.S. Senate position and the lone seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. See story on page 8.

Big 4 Talks To Wind Up Within Week

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and Russia agreed today to wind up the deadlocked Big Four foreign ministers conference within a week. The decision came after the Soviets brought the talks to a near-breakdown by increasing their price for a Berlin truce.

American dipolmats warned that they had little hope of any Berlin agreement before the scheduled windup.

The other Western Allies agreed to the Herter Gromyko arrangement.

He said the United States hopes to resume the discussions on Berlin and Germany at a later date.

Assist. Secretary of State Andrew Berding, in making the announcement, added this caution: "Do not interpret this to mean that the conference will end with an agreement."

"The idea," he added, "is to have as many discussions as possible during the next week to see whether we can reach an agreement by next Wednesday."

But, in reply to questions, Berding admitted the U. S. delegation has little hope of any agreement here on Berlin.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will fly back to Washington Aug. 6, a week from tomorrow.

MAN-EATER TYPE

Tomales Nets Snare Another White Shark

Felix Konatich of Marshall, netted a small white shark last night, far out in the bay, he reported. His father, Tony Konatich, caught a mammoth 750-pounder in the bay last week. Father and son operate Tony's Seafood at Marshall.

The Bodega Bay shark was even larger than that caught by Tony Konatich, being 10 feet long and estimated to weigh 800 pounds. It was caught in a salmon net by Wesley Sandy, skipper of the 32-foot troller Donna Lee.

Sandy shot the shark with a shotgun and took it ashore at the town of Bodega Bay, where it was placed on display.

No Rain Forecast For Parched State

The five-day forecast today said there is no sign of a storm that could bring rain to the parched state.

Forecaster L. B. Basey noted a small low pressure center about 60 miles west of Fort Bragg and said gale winds were reported by ships on the west side of this low.

Hensler Named New Hospital Staff Chief

Dr. Harry N. Hensler of Ross was appointed chief of the Marin General Hospital medical staff last night by directors of Marin County Hospital District.

His appointment was recommended by the hospital's medical advisory board. A letter from the group said a quorum was lacking when it met, and for that reason Dr. Hensler's name was submitted for acting rather than permanent appointment.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, president of the district board, nevertheless urged permanent status for Dr. Hensler because "I think there is no question that they (the advisory group) will approve him at their next meeting."

Directors then made the appointment permanent as of the expected formal approval by the medical advisory board. Director William H. Thomas was absent.

Dr. Hensler, 56, has been a practicing physician in Marin County since 1934.

Dr. Hensler was assistant chief of staff of the hospital for two years prior to November, 1957, under Dr. Goddard, now board president, as chief of staff. He resigned because of "other commitments" at that time.

Hospital Bill Reduction Debated By Directors

Should a Marin General Hospital patient's bill be reduced 50 per cent because a collection agency can't collect any part of it and the Babcock Memorial Foundation is willing to pay half?

This question was pondered last night by directors of Marin County Hospital District. The bill totals $216.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, board president, questioned the legality of accepting half payment from the Babcock Foundation of a bill that couldn't be collected. He interpreted such action as "rate cutting" and termed it "unethical."

Director Herman Hale said the foundation pays up to 100 per cent of many hospital bills, but believes that in cases of bills returned by a collection agency it shouldn't offer to pay more than half.

Hale noted that the collection agency would have kept half the $218 bill as its fee had the collection attempt been successful.

Urging acceptance of the Babcock offer, director Charles A. Rowe said, "We're settling at 50 cents on the dollar . . . The Babcock Foundation is just as good as a collection agency, and we're doing just as well."

Director Marion C. Ibach ended the discussion by moving that Dr. Goddard confer with Harold F. Riede, the district's attorney, "and, if it meets with his approval, that we write off the bill at 50 per cent."

Carquinez Bridge Bonds Are Sold

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state Toll Bridge Authority yesterday accepted a New York firm's bid to buy 34 million dollars in bonds to finance the Benicia-Martinez Bridge over Carquinez Strait.

The bid of 4.37 per cent interest on the bonds will permit the state to build the whole project at once, instead of in phases.

F. S. Smithers and Co. of New York, one of two bidders on the bonds, was the successful bidder. The bid will bring total cost, including interest, to $54,191,719. They are to be paid in 36 years.

The revenue bonds will be paid for by tolls from the bridge, which will replace the present ferry service between the two cities.

Crewmen Missing In Drifting Boat

MONTEREY (UPI)—A 50-foot Seattle fishing boat was found drifting aimlessly off the coast near here yesterday with its two crewmen missing.

A Coast Guard spokesman in San Francisco said the boat, Ample II, was discovered by other fishing vessels. The cutter Gresham towed the boat here after finding no life aboard.

The spokesman said the boat's nets were out but there was no indication of what happened to the two men who had been aboard.

Slowdown On Highway Work Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted today for a slowdown on construction of the interstate highway system. This would mean sharply reduced annual allocations of federal funds to the states.

Rejecting administration demands for an increase in the federal gasoline tax, the committee proposed that a current financial emergency be met in this fashion:

1. Issue up to a billion dollars of highway revenue bonds.

2. Extend the program four years beyond the present 1972 termination date.

This plan, if approved by Congress, would slash scheduled highway building allocations to the states from 2½ billion dollars to 600 million in the 1961 fiscal year starting next July 1. Allocations for ensuing years would be cut sharply below the present schedule.

Tam Firehouse Addition Studied

Tamalpais Valley Fire District commissioners last night discussed plans for an addition to the firehouse.

Planned to cost about $5,000 ultimately, the addition would provide a recreation room, improved sleeping quarters and a workshop area. At present, the district's four trucks permit almost no space for these needs, commissioners noted.

New Group Will Work For More Marin Trails

Formation of an organization to assist in establishing riding and hiking trails in Marin was announced today by Raymond H. Shone, temporary chairman.

Shone said the group was being formed at the suggestion of the Marin County Sheriffs Posse, which had asked him to serve as organizational leader.

He said the main objectives of the group would be to:

1. Establish a trail all through Marin that would be part of the California riding and hiking trail system.

2. Establish feeder trails to the main trail. He said existing trails, including a 30-miles California riding and hiking trail over Mt. Tamalpais, would be included.

3. Seek cooperation of the County Planning Commission in setting up a trails master plan.

Shone said a meeting was held last week of groups interested in the plan, and they pledged to work with city, county and state officials and private property owners to accomplish their purpose.

Persons attending the meeting and groups they represent were: 4-M Club — Mrs. Edna Smith, Mrs. Faye Gearety, Mrs. Flora Laster; Sheriff's Posse—Peter Helms and M. A. Gearety; Tamalpais Trail Riders—Mrs. Lila Haberman; San Geronimo Valley Horsemen—Carlton Travis, Leslie Stone; Novato Horsemen—Orville Peterson; Bolinas Horsemen — Mrs. Elizabeth McDaniel and Don L. Bradley.

Shone said the group will incorporate, and is in the process of selecting directors.

He said that in addition to ranchers, the Marin Municipal Water District and the federal government would have to be contacted for agreements. He said the government would have to give permission for trails in the Army forts area at the southern end of the county.

"But hikers and horse riders," said Shone, "are noted for not disturbing property and for closing gates."

Civil Rights Bill Job Commission Provision Deleted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee struck from a pending civil rights bill today President Eisenhower's proposal for a commission to enforce non-discrimination in employment on government contracts.

The vote, taken behind closed doors, was reported to have been 16-12, not divided along party lines.

Committee sources, asking not to be quoted by name, said that not only Southern opposition, but fears that the provision might bring on conflicts with labor unions, figured in the discussions.

Nixon Talks Back To Russ Hecklers In Siberian City

SVERDLOVSK, Soviet Union (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon took on a series of hecklers today and demanded to know why the Soviet Union sees fit to maintain troops in Poland, Hungary and East Germany.

The clashes took place in Novosibirsk, western Siberia, just before the vice president took off for Sverdlovsk. Several thousand silently waiting Russians greeted him in this city in the eastern Ural Mountains.

Nixon's eagerly awaited tour of the Siberian branch of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences at Novosibirsk turned out to be a bust. Soviet authorities allowed him to see only a single building which, they said, is to house their institute of hydrodynamics.

Soviet authorities only reluctantly allowed him the visit. Nixon insisted on it.

The over-all feeling toward Nixon in Novosibirsk was warm. He received there yesterday the friendliest greeting of his 11-day Soviet tour.

But shortly before leaving Novosibirsk he was subjected to some questions from hecklers. One of Nixon's aides said some of the hecklers appeared to have been planted in the crowd.

Nixon showed no outward sign of being upset at the sharp questioning which came as he toured the big hydroelectric plant and big scientific center.

On several occasions questioners stood toe to toe with Nixon challenging him to say why the United States will not accept Soviet plans for ending nuclear tests and why it will not trade more with the Soviet Union.

The vice president's patience wore a little thin when a workman, identified as Grigory Belausov Federovic, 30, an electrician, kept shouting questions and interrupting.

"The Soviet Union has no military bases outside our borders, and the United States has many in foreign countries. Why is that, I'd like to know," Federovic asked.

In replying, Nixon disclosed he had discussed this with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in their nearly six-hour talk at the Soviet leader's home Sunday.

"As you know we have political and foreign policy differences with the Soviet Union," Nixon said. "When we both agree on a disarmament proposal with adequate inspection then we can take up the question of bases. Now I'd like to ask you a question."

The heckler interjected, "I'm not satisfied with that answer."

In a loud voice, Nixon continued: "In East Germany, Poland and Hungary, the U.S.S.R. has troops. Why are your troops in those countries?"

"Is Poland your country?" Nixon went on. "Is Hungary your country? Why do you keep troops there?"

As several hundred workmen, Soviet officials, Nixon aides and newsmen crowded around, the questioner poked his finger a few inches from Nixon's chest.

"There are American and Western troops in Germany, and the Soviet has to maintain forces for that reason," the man retorted.

Smilingly, Nixon shook his head and countered: "You see, you always have a reason."

ARMY ENGINEERS SALVAGE SUNKEN BARGE

Five years ago, a big Army Engineers' barge sank off the Engineers' dock at Sausalito. Meantime the area was leased by the Engineers to Ludfor (Jerry) Kalfos, who operates salvage and boat repair facilities there. But Kalfos and the Engineers decided recently the long-sunken barge should be brought to the surface. Undertaking the job today was a detachment of the 561st Engineer Corps at Ft. Baker under Capt. Charles Monges. One edge of barge had been brought to surface by pumping air under it when this photo was taken by Independent-Journal cameraman..

Liner Queen Elizabeth, Freighter Crash In Fog

Vessels In Collision Off New York Harbor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Coast Guard reported today that the liner Queen Elizabeth, the world's largest passenger vessel, had collided with a freighter about a mile and a half outside New York harbor.

The Coast Guard said the Queen Elizabeth reported that the extent of damage was not yet known.

The Coast Guard said it had received the report from the S.S. American Hunter, which was involved in the collision.

No injuries were reported in the collision, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard said both ships dropped anchor after the collision, but that the Elizabeth, was returning to its dock with the aid of a tug.

At the time of the collision, the Elizabeth was outbound and the American Hunter inbound.

Cunard Lines, operators of the 83,000-ton Queen Elizabeth, said 1,959 persons were aboard the liner

The collision happened in a fog, the Coast Guard said.

House Slashes Ike's Foreign Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed a $3,186,500,000 foreign aid bill cutting deeply under President Eisenhower's request and tailored to force out information the administration wants to withhold.

The bill went to the Senate on a 279-136 roll call vote. Only that formal action had been left over last night after the House finished section-by-section consideration and tentatively approved the product.

Both the cut in funds and the force-out provision are sore points with Eisenhower.

Just before the House acted the President predicted at his news conference that the force-out plan never would get to his desk as legislation. He described it as an unconstitutional invasion of executive powers. The device consists of a section providing for a cut-off of aid funds if the administration holds back from Congress its evaluation reports on how aid programs are going.

Marin Hospital Ends Fiscal Year In Black

Marin General Hospital ended the 1958-59 fiscal year $15,393.62 in the black, Administrator S. Ames Pence reported last night to directors of the Marin County Hospital District.

Director Charles A. Rowe termed it "amazing" that the non-profit institution should come "within 1 per cent of breaking even." He commend-

MAN-EATER TYPE

Tomales Nets Snare Another White Shark

Felix Konatich of Marshall, netted a small white shark last night, far out in the bay, he reported. His father, Tony Konatich, caught a mammoth 750-pounder in the bay last week. Father and son operate Tony's Seafood at Marshall.

The Bodega Bay shark was even larger than that caught by Tony Konatich, being 10 feet long and estimated to weigh 800 pounds. It was caught in a salmon net by Wesley Sandy, skipper of the 32-foot troller Donna Lee.

Sandy shot the shark with a shotgun and took it ashore at the town of Bodega Bay, where it was placed on display.

San Rafael Police Nab Napa Escapee

San Rafael police, acting on an anonymous tip, arrested Jimmie Ray Smith, 20, about 7 o'clock last night at the Yacht Club bar on Irwin street.

Smith accompanied the officers quietly to county jail, but became violent at the booking desk, police reported. Jailers and police had to subdue him and put him in the padded cell.

Officials from Napa picked him up at 9:25 last night.

From a description of Smith, San Rafael police at first thought he might have been the man who crept into the Frank Nakagawa home at 2 Bay View street in San Rafael about 1:30 a.m. Monday.

But this prowler turned out to be an ex-Marine, who had become intoxicated and wandered into the living room where Alice Nakagawa, 25, was watching television. She ran into her father's room. When he awakened, the prowler left.

The person responsible for this incident was Ruben Lloyd Coble, 20, of San Geronimo, according to Inspector Nick Giampoli. Coble went to the police station yesterday and admitted he had been drunk and does not remember what he did. The Nakagawas positively identified Coble as the man who had entered their home, Giampoli reported.

Coble said he had been honorably discharged from the Marine Corps last April and is now working at a service station in San Anselmo.

GOP UPSURGE MARKS VOTE IN 50th STATE

HONOLULU (UPI) — A Japanese-American war hero and a Chinese-American millionaire captured congressional seats in Hawaii's first election as the nation's 50th state.

A Republican resurgence marked yesterday's election with more than 90 per cent of the island state's 183,000 voters jumping across party lines.

The GOP elected the governor, lieutenant governor and one U.S. senator. The Democrats, in firm control of island politics for the past five years, nailed down the other U.S. Senate position and the lone seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Big 4 Talks To Wind Up Within Week

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and Russia agreed today to wind up the deadlocked Big Four foreign ministers conference within a week. The decision came after the Soviets brought the talks to a near-breakdown by increasing their price for a Berlin truce.

American dipolmats warned that they had little hope of any Berlin agreement before the scheduled windup.

The other Western Allies agreed to the Herter Gromyko arrangement.

He said the United States hopes to resume the discussions on Berlin and Germany at a later date.

Assist. Secretary of State Andrew Berding, in making the announcement, added this caution: "Do not interpret this to mean that the conference will end with an agreement."

"The idea," he added, "is to have as many discussions as possible during the next week to see whether we can reach an agreement by next Wednesday."

But, in reply to questions, Berding admitted the U. S. delegation has little hope of any agreement here on Berlin.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will fly back to Washington Aug. 6, a week from tomorrow.

County Assessor's Aide Quits For Federal Job

Norman Robertson, chief appraiser for Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, has resigned to take a job with the federal government.

Herschel Johnson, assistant assessor, said today that Robertson feels the federal job offers greater possibilities for advancement.

Applicants are being interviewed to pick a successor for Robertson, who is getting $710 per month. The pay range for the job is $671 to $821.

Robertson has been a county employee for a year. He was with the auditor before being named chief appraiser by new Assessor Broemmel when he took office on Jan. 5.

Robertson will work as an appraiser with the federal government in San Francisco.

Blackout Hits 40 Sausalito Homes

About 40 Sausalito homes were without electric power yesterday morning for an hour after a fog-drenched tree in the Curry avenue-Toyon Terrace area rubbed against a high tension line, blowing out several fuses.

Kenneth E. Robin, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. manager in Southern Marin, said service in the homes affected was out from 6:20 to 7:30 a.m.

No Rain Forecast For Parched State

The five-day forecast today said there is no sign of a storm that could bring rain to the parched state.

Forecaster L. B. Basey noted a small low pressure center about 60 miles west of Fort Bragg and said gale winds were reported by ships on the west side of this low.

SPEED RECORD HOLDER GETS ANOTHER TROPHY

Maj. Walter W. Irwin (right) formerly of Hamilton Air Force and holder of the world's speed record of 1,404 miles an hour, receives the Flying Tiger Pilot trophy for his feat from actress Rhonda Fleming at the biennial reunion of the World War II military group at Ojai. Watching are Dick Rossi, head of the organization, and Mrs. Anna Chennault, widow of Lt. Gen. Claire Chennault, wartime commander of the Flying Tigers. Irwin, now with the 82nd Fighter Intercepter squadron at Travis Air Force Base, was with the 83rd Fighter Intercepter squadron at Hamilton when he set the record in May, 1958. He flew an F104A at Edwards Air Force Base. He already has been awarded the Thompson Trophy. (AP Wirephoto)

Hensler Named New Hospital Staff Chief

Dr. Harry N. Hensler of Ross was appointed chief of the Marin General Hospital medical staff last night by directors of Marin County Hospital District.

His appointment was recommended by the hospital's medical advisory board. A letter from the group said a quorum was lacking when it met, and for that reason Dr. Hensler's name was submitted for acting rather than permanent appointment.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, president of the district board, nevertheless urged permanent status for Dr. Hensler because "I think there is no question that they (the advisory group) will approve him at their next meeting."

Directors then made the appointment permanent as of the expected formal approval by the medical advisory board. Director William H. Thomas was absent.

Dr. Hensler, 56, has been a practicing physician in Marin County since 1934.

Dr. Hensler was assistant chief of staff of the hospital for two years prior to November, 1957, under Dr. Goddard, now board president, as chief of staff. He resigned because of "other commitments" at that time.

Hospital Bill Reduction Debated By Directors

Should a Marin General Hospital patient's bill be reduced 50 per cent because a collection agency can't collect any part of it and the Babcock Memorial Foundation is willing to pay half?

This question was pondered last night by directors of Marin County Hospital District. The bill totals $216.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, board president, questioned the legality of accepting half payment from the Babcock Foundation of a bill that couldn't be collected. He interpreted such action as "rate cutting" and termed it "unethical."

Director Herman Hale said the foundation pays up to 100 per cent of many hospital bills, but believes that in cases of bills returned by a collection agency it shouldn't offer to pay more than half.

Hale noted that the collection agency would have kept half the $218 bill as its fee had the collection attempt been successful.

Urging acceptance of the Babcock offer, director Charles A. Rowe said, "We're settling at 50 cents on the dollar . . . The Babcock Foundation is just as good as a collection agency, and we're doing just as well."

Director Marion C. Ibach ended the discussion by moving that Dr. Goddard confer with Harold F. Riede, the district's attorney, "and, if it meets with his approval, that we write off the bill at 50 per cent."

Carquinez Bridge Bonds Are Sold

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state Toll Bridge Authority yesterday accepted a New York firm's bid to buy 34 million dollars in bonds to finance the Benicia-Martinez Bridge over Carquinez Strait.

The bid of 4.37 per cent interest on the bonds will permit the state to build the whole project at once, instead of in phases.

F. S. Smithers and Co. of New York, one of two bidders on the bonds, was the successful bidder. The bid will bring total cost, including interest, to $54,191,719. They are to be paid in 36 years.

The revenue bonds will be paid for by tolls from the bridge, which will replace the present ferry service between the two cities.

Crewmen Missing In Drifting Boat

MONTEREY (UPI)—A 50-foot Seattle fishing boat was found drifting aimlessly off the coast near here yesterday with its two crewmen missing.

A Coast Guard spokesman in San Francisco said the boat, Ample II, was discovered by other fishing vessels. The cutter Gresham towed the boat here after finding no life aboard.

The spokesman said the boat's nets were out but there was no indication of what happened to the two men who had been aboard.

Slowdown On Highway Work Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted today for a slowdown on construction of the interstate highway system. This would mean sharply reduced annual allocations of federal funds to the states.

Rejecting administration demands for an increase in the federal gasoline tax, the committee proposed that a current financial emergency be met in this fashion:

1. Issue up to a billion dollars of highway revenue bonds.
2. Extend the program four years beyond the present 1972 termination date.

This plan, if approved by Congress, would slash scheduled highway building allocations to the states from 2½ billion dollars to 600 million in the 1961 fiscal year starting next July 1. Allocations for ensuing years would be cut sharply below the present schedule.

Tam Firehouse Addition Studied

Tamalpais Valley Fire District commissioners last night discussed plans for an addition to the firehouse.

Planned to cost about $5,000 ultimately, the addition would provide a recreation room, improved sleeping quarters and a workshop area. At present, the district's four trucks permit almost no space for these needs, commissioners noted.

New Group Will Work For More Marin Trails

Formation of an organization to assist in establishing riding and hiking trails in Marin was announced today by Raymond H. Shone, temporary chairman.

Shone said the group was being formed at the suggestion of the Marin County Sheriffs Posse, which had asked him to serve as organizational leader.

He said the main objectives of the group would be to:

1. Establish a trail all through Marin that would be part of the California riding and hiking trail system.

2. Establish feeder trails to the main trail. He said existing trails, including a 30-miles California riding and hiking trail over Mt. Tamalpais, would be included.

3. Seek cooperation of the County Planning Commission in setting up a trails master plan.

Shone said a meeting was held last week of groups interested in the plan, and they pledged to work with city, county and state officials and private property owners to accomplish their purpose.

Persons attending the meeting and groups they represent were: 4-M Club — Mrs. Edna Smith, Mrs. Faye Gearety, Mrs. Flora Laster; Sheriff's Posse—Peter Helms and M. A. Gearety; Tamalpais Trail Riders—Mrs. Lila Haberman; San Geronimo Valley Horsemen—Carlton Travis, Leslie Stone; Novato Horsemen—Orville Peterson; Bolinas Horsemen — Mrs. Elizabeth McDaniel and Don L. Bradley.

Shone said the group will incorporate, and is in the process of selecting directors.

He said that in addition to ranchers, the Marin Municipal Water District and the federal government would have to be contacted for agreements. He said the government would have to give permission for trails in the Army forts area at the southern end of the county.

"But hikers and horse riders," said Shone, "are noted for not disturbing property and for closing gates."

Civil Rights Bill Job Commission Provision Deleted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee struck from a pending civil rights bill today President Eisenhower's proposal for a commission to enforce non-discrimination in employment on government contracts.

The vote, taken behind closed doors, was reported to have been 16-12, not divided along party lines.

Committee sources, asking not to be quoted by name, said that not only Southern opposition, but fears that the provision might bring on conflicts with labor unions, figured in the discussions.

Board Authorizes Drafting Of Final Juvenile Hall Plans

It was almost a case of button, button, who has the button yesterday afternoon as the Marin County Board of Supervisors by a 3-2 vote authorized the preparation of final plans and specifications for a new $242,000 juvenile hall.

While architect Rolland Hammond sat quietly by, after giving a detailed explanation of construction possibilities, Supervisor Vera Schultz moved for approval of a 40-unit hall. Supervisor James Marshall seconded her motion. But the vote was 3-2 against, with only Mrs. Schultz and Marshall voting in favor.

Then Supervisor William D. Fusselman, apparently in an effort to effect a compromise, moved that a 20-unit plan be authorized, having in mind that the architect would prepare plans for the second portion "in the not too distant future."

Supervisor William Gnoss seconded the motion. Again the vote was 3-2 against, with only Fusselman and Gnoss voting for it.

Fusselman repeated the motion without the qualification of the second plans. This motion passed 3-2 with Mrs. Schultz and Marshall voting against.

The voting clearly presented three lines of thinking, based on a report from the probation committee, which recommended only the first phase, or 20-unit construction, and reports from a department head committee and Probation Officer Walter Busher.

Busher, in disagreeing with the probation committee recommendation, had written the board:

If there are going to be only 20 units "the effect will be that the detention population of the juvenile hall will be concentrated to the point where staff time will be so controlled by pure custody considerations that positive programming will be impossible."

Fusselman demanded to know the meaning of "positive programming," and was told by David Fogel, superintendent of juvenile hall, that it meant more group counseling and more recreation.

NO LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

The board, in approving first-phase plans, also adopted a department heads' recommendation that no landscape architect be employed, but that the planning director, the director of public works and the agricultural commissioner work out landscaping.

The department heads' committee also recommended that a dividing wall in the multi-purpose room be a folding wall rather than a fixed wall, and that air-conditioning be included in public rooms.

First phase construction costs include a basic amount of $194,200 for construction, increasing to $242,800 to include furniture, architectural fees, etc. A second 20-unit phase would cost $254,100, including fees, furniture, construction and remodeling of the present hall. Air conditioning would cost $33,600 more.

THINKING EXPLAINED

Roy A. Ibach, chairman of the probation committee, said the committee had only been trying to follow the thinking of the board of supervisors and the recommendation of state officials.

State officials, after a recent survey, forecast a decreasing rate of juvenile detention. Busher said that school population trends showed this contention to be faulty.

Busher wanted both phases of construction now, while the probation committee asked for first phase construction now, and the second phase to be completed by 1963.

Ibach admitted that the hall is inadequate, but said the committee is worried about financing.

ASKED BOTH PHASES

County department heads asked for both phases of construction now to "avoid possible difficulties in lease and lease-back financing, which might be caused by Phase 2 additions plus remodeling following immediately after completion of Phase 1. If current trends do not worsen, Phase 1 and Phase 2 combined should be adequate until 1964 or 1965, at which time further additions probably will be necessary."

To get the second phase now, Hammond's contract would have to be amended.

Hammond said the hall will be entirely of concrete construction. The building will be one story high, and parts of it may be pre-formed on the site.

Trader Horn Eatery Closes

Trader Horn restaurant at 821 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael, has been closed by its receiver and its assets will be sold in an effort to satisfy creditors.

Walter J. Hempy of the San Francisco Board of Trade was appointed receiver when the restaurant ran into financial difficulties. For several weeks it was operated under provisions of Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Act, designed to permit efforts to work problems out over a period of time. Hempy finally ordered it shut down last Thursday night.

LOVED ONE GONE

Diamond Ring Once Again Brings Joy

Some heartsick Corte Maderan, to whom a diamond engagement ring "meant nothing anymore," may be happy to learn that the ring has meant a great deal to some down-and-out person in Pontiac, Mich.

An unsigned note inside read:

"Value $125. Please sell this. It means nothing to me any more. My loved one's dead. Keep the money or give it to charity."

Pontiac jeweler Norman Pattison had no idea who sent the ring or why it was sent to him. Examination revealed the quarter-carat diamond hadn't been purchased in his store, but he guessed it belonged to someone who once lived in Pontiac.

According to clippings from the Pontiac Press sent to the Independent-Journal, Pattison sold the ring for $125 and gave the money to the Pontiac Area United Fund.

The fund gives help to persons whose own tragedies have placed them in need.

Drive-In Fracas Costs 3 Youths

Three youths who created a disturbance at Burge's Drive-in at Ignacio Saturday must each pay $25 fine and not drink at all for the next six months.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Walter Melvin Starrett, 18, of 7 Millbrae avenue, San Anselmo; Frederick E. Whitman, 19, of 20 Venus court, Belveron Gardens, and Ronald L. Slack, 18, of 39 Shell road, Alto. The judge ordered all three to be in their homes by 11 each night, unless they have their parents' express permission to be out later.

A waitress told deputies the three had used profane language and bloodied the nose of a patron.

The three admitted disturbing the peace, but denied using foul language at the waitress.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon continued for a week its hearing on Dillon Beach street work protests, to delve further into complaints that the roads are deficient.

The board listened to representatives of the engineering and planning firm of Wilsey and Ham, which had charged an 18 per cent fee for approximately $4,000 in "overrun" charges on the original street project that cost more than $70,000.

The firm said it would cancel the fee, but Supervisor James Marshall said that would not be enough.

Members of the board visited the area Monday and listened to complaints that ranged from "weeds growing through the streets" to inadequate drainage and inequities in assessments. The streets were built under assessment district proceedings.

The engineering firm said it would contact C and H Construction Co. of Berkeley in an attempt to answer charges that blacktop was wasted.

Also to be straightened out is a complaint that five feet of paved roadway runs over onto private property. The property is zoned commercial, which would allow construction at the property line—some five feet into the paved area.

Marshall said a field trip showed several deficiencies which he felt were attributable to "lack of engineering."

The engineers said they had been asked to plan an inexpensive job, and asked that the contractor, who they felt was the real target of complaints, be heard.

At the same time the board, to rid the county of unnecessary liabilities, decided to abandon portions of the Tomales-Dillon Beach road and a portion of the road from the old Marconi station to Marshall.

The board decided to keep a portion of Burbank lane so the county fire department can use water sources along the road.

The board held off decision on abandoning a portion of Franklin School road which includes a bridge. Residents in the area have protested the abandonment of the bridge because it would mean a mile and one-half detour to use a new bridge.

AMPLE PROOF OF BOOKS' IMPORTANCE

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Aubudon Society said that four volumes of congressional testimony on how to kill bugs had been found to contain ample proof of their importance.

"The books were full of live things," said Robert L. Burnap, public relations director.

Illegal Surgery Trial Defendants Lose Round

Attorneys for Dr. and Mrs. Jack E. Willis of Mill Valley, who will be tried on abortion charges next Tuesday, attempted unsuccessfully yesterday to get a look at Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich's legal ammunition before the trial gets under way.

Attorneys Leslie Gillen and Berwyn M. Rice asked Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court to let them look at all statements and notes which Weissich may have up his sleeve for the trial.

Weissich objected strenuously, quoting opinions handed down by the late state Supreme Court Justice Jesse W. Carter. Weissich quoted Carter as saying the defense must request "specific documents" and not just go on a "fishing expedition."

Rice and Gillen argued that a state Supreme Court ruling says defendants have a right to look at statements given to the prosecution before the trial. But Judge Brusatori pointed out that this applies only to documents, the existence of which was brought out during preliminary hearing.

In the Dr. Willis case there is no evidence yet that any such document or statement exists, said Weissich.

"I don't think the supreme court has gone so far as to say that the defense can rummage through the prosecution statements and through the mind of the district attorney," he declared.

After the trial starts, and testimony shows that officers have statements from witnesses, Weissich said, he would be happy to release the information.

Attorneys Gillen and Rice wanted to put the district attorney on the stand to grill him on the existence of statements by witnesses. But Judge Brusatori ruled that this would be "purely a fishing expedition."

Judge Brusatori, in ruling against the defense motion, said he was impressed by the statements of the late Justice Carter, "one of the chief exponents of discovery proceedings."

KISS FOR NEW SENATOR—Hiram L. Fong, 52, Republican and millionaire Chinese-American businessman, gets a victory kiss from his 11-year-old daughter, Merie Ellen, after he led the GOP ticket to surprising victories in yesterday's first state election in Hawaii. Fong was elected a U.S. senator and will be the first person of Chinese ancestry to serve in that capacity. (AP Wirephoto)

Republicans Score Heavily In Hawaii's First State Voting

HONOLULU (UPI)—Republicans who went into Hawaii's first state elections as near bankrupts came out today as prize-winning holders of a U. S. Senate seat, the state governorship and control of the new State Senate.

More than 90 per cent of the new state's 183,000 voters jumped back and forth across party lines to confound the political experts as they chose their new national and state officers on the basis of personal popularity, rather than by party label.

Republican William F. Quinn launched himself into national prominence and sent his party supporters on the Enge of their lives by soundly thrashing Democrat John A. Burns for the governorship—although the Democrats had owned island politics for the past five years.

However, the most popular man in the election was a Democrat. He is Daniel K. Inouye, a 34-year-old war hero of Japanese ancestry, who was carried into the House of Representatives by a landslide.

Inouye, who lost an arm in World War II fighting, will be the first of his race to hold a congressional seat.

A Chinese-American Republican, millionaire Hiram L. Fong, also will be the first of his race to gain a seat in Congress. His opponent, Connecticut-born Frank A. Fasi, announced at Democratic headquarters early today that he was conceding their race for a Senate seat.

The Democrats' only other winner appeared to be Oren E. Long. He held a commanding lead over Wilfred Tsukiyama in the race for the other Senate seat—although Tsukiyama did not concede.

Inouye was the only landslide winner of the 50th state's first state election. With about 72 per cent of the vote counted, he led his Republican opponent, Dr. Charles H. Silva by almost three to one. Silva conceded five hours after the polls closed.

Inouye said he was "deeply gratified for the privilege of being the first United States representative from the new sovereign state of Hawaii . . . I am determined to do my share, small though it may be, to make Hawaii a bridge of understanding and tolerance between the Western and Asiatic worlds."

Republicans apparently captured 13 of the 25 new State Senate seats to gain control of that body for the first time in five years. However, the Democrats had leads in 32 of the 51 House seats up for election.

Almonte Sanitary Board Approves Budget Of $10,300

Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District Monday night approved a budget of about $10,300 for the coming year which includes an increase of some $2,000 to be paid to Mill Valley for sewer treatment service.

Chairman Jerome F. Downs announced, however, that the overall tax rate of 87 cents per $100 of assessed valuation would be the maximum with the expectation that it may be several cents less.

Sewer service fees will remain at $30 a year, Downs said.

Not included in the budget figure is some $6,200 in serial bonds and interest to be paid off this year and about $1,500 in capital outlay to be covered by sewer connection fees, Downs said.

STEEL PROFITS HIT BY UNION LEADER

Top Producer Reveals Record Earnings; Aluminum Strike Deadline Postponed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Steelworkers Union has seized upon a report of record profits by U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer, to charge that the figures make the industry's strike position "utterly ridiculous."

The companies' position that they are holding the line against inflation by refusing wage demands was characterized by the union as raising a "phony inflation issue at a time when they are rolling in wealth."

U.S. Steel replied that the profits were "not in any way excessive" when compared with those in other industries.

Meanwhile, a mediator reported after separate talks with both sides in the 15-day-old nationwide strike of a half million steelworkers that there was no change in the position of either side.

A strike threat affecting most of the aluminum industry scheduled for Friday midnight was postponed.

David J. McDonald United Steelworkers president, said the "astronomical profits being reported by steel firms" will convince the public that the steelworkers were forced to strike "by a cold-blooded plan of an industry that wanted and planned this shutdown for its own selfish reasons."

U.S. Steel's board chairman, Roger M. Blough, replied that U.S. Steel would hold the price line, unless the government forced a strike settlement which might change the picture.

He made it clear he expected the industry to follow suit.

The steel industry has refused to grant union demands for a wage increase, claiming that any increase in labor cost would force a price increase and contribute to inflation.

The union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual increase.

The Steelworkers Union and other unions made similar demands in the aluminum industry, and they were turned down. Aluminum wages range between $2.76 and $2.91 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and the Big Three companies involved—The Aluminum Co. of America, the Reynolds Metals Co., and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp.—agreed yesterday to extend current contracts 30 days beyond the steel settlement date, or until next Nov. 1, whichever is earlier. The agreement would be retroactive to Aug. 1. It covers about 30,000 of the Big Three's 55,000 production workers.

The Aluminum Workers International Union reached a similar agreement with ALCOA. Union talks with Reynolds were scheduled later today.

Employee Admits Fake Robbery Tale

A reported holdup of an Ignacio service station last January turned out to be a complete hoax, devised by the station attendant who took the money himself, Undersheriff Eugene Myer disclosed today.

Sheriff's Inspector Marco Melovich, who had been working on the "robbery" for several months, said the attendant admitted yesterday he took the money for his own use, then gave the sheriff a detailed report of how he was robbed at gunpoint.

The suspect is Jesse William Winters, 20, an airman attached to the 1902nd Airways and Air Communication Service at Hamilton Air Force Base. He was jailed yesterday on a charge of giving a false report. Freed on $250 bail, Winters was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Winters had given a detailed description of the "robber," and a composite drawing had been made to aid in the search for the bandit. Air Force investigators learned of the hoax and cooperated with the sheriff in arresting Winters at the air base.

Winters, attendant at the Associated Service Station just north of the air base, called for help on the morning of Jan. 16, reporting he had been robbed of $117.

He told investigators a man pulled a revolver on him and cleaned him to the last dime so that he could not call the sheriff immediately from the the station's pay phone. Winters said he waved down a truck driver to get a dime, and the truck driver suggested he open the soft drink machine to get a dime.

Yesterday, Winters admitted taking the money himself and spending it all. He said he was depressed because his fiance had broken up with him. Inspector Melovich said the airman could give no reason for the hoax except that he "acted on impulse."

PG&E To Add To Ignacio Substation

The substation is near the junction of Highway 101 and the Black Point cutoff.

PG&E workmen will install a bank of three transformers for power distribution at 12,000 volts, Henderson said.

Ignacio substation now is a junction point entirely for long-distance transmission of electricity at 110,000 and 60,000 volts.

Bridge Play Results Told

Results of last week's Marin County Bridge Clubs play were released today.

Winners were: Hamilton Air Force Base team of four, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones, Santa Rosa, and Mrs. Joseph Perry and Mrs. Tyrus Holmes, both Novato; Hamilton Air Force Base Weekly, (N-S) Ruth Cullivan and Bonita Besse, Novato and (E-W) Julie Cahill, Novato, and Mrs. Al Lina, Honolulu; Marin Bridge Club Weekly (N-S) Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mathew, Mill Valley and (E-W) Dr. M. Simon, San Anselmo, and Joel Horowitz, Belvedere; Marinwood Bridge Club Weekly Ed and Kath Foehr, San Rafael, and Julie Harris, San Rafael and Marilyn Rude, Kentfield.

Carnival Games Close In Novato

Three "wheels of fortune" at the Foley and Burk Carnival in Novato were closed voluntarily last night after their operators were advised by a district attorney's investigator that they are illegal.

Donald E. Midyett, investigator for Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, said the wheels, for chances on bacon, ham and dolls, were the only illegal gambling he discovered.

The carnival, sponsored by Novato American Legion Post 708, will continue through Saturday night.

Juanita Denies Slugging MPs

Juanita Musson, who runs Juanita's Galley in Sausalito, denied yesterday she committed assault and battery on two off-duty military policemen from the Presidio last July 21.

She appeared before Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court and demanded a jury trial. The judge set Sept. 17 and 18 for the trial. Juanita announced that her attorney will be Harry Wainwright.

Juanita is accused of attacking John Hogan, 21, and Kenneth Krebs, 24, who were at the restaurant for a cup of coffee.

Sausalito police said the two men apparently entered the wrong restroom. The doors are not marked.

Juanita went after them, shoving the door open. She said the door hit one of them on the head. She ordered them out, she said.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — A mid-day rally sent most stock market prices a shade higher in busy trading this afternoon. Oils remained strong.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,700,000 shares against 3,190,000 yesterday.

Rails, docile in the market's recent upsurge, featured the rebound by running up some smart gains. Steels bounced back moderately.

Chemicals, metals and aircrafts generally moved fractionally higher. Electronics were mixed. Motors eased while some drugs suffered sharp losses.

After creeping a shade higher at the opening, the market backed down until early afternoon. Prices then edged higher again.

Oils, bolstered by improved company earnings reports, barreled ahead for the second straight day. Amerada and Shell Oil each soared almost four. Richfield Oil jumped around three. Royal Dutch and Gulf Oil advanced more than two.

Southern Pacific paced the rail advance with almost a two-point gain. Baltimore and Ohio and Illinois Central stepped up around one. New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio and Pennsylvania each added around half a point.

DuPont and Vick Chemical ran ahead about five. Allied Chemical climbed almost two.

Merck fell more than four, Reynolds Metals about three, Litton more than two and Motorola more than one.

Sub Missile On Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy confidently told Congress today its submarine-launched Polaris missile will be ready for combat use by late 1960.

Challenging suggestions that there have been delays in developing the advanced type missile, Rear Adm. William F. Raborn said work on the Polaris is right on schedule.

Raborn, director of the Navy's Special Projects Office, was the opening witness at the second day of a House Space Committee inquiry into the recent series of test failures of Atlas and Polaris missiles.

374 Given Polio Shots Last Night

The next such clinic will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Aug. 25 in the same building, at Fourth street and Grand avenue.

Meeting Called Off

The San Rafael Board of Education did not hold hold its regular meeting last night because it will meet for budget discussions next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Doomed Slayer Appeals To Marin Court

A San Quentin Prison inmate who is scheduled to die in the gas chamber on Aug. 7 for killing a Los Angeles police officer today asked Marin Superior Court for a stay of execution.

Marion James Linden, 45, appealed to the court through attorney William L. Blaine of San Francisco. Linden says he is illegally held in prison because the Los Angeles court let him try his own case.

According to Blaine, the court furnished Linden with an attorney, but Linden said he wanted to act as his own lawyer. The court erred in permitting Linden to do so, and thus deprived him of due process of law, claims Blaine.

On March 17, 1957, Police Officer Leo Wise of Los Angeles had Linden in custody for questioning.

While the officer was telephoning headquarters, Linden whipped out a pistol and shot the officer on the spot. Linden was caught in six minutes and subsequently convicted of first degree murder.

The state Supreme Court upheld the conviction, and the U.S. Supreme Court has denied a stay of execution.

Contract Let For Bank Job

Directors of the First National Bank in San Rafael today awarded a contract to A. Von Rotz of San Anselmo for addition and alterations for a branch bank in San Anselmo.

Von Rotz had submitted the low bid of $118,980.

The building to be remodeled is the former Purity Store on Sir Francis Drake boulevard. The property and the building is being leased by the bank from Don Perry, owner of the Sunnyside Nursery.

Construction work is scheduled to start next week, and the bank hopes to open the branch for business by Dec. 1.

Novato Phone Official Testifies At Hearing

Harold O. Davis, vice president and general manager of the Novato exchange of the Western California Telephone Co., was called as a witness yesterday afternoon in a state Public Utility Commission hearing at Novato of the company's application for rate increases.

Davis' testimony was brief and comprised clarification of questions raised in completion of the presentation of a 77-page report on operation put before Manly Edwards, examiner who was hearing officer representing Commissioner Peter E. Mitchell of Ross.

Further testimony was also given by Robert C. Abrams, special studies engineer, and Robert A. Lindsay, chief accountant, before the hearing adjourned about mid-afternoon.

Although yesterday's hearing was public, there was no participation by the public at large. Lee Wise, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, attended as observer.

HOSPITAL

ed the hospital administration.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, board president, acknowledging it was "very close and could have gone either way," said he was "gratified we were on the black side rather than the red."

Pence said net revenue of $7,542.55 in June brought the year's surplus to the total reported.

He said 581 patients were admitted to Marin General Hospital last month, and 55 were turned away for lack of sufficient beds.

The hospital as a whole had only an 87 per cent occupancy for the month, he reported, but the surgical floor was utilized at 97.1 per cent and the medical floor at 98.5 per cent.

Admissions by area were: San Rafael, 193; Ross Valley, 177; Southern Marin, 120; North Marin, 42; out-of-county, 25; coastal Marin, 14, and Central Marin, 10.

The hospital board also:

1. Set for 8 p.m. Aug. 6 an adjourned meeting on changes suggested by Rowe in a proposed contract with Robert Stanton, Carmel architect, for design of a new wing at Marin General Hospital.

2. Learned that it cost $1,744.88 to hold the June election on secession of Novato from the hospital district.

3. Agreed, without taking a vote, to continue taking county welfare cases without a formal contract with the county. Pence said the program has operated with "very little difficulty."

4. Asked Pence to submit monthly financial reports on the cost of emergency care.

5. Tabled, pending further study, a request by the California Hospital Assn. for a pledge of financial support for a Stanford Research Institute study on hospital automation.

6. Learned from Pence that the state Advisory Hospital Council will not allocate Hill-Burton act funds to California hospitals until a meeting Sept. 29-30 in Los Angeles. The Marin district is seeking an allocation of $1,486,374 toward expansion of Marin General Hospital.

7. Asked Pence to confer with Harold F. Riede, the district's attorney, on legal steps required to change the district's name. Directors said they want the word "county" dropped from the name because many persons believed the district operates a county hospital.

8. Referred to the board's personnel subcommittee a request by Pence that one of three dietary supervisors positions be upgraded to assistant dietitian, with a pay increase from $275 to $375 per month minimum. The posttion now is vacant.

Youth Cuts Lip In Car Accident

Reiner Ortlinhause, 17, of 43 Meernaa avenue, Fairfax, rammed a car driving ahead of his vehicle on Bolinas avenue in Fairfax yesterday and suffered a cut lip and whiplash neck strain.

Driver of the vehicle ahead was John Harvey Grant of 60 Wood lane, Fairfax, police reported.

Slippery Situation

TOKYO (AP) — Six policemen were summoned to a slimy traffic jam today — 300 eels wriggling all over an intersection. The eels landed in the street when a trolley and a fishmonger's truck collided. It took half an hour for police to collect them.

Dinner Honors Chief Wood

A testimonial dinner for Donald T. Wood, who will retire Friday after 39 years as San Anselmo's police chief, will be held Aug. 8 at 7 p.m. at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio.

A representative of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's office will present Chief Wood with a plaque, said Raymond R. Buchignani, who will become San Anselmo's new police chief on Saturday.

John P. O'Connell, San Anselmo attorney and former councilman, will be master of ceremonies at the dinner.

Local Government Values Stressed By Berkeley Man

SEATTLE (AP)—The authority of local governments should be strengthened and the "functions assigned to area-wide metropolitan agencies" strictly limited, a Berkeley city councilman asserted yesterday.

Speaking at the American Institute of Planners, T. J. Kent of Berkeley advocated the use of the popularly termed "metro" operations as a mere supplement to local governments.

"Inherent values of local self-government are so great," said Kent, "and the natural, destructive reaction against remote government affairs so harmful that only those area-wide needs absolutely essential . . . should be assigned to a metropolitan agency."

Bike Day Slated At Albert Park

The San Rafael Recreation and Park Department, in conjunction with the San Rafael Police Department, will present "Bicycle Day" at Albert Park, tomorrow, at 1 p.m.

Activities will include bicycle races, bicycle skills and bicycle safety. Youngsters aged 8 to 13 are invited to attend.

Mill Valley Apartment Plan Rejected

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night denied a subdivision request from architect Richard Clements Jr., who sought approval on behalf of owner Antonio Varney to build a 12-unit apartment house at 170 Miller avenue.

Clements indicated he would appeal the decision to the city council.

The commission also:

1. Granted a subdivision request and use permit to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, for church use of a five-acre parcel of land on Camino Alto, 550 feet north of the East Blithedale avenue intersection.

2. Set Aug. 11 for consideration of rezoning land at 31 Miller avenue where Manuel Gomez has a commercial structure in what was discovered to be a non-commercial zone.

3. Also set for Aug. 11 a public hearing on rezoning property of E. Le Roy Abbott at Una way and Ethel avenue from single family to multiple use.

4. Recommended to the city council that plans suggested by Recco, Inc., for Project 17 development in the marshlands be considered with the commission's prior recommendations for development of the Camino Alto-East Blithedale avenue section.

Mill Valley Board Agrees To Rehire School Officials

In a closed executive session last night in the district office, Mill Valley School District trustees agreed that contract renewals would be offered to Dist. Supt. G. Robert McConnell and Asst. Supt. Logan T. Miles.

McConnell is entering the third year of a three-year contract and receives a $12,000 annual salary for the final year. Miles in is the second year of a two-year contract at $10,800.

Trustees will hold their regular meeting Monday evening at the district office when a final hearing and adoption of the budget is scheduled, said Mrs. Jean Rosse, president.

THEY DEFY THREE-CAT LIMIT

Miss Aura Hardison (left) and Miss Marian Martin are seen with a few of the 150 cats they are harboring—to the annoyance of their neighbors—in their Glendale home. They pleaded innocent to a charge of operating a kennel without a permit and demanded a jury trial, set for Aug. 20. They insist they are not operating a kennel but merely are "providing a home for the homeless." A city ordinance says anyone with more than three cats must have a kennel license. (AP Wirephoto)

Nine Forest Fires Rage In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nine fires blazed through California timberlands today in what Gov. Edmund G. Brown called one of the most hazardous fire seasons in the state's history.

A critical shortage of manpower and equipment developed as new outbreaks stretched fire-fighting capabilities to the limit.

And the prolonged hot, dry weather was making it extremely difficult to control blazes even in areas where there was sufficient manpower. Tanker planes were being used extensively.

In Sacramento, Gov. Brown ordered the Division of Forestry to enforce fire regulations rigidly in an effort to reduce the number of man-caused fires.

A retired miner living in the Klamath National Forest area, where a fire in the Sulphur Ranch section 15 miles north of Yreka has caused heavy losses, was tried yesterday for burning debris without a permit and allowing a fire to spread.

George C. Smith pleaded guilty to both counts and was sentenced by Judge Robert Trinka to six months on each charge. The judge suspended the sentences and placed Smith on probation for three years.

The Sulphur Ranch area fire, near Hornbrook a few miles south of the Oregon line, burned 1,000 acres of timber and 2,200 acres of grazing land.

The worst fire was still out of control in Shasta-Trinity National Forest 50 miles northwest of Redding. Nearly 7,000 acres of pine and fir just east of the Trinity River were destroyed.

Two new fires broke out yesterday north of Redding.

One started in Sacramento Canyon and burned several hundred acres of timber near Highway 99, about 25 miles north of Redding. The other was on the north shore of Lake Shasta.

In Mendocino County, six miles northeast of Longvale on the Trinity River, fire-fighters were gaining control of a 550-acre fire in redwood timber.

There were four fires in Humboldt County and two of them could turn into big conflagrations, forestry officials reported.

L. A. SCHOOL BOARD PONDERING FATE OF CLASSROOM 'KINSEY'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Was soft-spoken Cecil Cook running a legitimate survey in his high school physiology class? Or is he a guy with a mental quirk about sex?

Cook, 37, today started the third day of a hearing to determine whether he is guilty of unprofessional conduct and moral turpitude. If adjudged guilty, he could lose his credentials.

Cook's survey consisted of nine formal questions read aloud, questions from the floor and the students' written replies. Subject: Students' habits on kissing, petting and more advanced sexual experience.

At the hearing yesterday, Calvin Gray, the board's personnel officer, quoted Cook's former employer as saying he didn't believe Cook belonged in a classroom.

State Farm Placement Aide Fired: 'Dishonesty, Cheating'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A 70-year-old state farm placement official was out of a job today—just three days before his retirement date—on charges of using state workers to pick up fruit and vegetable gifts from farmers for delivery to his friends.

William N. Cunningham, 70, Los Angeles, was dismissed as an assistant chief of the service by Employment Director John Carr yesterday in a five-point complaint listing "dishonesty and cheating."

Carr said investigation of the service would continue. No decision was made on possible action against Cunningham's subordinates whom Carr said falsified expense accounts to finance the deliveries.

"It is true I was given some gifts including a crate of oranges on one occasion, some vegetables on another and a bottle of liquor, although I do not drink," said Cunningham in Los Angeles.

NEW SWIM, RAQUET CLUB — This private tennis and swim club is proposed north of Freitas Parkway between Terra Linda Oaks and Highway 101. Alliance Construction Co. plans to put in three tennis courts and a pool on terraces to take advantage of the sloping contour of the land. A public hearing on the project is set for Aug. 11 before the San Rafael Planning Commission. Severin and Associates drew the plans.

Monte Maria Vote Petition Certified

County Clerk George S. Jones yesterday told the Marin County Board of Supervisors he has certified 123 signatures on a petition calling for an election on formation of a Monte Maria Community Services District.

The board set 3 p.m. Aug. 18 for a public hearing on the proposal.

The petition had been presented by the Monte Maria Improvement Assn.

In other business the board:

1. Filed a letter from Mrs. Elizabeth H. Matteson, a member of the Junior Museum Service League, complaining that a $500 request for the museum had been deleted from the county budget.

2. Read a letter from U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel that he would give a Point Reyes recreation area "every consideration" when it reaches the Senate.

3. Awarded Brown-Ely Co., a contract at $11,028 for resurfacing Fawn drive in Sleepy Hollow. The bid was the lowest of seven.

4. Referred to Supervisor William D. Fusselman complaints that heavy trucks are ruining Butterfield road in Sleepy Hollow, and a request from the Corte Madera Town Council for a public hearing on master planning.

5. Referred a petition signed by 10 persons requesting repair of Glen lane to Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham.

6. Appointed Planning Director Mary Summers and Brigham to a liaison committee of local officials to work with engineers of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District in laying out Marin County routes. County Clerk Jones was directed to inform city officials of county's action and ask that city representatives be appointed.

7. Approved extension for another year of a contract with Sonoma County under which about a dozen boys from the Marin Juvenile Hall are sent to Sonoma County's "mobile" forestry camp.

8. Withheld a six-month pay increase for John Hettrich, assistant purchasing agent, pending a review of the salary ordinance after Fusselman noted that Hettrich had been a county employee doing the same job for two years or more.

9. Approved appointment of the following: William F. Allen, clerk-radio telephone operator, communications department, $353 per month, transferred from data processing; James M. Craddock, heavy equipment operator, fire department, $436, replacing J. L. Carver, resigned; Lucille Ann Donlon, registered nurse, medical department, $341, replacing Mary Jane Rowen, resigned; Keith Redman, deputy probation officer, probation department, $458, replacing Ernest S. Bachelor, resigned; Lyman D. Hinckley, group supervisor, juvenile hall, $395, a new position.

Kentfield Woman In Center Of Demo Party Conflict

The California Democratic Party today was rocked by an intramural struggle over tickets to the National Convention at Los Angeles in 1960, and in the midst of it the strife was Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Kentfield.

Mrs. Smith, a national committeewoman, was attending a meeting in Los Angeles.

A check of Democratic leaders produced the concensus that Los Angeles would not lose the convention but it was conceded there may be feelings hurt before the dispute is resolved.

On the one hand in the southland there was Edwin W. Pauley, finance chairman of the host committee, who had insisted that the national committee, headed by Paul Butler, promised the host committee 5,000 tickets to take care of local party followers who are pledged to put up $350,000 for the convention.

Pauley took the battle to Gov. Edmund G. Brown who said he may have to appoint an arbitrator.

"I have no personal knowledge of the basis on which Mr. Pauley feels he was promised 5,000 tickets," Mrs. Smith said, "but personally I feel 5,000 is excessive. I'm hoping Mr. Butler will be able to conclude a contract on the basis of 1,500 tickets. He (Butler) told me in April that was the maximum to which he would agree. He has repeated it four or five times to me since. Fifteen hundred is really a fair number.

In the wings was Mayor George Christopher, a Republican, who has resubmitted his no-strings attached bid of $350,000 for the convention but hastens to add, "We do not want to pirate the convention in any way to undercut Los Angeles."

Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson said: "I have said repeatedly that this problem will be solved. This is no time to get panicked by outside interference. Los Angeles with the new sports arena and our other great facilities is a natural. The Democrats will have their biggest convention here in 1960."

Public Likes Drunk Driver Crackdown

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Motor Vehicles Director Robert I. McCarthy reported this week that his mail is running 30 to 1 in favor of his order suspending licenses of all convicted drunk drivers for at least six months.

Making the report to the governor's council, he told Gov. Edmund G. Brown of receiving "widespread public support" for the ruling which went into effect July 1.

Brown, who told of similar response, said "the howls will start coming when you begin taking away the licenses."

"But let them howl," he told McCarthy, "they'll find out that an auto can be a dangerous instrumentality under certain conditions. They're going to lose their licenses for drunk driving and that's that."

Arthur W. Brewer, San Anselmo's city manager, is spending his 11-day vacation on a camping trip in the High Sierra with his wife and four children. He will return to the city hall on Aug. 3.

BUT ANOTHER FAVORED

Neighborhood Protests Kill Swim-Tennis Club

Neighborhood opposition has killed a proposal for a tennis and swim club at the south end of C street in San Rafael.

Developer John Farrar, who had planned a private club and a subdivision of about seven homes between the end of C street and Meyer road, announced last night he is dropping the plan because of stiff opposition by residents in the area.

"They said they would fight it all the way," Farrar reported. "Rather than fight neighbors, we decided to drop the whole thing."

He withdrew his request to the San Rafael Planning Commission for both a subdivision and the tennis-swim club because one without the other is impractical.

However, the planning commissioners looked with favor on another private tennis and swim club, to serve Terra Linda. The planners set a public hearing on this project for Aug. 11.

The Terra Linda Swim and Raquet Club is planned by the Alliance Construction Co. and will be located off Oleander drive on Orchid drive. The site is northeast of Terra Linda Oaks about 200 yards off Highway 101.

William Hendricks, representing Alliance Construction, and designer Robert Severin presented plans and sketches, showing a $170,000 project including three tennis courts, Olympic size pool, picnic areas, and parking space for 50 cars. Hendricks said he took a poll of Terra Linda and Marinwood areas and received about 100 replies, all indicating they are in favor of the project.

Another private swimming club, proposed at the end of Oak Woodlands unit 1, will also get a public hearing on Aug. 11. Contractor Spero Spiliotis said he plans to build the pool and dressing rooms and turn them over to residents of Oak Woodlands. Spiliotis presented petitions showing residents of 11 out of 18 homes in the subdivision are in favor of the pool.

City Engineer Dominic Selmi pointed out that a parking problem might be created at the end of Mountain View avenue because no provision is made for offstreet parking for the plunge. Acting Chairman Carl Brown suggested the matter be set for hearing on Aug. 11 to give residents in the area a chance to express themselves.

2 Big Signs Win Approval Of Planners

Two large signs, for Terra Linda Oaks and for Eichler Homes in Terra Linda Valley, won approval of the San Rafael Planning Commission last night.

The Terra Linda Oaks sign is on wheels and will be located at the entrance to Terra Linda. The Eichler Homes sign will be at the southwest corner of Freitas Ranch road and Ranchitos road. Both are limited to 12 by 20 feet.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Gene O'Connor, the planning commissioners decided to approve the signs for one year.

The planning commission postponed a decision on Henry Koch's request for a two-lot subdivision on the upside of Meyer road. Engineer Dominic Selmi said there is no sewer line on Meyer road, and septic tanks for the two proposed homes could contribute to slides in the area. Koch will try to work out the sewer problem with the city engineer.

Rapid Progress In Venezuela Told Rotarians

Venezuela, emerging from a long state of semi-agrarianism, "is really jumping with progress," even to the point where construction goes on at night with the aid of flood lights, Sausalito Rotarians were told yesterday.

Prof. George Sugarman, for five years a faculty member of the Central University at Caracas, Venezuela, added: "In Venezuela there are only 16 people per square mile, compared with about 50 for the United States, and yet it has the amazing figure of 69 per cent of its male population under 30 years of age."

RECENTLY RETURNED

Sugarman recently returned from South America and is residing at 195 San Carlos avenue, Sausalito. He shared the Rotary Club speakers' assignment with Sr. Fernando Lopez-Contreras, Venezuelan consul general in San Francisco.

United States manufacturers have failed to capture their share of Venezuelan business because of unintelligent practices, charged Sugarman.

"In an establishment with $300 worth of European or Oriental manufactured mechanical goods, each article will contain instruction pamphlets printed in the finest Spanish. The same place with $3,000 worth of goods from the United States will have instructions entirely in English," he declared.

BOLIVAR SOLID

Although living costs in Venezuela have tripled in recent years, the monetary unit, the bolivar, worth about 30 cents in U.S. money, is even more solid on the international exchange than the American dollar," Sugarman asserted.

One of the country's greatest exports is oil. "One company, Creole Petroleum, produces more oil than is produced in all of Russia," he declared.

Banking Institute Plans Activities

A varied year's program was planned by Marin County chapter of the American Institute of Banking at a meeting in Mill Valley.

An outline of events given by president Horace Corona included a kickoff dinner, cocktail dance, golf tournament, water skiing, halloween dance, snow trip and fashion show.

Committees to work out details will be named later.

Graduated By Navy

Reserve Navy Lt. William B. Imholt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Imholt of 10 Fairway drive, San Rafael, has been graduated from a two-week course in the duties of a radar watch officer at the Fleet Air Defense Training Center, San Diego.

TO JOIN FORCE, HE'LL HAVE TO WEAR SHOES

TOTOWA, N. J. (AP)—Will Mario Gaita be able to inch his way into the police force? The borough council doesn't know.

Some councilmen feel that Gaita doesn't measure up. He's 5-7 in his stocking feet and policemen here are supposed to be 5-8.

Others argue that the borough ordinance doesn't make it clear whether police have to be 5-8 in their stocking feet or in their shoes. In his shoes, Gaita is 5-8.

After listening to this argument for a while last night, one resident snapped: "Who ever saw a cop walking around without his shoes?"

South Marin Rec Finances Much Rosier

Finances of the Southern Marin Recreation Center are in a much rosier condition than they were last year at this time, treasurer Sherman Peterson told the membership at last night's quarterly meeting.

For the first six months of 1959 a profit of $1,850 has been realized, compared to a loss of $1,225 in the same period last year, he reported.

Income is up $2,000 a month and the approximate $39,000 outstanding on the mortgage should be paid in three years, Peterson said. He added that $7,000 has been set aside for improvements, including an arbor between the two pools.

Peterson reported 464 families with an average of three children belong to the center.

Oakland Man Hurt In Wreck

A passenger suffered a skull fracture when a panel truck rolled over on Highway 101 just north of the Golden Gate Bridge at 4:10 p.m. Monday.

Oscar Hofstede, 36, of Oakland was under treatment today in Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Oakland, for severe head injuries including a skull fracture. He was riding with Edward Roche Sullivan, 25, of San Francisco, who was driving a San Francisco Call-Bulletin truck.

Sullivan told the California Highway Patrol he swerved to miss a vehicle that was changing lanes and his truck went out of control. He was shaken up but otherwise uninjured.

Hofstede was given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital and transferred to Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Harmony Reached In Marinwood Land Plan

A special meeting of the board of trustees of the Dixie School District has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the district office on Highway 101 near Marinwood to discuss school land plans for Marinwood.

But there won't be the anticipated dispute between local and state views as to the amount of land needed because "any differences that we may have had have been ironed out," Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff said today.

Although 17 acres have been shown on the Marinwood master plan as allocated for a seventh and eighth grade school, Howard Rowe of the Bureau of School Planning of the state Department of Education recently indicated that 12.75 acres might suffice.

The district board decided last Wednesday that Rowe should be asked to attend its next meeting to hear the board's reasons for feeling that four and one-quarter acres shouldn't be given up. Rowe won't be around because he has decided the board is right, Goff said today.

Those present will, however, include Mrs. Mary Summers, Marin County planning director, and Wendell Freeman, president of the Marinwood Assn., composed of homeowners. Supt. Dennie B. Willis will be away on vacation.

The board is expected to take "firm action" concerning its decision as to the amount of land needed for school purposes, Goff reported.

Group Urges Marshlands Over-All Plan

An over-all plan of the entire area must be approved first, the subcommittee decided.

The "Recco" group, sponsor of Project 17, had submitted plans for added development of the area where a riding ring and baseball field have already been installed. But the committee recommended to the planning commission and city council that development should be considered along with consideration of rapid transit facilities, a small craft harbor and other marshlands projects.

The committee took a similar stand regarding a plan for development of Boyle Park, suggesting that a city-wide recreation program first be approved.

Sports Car Rally Slated At Reno

Al Wintringham of San Rafael, known to thousands of readers of his sport car-minded Badge Bar Journal as "Wintringham," has announced his annual Reno Rally for the eighth time Sept. 19-20.

It's known as "the oldest non-competitive event on the West Coast" and each year several hundred sports car drivers and navigators journey to Reno for a good time with no strain in the way of stopwatches and calculations.

Wintringham has temporarily suspended his magazine. Rally entries this year will be to P.O. Box 651, Redwood City.

The buried treasure of Tumwater

Before the turn of the century, buried treasure was discovered at the little town of Tumwater in Washington State. The treasure was water! A most unusual water. A water so fresh and pure that it was naturally perfect for brewing just as it flowed from the earth. It was here that the Olympia Brewing Company was founded. And today, over sixty years later, the water continues to flow in unlimited quantity from deep artesian wells with the precise character for perfect brewing. Rarely, in all the world, has such a water been discovered. It is this extraordinary brewing water that blends in and brings out the more delicate flavors of choice hops and grains . . . creating a refreshingly different beer of unchanging excellence and rare good taste.

the one priceless ingredient... "It's the Water"

*Visitors are always welcome to "One of America's Exceptional Breweries," Olympia Brewing Company, Olympia, Washington, U.S.A., every day between the hours of 8:00 and 4:30. *Oly ® 9-21

Board Authorizes Drafting Of Final Juvenile Hall Plans

It was almost a case of button, button, who has the button yesterday afternoon as the Marin County Board of Supervisors by a 3-2 vote authorized the preparation of final plans and specifications for a new $242,000 juvenile hall.

While architect Rolland Hammond sat quietly by, after giving a detailed explanation of construction possibilities, Supervisor Vera Schultz moved for approval of a 40-unit hall. Supervisor James Marshall seconded her motion. But the vote was 3-2 against, with only Mrs. Schultz and Marshall voting in favor.

Then Supervisor William D. Fusselman, apparently in an effort to effect a compromise, moved that a 20-unit plan be authorized, having in mind that the architect would prepare plans for the second portion "in the not too distant future."

Supervisor William Gnoss seconded the motion. Again the vote was 3-2 against, with only Fusselman and Gnoss voting for it.

Fusselman repeated the motion without the qualification of the second plans. This motion passed 3-2 with Mrs. Schultz and Marshall voting against.

The voting clearly presented three lines of thinking, based on a report from the probation committee, which recommended only the first phase, or 20-unit construction, and reports from a department head committee and Probation Officer Walter Busher.

Busher, in disagreeing with the probation committee recommendation, had written the board:

If there are going to be only 20 units "the effect will be that the detention population of the juvenile hall will be concentrated to the point where staff time will be so controlled by pure custody considerations that positive programming will be impossible."

Fusselman demanded to know the meaning of "positive programming," and was told by David Fogel, superintendent of juvenile hall, that it meant more group counseling and more recreation.

NO LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

The board, in approving first-phase plans, also adopted a department heads' recommendation that no landscape architect be employed, but that the planning director, the director of public works and the agricultural commissioner work out landscaping.

The department heads' committee also recommended that a dividing wall in the multi-purpose room be a folding wall rather than a fixed wall, and that air-conditioning be included in public rooms.

First phase construction costs include a basic amount of $194,200 for construction, increasing to $242,800 to include furniture, architectural fees, etc. A second 20-unit phase would cost $254,100, including fees, furniture, construction and remodeling of the present hall. Air conditioning would cost $33,600 more.

THINKING EXPLAINED

Roy A. Ibach, chairman of the probation committee, said the committee had only been trying to follow the thinking of the board of supervisors and the recommendation of state officials.

State officials, after a recent survey, forecast a decreasing rate of juvenile detention. Busher said that school population trends showed this contention to be faulty.

Busher wanted both phases of construction now, while the probation committee asked for first phase construction now, and the second phase to be completed by 1963.

Ibach admitted that the hall is inadequate, but said the committee is worried about financing.

ASKED BOTH PHASES

County department heads asked for both phases of construction now to "avoid possible difficulties in lease and lease-back financing, which might be caused by Phase 2 additions plus remodeling following immediately after completion of Phase 1. If current trends do not worsen, Phase 1 and Phase 2 combined should be adequate until 1964 or 1965, at which time further additions probably will be necessary."

To get the second phase now, Hammond's contract would have to be amended.

Hammond said the hall will be entirely of concrete construction. The building will be one story high, and parts of it may be pre-formed on the site.

Trader Horn Eatery Closes

Trader Horn restaurant at 821 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael, has been closed by its receiver and its assets will be sold in an effort to satisfy creditors.

Walter J. Hempy of the San Francisco Board of Trade was appointed receiver when the restaurant ran into financial difficulties. For several weeks it was operated under provisions of Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Act, designed to permit efforts to work problems out over a period of time. Hempy finally ordered it shut down last Thursday night.

LOVED ONE GONE

Diamond Ring Once Again Brings Joy

Some heartsick Corte Maderan, to whom a diamond engagement ring "meant nothing anymore," may be happy to learn that the ring has meant a great deal to some down-and-out person in Pontiac, Mich.

An unsigned note inside read:

"Value $125. Please sell this. It means nothing to me any more. My loved one's dead. Keep the money or give it to charity."

Pontiac jeweler Norman Pattison had no idea who sent the ring or why it was sent to him. Examination revealed the quarter-carat diamond hadn't been purchased in his store, but he guessed it belonged to someone who once lived in Pontiac.

According to clippings from the Pontiac Press sent to the Independent-Journal, Pattison sold the ring for $125 and gave the money to the Pontiac Area United Fund.

The fund gives help to persons whose own tragedies have placed them in need.

Drive-In Fracas Costs 3 Youths

Three youths who created a disturbance at Burge's Drive-in at Ignacio Saturday must each pay $25 fine and not drink at all for the next six months.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Walter Melvin Starrett, 18, of 7 Millbrae avenue, San Anselmo; Frederick E. Whitman, 19, of 20 Venus court, Belveron Gardens, and Ronald L. Slack, 18, of 39 Shell road, Alto. The judge ordered all three to be in their homes by 11 each night, unless they have their parents' express permission to be out later.

A waitress told deputies the three had used profane language and bloodied the nose of a patron.

The three admitted disturbing the peace, but denied using foul language at the waitress.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon continued for a week its hearing on Dillon Beach street work protests, to delve further into complaints that the roads are deficient.

The board listened to representatives of the engineering and planning firm of Wilsey and Ham, which had charged an 18 per cent fee for approximately $4,000 in "overrun" charges on the original street project that cost more than $70,000.

The firm said it would cancel the fee, but Supervisor James Marshall said that would not be enough.

Members of the board visited the area Monday and listened to complaints that ranged from "weeds growing through the streets" to inadequate drainage and inequities in assessments. The streets were built under assessment district proceedings.

The engineering firm said it would contact C and H Construction Co. of Berkeley in an attempt to answer charges that blacktop was wasted.

Also to be straightened out is a complaint that five feet of paved roadway runs over onto private property. The property is zoned commercial, which would allow construction at the property line—some five feet into the paved area.

Marshall said a field trip showed several deficiencies which he felt were attributable to "lack of engineering."

The engineers said they had been asked to plan an inexpensive job, and asked that the contractor, who they felt was the real target of complaints, be heard.

At the same time the board, to rid the county of unnecessary liabilities, decided to abandon portions of the Tomales-Dillon Beach road and a portion of the road from the old Marconi station to Marshall.

The board decided to keep a portion of Burbank lane so the county fire department can use water sources along the road.

The board held off decision on abandoning a portion of Franklin School road which includes a bridge. Residents in the area have protested the abandonment of the bridge because it would mean a mile and one-half detour to use a new bridge.

AMPLE PROOF OF BOOKS' IMPORTANCE

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Aubudon Society said that four volumes of congressional testimony on how to kill bugs had been found to contain ample proof of their importance.

"The books were full of live things," said Robert L. Burnap, public relations director.

They've been identified as book lice.

Wurzburg, who lives at 130 Linden lane, has been in the insurance brokerage business under the firm name Wurzburg and Co.

Swett was associated with the insurance firm of Swett and Crawford and with Pacific Indemnity.

Illegal Surgery Trial Defendants Lose Round

Attorneys for Dr. and Mrs. Jack E. Willis of Mill Valley, who will be tried on abortion charges next Tuesday, attempted unsuccessfully yesterday to get a look at Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich's legal ammunition before the trial gets under way.

Attorneys Leslie Gillen and Berwyn M. Rice asked Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court to let them look at all statements and notes which Weissich may have up his sleeve for the trial.

Weissich objected strenuously, quoting opinions handed down by the late state Supreme Court Justice Jesse W. Carter. Weissich quoted Carter as saying the defense must request "specific documents" and not just go on a "fishing expedition."

Rice and Gillen argued that a state Supreme Court ruling says defendants have a right to look at statements given to the prosecution before the trial. But Judge Brusatori pointed out that this applies only to documents, the existence of which was brought out during preliminary hearing.

In the Dr. Willis case there is no evidence yet that any such document or statement exists, said Weissich.

"I don't think the supreme court has gone so far as to say that the defense can rummage through the prosecution statements and through the mind of the district attorney," he declared.

After the trial starts, and testimony shows that officers have statements from witnesses, Weissich said, he would be happy to release the information.

Attorneys Gillen and Rice wanted to put the district attorney on the stand to grill him on the existence of statements by witnesses. But Judge Brusatori ruled that this would be "purely a fishing expedition."

Judge Brusatori, in ruling against the defense motion, said he was impressed by the statements of the late Justice Carter, "one of the chief exponents of discovery proceedings."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Faubus Plan Rejected

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock School Board and Gov. Orval E. Faubus apparently are headed for another disagreement over plans for desegregation of public high schools here.

The governor, responding to the board's request to disclose any plan he might have for legally retaining segregation, yesterday suggested that two schools be integrated and two left for segregationists.

Board president Everett Tucker Jr. promptly retorted that the Faubus proposal would mean more integration than the board's plan to admit a few Negroes, if necessary, to each of three white schools.

Chamoun Aide Slain

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Fifty-four suspects were held today in the slaying of a top aide of ex-President Camille Chamoun as police pressed a house-to-house search for the killers in the Lebanese Mountains.

Haim Moghabghab, 48, a guerrilla fighter for Chamoun in last summer's civil war, was killed yesterday while with a group of followers.

Kennedy Backed

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Abraham Ribicoff and the state's Democratic Central Committee have formally backed Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Grand Canyon Search

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—National Park rangers today resumed a slow, painstaking search for a Georgia youth missing since Saturday in the Grand Canyon.

With no leads to guide them, searchers were losing all hope of finding Mason Owens, 16, of Savannah, alive.

Equal Time Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, brimming with potential candidates, has moved to erase a threatened radio and television news blackout of next year's presidential campaign.

By voice vote yesterday, senators passed a bill that would exempt most news shows from the law's requirement that they make equal time available to all candidates for public office.

Until this year the requirement had been applied only to campaign advertising and political speeches, whether paid or free. A ruling by the Federal Communications Commission extended it to other types of programs, although not to mere mention of a candidate's name in a broadcast.

Atlas Shot Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A revamped Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile thundered 5,000 miles last night to punctuate congressional queries into whether we are losing the missile race with Russia.

It was the second straight Atlas success after five consecutive failures. About one and one-half hours after launching, the Air Force announced the shoot apparently was a complete success.

The silvery 100-ton war rocket rose confidently from its pad at 11:10 p.m. It climbed smoothly into a starry sky, on its way to a pre-designated impact area near Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

Cheap Campaign

Reporting to the secretary of state on his primary race in which he won the Republican nomination for Kentucky attorney general, Cannon listed $2 for a photograph and 50 cents for stamps.

Quick Cooling Off

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Weather Bureau said the cool air dropped temperatures 10 to 15 degrees in most spots, although the mercury dropped 21 degrees at Glascow, Mont.

Fair weather was the prospect from the Pacific Coast to the northern half of the plains as well as for much of New England and the mid-Atlantic states. The weather Man said the remainder of the country could look for scattered showers or thundershowers to develop in the afternoon or evening.

Explosive Candy

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Anna Jean Jacobs, 14, found some firecracker balls left over from the July Fourth holiday. She placed them in a bowl on the dining room table.

From her room at General Rose Hospital Minnie Jacobs—Anna Jean's mother — said yesterday:

"They looked so tempting."

Mrs. Jacobs mistook the colored balls for candy. The ball exploded as she bit down. She was treated for a cut mouth.

Get Long Look

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Japanese sailors wanted a look at the city. They got it. A g-o-o-o-o-d one.

Guards overlooked the sightseeing tars when they locked the 454-foot observation tower atop the City Hall at 4 p.m. yesterday. They were left high and dry.

An hour later a homeward-bound city employee pushed the wrong button and the elevator went up instead of down.

At the tower he spotted the sailors—faces pressed against the glass, shouting. Even the non-Japanese speaking worker knew they wanted out.

Nixon Trip Shows Russ Friendly: Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the reception given Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Soviet Union is clear evidence of a friendly feeling by the Russian people for Americans.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that Nixon has every right to discuss with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a possible visit by the premier to this country, but has no authority to offer an outright invitation.

Eisenhower said Nixon had acquitted himself splendidly and in a manner fitting his high office during his Soviet travels and his encounters with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower also touched on these other topics in the news conference:

STEEL — He said that the U.S. Steel Corp.'s profits, as reported last night, have no bearing on whether the government should intervene in behalf of a wage increase for the 500,000 striking steelworkers.

Eisenhower said the government cannot talk about steel wages or profits without appearing to favor one side or the other, and if it does it is in trouble.

GENEVA—The President asserted there still is no progress at the foreign ministers' conference which would justify the holding of a summit meeting, but he declined — in response to a question—to give an opinion as to whether the outlook is so hopeless that the conference should be abandoned.

FOREIGN AID—The cuts in foreign aid funds made by a House bill would seriously damage the American position in the cold war, Eisenhower said. He added that he is very, very hopeful the Senate will restore much of the money.

LABOR REGULATIONS — The President gave virtual endorsement to a new labor bill introduced in the House several days ago by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.).

HAWAII — The President opened his news conference with a volunteered expression of gratification over the outcome of yesterday's election in Hawaii.

He said his gratification was not primarily over the success of three Republicans—the governor, lieutenant governor and one senator—but at the fact that among the successful candidates, regardless of party, were Americans of Chinese, Japanese and Hawaiian extraction.

United Parcel Walkout Ends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The four-day strike against United Parcel Service ended today when Oakland Teamsters Local 70 voted to accept a new agreement providing a 25 cent hourly wage increase.

The hourly rate will be $2.75.

The walkout had also halted deliveries from about 2,000 stores in San Francisco when 300 San Francisco teamsters refused to cross picket lines. Marin County was not affected.

Parcel service drivers struck in Oakland Friday, demanding a 35-cent hourly wage raise. They turned down a company offer of 22½ cents, which would have given them parity with San Francisco drivers.

Longshoremen Share Benefits Of Automation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Probably the first major labor contract to share the benefits of automation with workers has been agreed upon by leaders of 17,000 West Coast longshoremen and waterfront employers.

The agreement was reached late yesterday by negotiators for Harry Bridges' independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Assn.

The new contract, subject to ratification by both sides, would run three years.

In return for the union's promise to furnish competent personnel to man labor-saving devices, the employers agree to contribute a one and one-half-million-dollar fund during the first year of the pact as payment for the men's share of increased productivity.

Other gains reported include: Wage raises of 11 cents an hour for longshoremen and 12½ cents for clerks, bringing the latter up to longshore parity within three years.

An added one-cent per hour employer contribution to the welfare fund if its balance drops below $100,000.

Coffee breaks.

Ike Thanks Marin GOP For Stand On Inflation

President Eisenhower sent a letter of thanks to the Marin County Republican Central Committee for going on record against inflation, Chairman Elmer S. Worlund reported at the committee's meeting last night.

The letter said:

"I am grateful to you and to the members of the Republican County Central Committee of Marin for your support of the administration's program to promote an expanding economy on the basis of a sound dollar and fiscal integrity.

"I hope all of you will do everything you can in your community to emphasize the danger to our country and to life as you know and now enjoy it should the inflationary spiral continue unchecked."

The President closed the letter "with deep appreciation of your confidence and support."

Two students from Redwood High School attended last night's meeting as observers. They will help in the fall with formation of junior Republican clubs in all of the county's high schools under the ageis of the Young Republican organization, Vice President Jeanne Daussee said.

Miss Dausse also reported on the Young Republicans convention in Denver. She said a crowd of 1,300 invited guests at a reception for Vice President Richard M. Nixon were captivated by Nixon's sincerity and charm.

Robert Palmer of Ross was named to head a committee on registration. Robert G. Alderman of San Rafael was asked to form a committee to plan a monthly bulletin to be sent to registered Republicans.

Members were urged to write congressmen in support of labor reform legislation. Frederick G. Dupuis of Tiburon said the Kennedy-Ervin bill has had 56 amendments adopted but that even a weak bill would be a step in the right direction.

Richardson Bay District Budget, Tax Remain Same

Directors of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District Monday night adopted a budget of $58,100 for fiscal 1959-60 and set a tax rate of 60 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, both the same as last year, according to secretary Samuel A. Fletcher.

The budget lists maintenance and operation, $29,300; capital outlay, $21,200; salaries, $2,000, and reserves $5,600.

The budget anticipates that $36,900 will be collected through taxes, with connection fees covering capital outlay.

Marin Cleaners

520 FOURTH ST.

An Open Letter to the Public:

For the past 4 years, we have been serving the Laundromatic Company's 7 locations in Marin County: 2 in Sausalito, 1 each in Larkspur, Fairfax and San Anselmo and 2 in San Rafael. We have provided their customers with top quality dry cleaning and dyeing. The Laundromatic Company recently introduced "economy cleaning" at the above locations.

"Economy cleaning" is not up to the standards of Marin Cleaners and so we have discontinued our service effective last Saturday, July 25.

We have no quarrel with the laundries who wish to offer "economy cleaning" to their customers. We feel that every business has a right to choose the kind of service that they wish to provide.

We have built our business and reputation on top quality dry cleaning and we have no wish to change our practices.

We do, however, feel that it is important to notify the customers of the above named automatic laundries that we are no longer serving these outlets. To those customers who wish to continue directly with us, we invite you to bring your cleaning to 520 Fourth St., San Rafael (our main plant and office) or to our branch at Marin Town & Country Shopping Center, Tiburon Blvd. & Blackfield Drive, Bel Aire, or call GL 4-4792 for pick-up and delivery.

ADULT EDUCATION

Citizens' Advisory Group To Air Program Suggested

(Third of a series)
By DONALD G. DAVIS

A citizens advisory committee to aid in establishing community-interest courses in the College of Marin adult education program is only one of the ideas of program director Samuel N. LeCount.

He has suggested, in an informal meeting with the college district board of trustees, that forums and discussion groups on local government be permitted. He said he proposed this two years ago and was turned down by the board with the comment that it would be too controversial.

Trustee chairman Rupert E. Kempf said he could not remember why that policy was started, "but I, personally am willing to rescind it."

Said LeCount:

"I am not in favor, either, of the tacit policy that we shouldn't encourage other educational institutions to use our facilities. We should not exclude university extension programs, providing they don't compete with us."

Kempf said he thought University of California officials probably should be contacted. "But, Cal," he added, "would only be an example."

On the subject of offering credits in the adult program, LeCount said he "personally recommended discontinuance of credits because persons who received them here would take their transcripts to other colleges which would not accept them. Then the student would object to us."

Holding to the thought that a credit-type program is not necessary, he said, "There is certain flexibility and freedom when you don't have fixed contents in courses, examinations and books which might be needed for credit."

Ultimately, however, he said, "we will need some kind of extended day college. There's no reason why we can't offer associate of arts degrees" to night students.

"But even if such a program be adopted, there still should be some courses offered on a no-credit basis."

Kempf said he thought this would be the proper way to go about it. "It should be gradual, testing here, testing there."

"I would recommend that the board hire a professional group to do it," LeCount said. "This would point out the needs of the people in the county on a basis of scientific evaluation."

"I know we've been off because sometimes just because a certain number of people ask for a course we give it," Kempf said. "I think we're talking about general community service."

Trustee George G. Washburn asked, "Wouldn't the cost be high?"

"I'm not urging it at the moment. I just think you could be thinking about it," LeCount said. "I sense our possible needs in courses at meetings I attend — sometimes from remarks. Sometimes people will call in for a course and we get the required 20 students; if not, we discontinue. We discontinue four to six classes a quarter."

"How will you determine anything by a survey?" asked Washburn. "The community may change its mind. The average taxpayer doesn't know anything about education. It seems the survey should be made by educators."

"I don't agree," said Kempf, "I don't think that would give us a basis on which to work."

"An advisory committee," trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said, "would be alert to the interests of the people and what is possible at the college, and would be an effective way to achieve a cross-section of community thinking. I would like to see the operation set up, and I think you'll find support for your college."

83 More Convicts Join Fire Lines

Eighty-three more San Quentin Prison inmates were sent into Northern California Monday to fight forest fires. The new group brought to more than 500 the number of inmates now on fire lines.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said the latest group was sent to Mendocino County. Other San Quentin fire-fighters are in Siskiyou, Lassen and Humboldt Counties.

PLANE IN BAY BUT IT HASN'T CRASH LANDED

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — That airplane in San Francisco Bay off the northeast edge of International Airport hasn't crash-landed. It's anchored in cement for the start of Air Force wet ditching exercises today.

The Air Force 552nd Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing is using the plane to practice wet ditching in case any of its radar picket planes ever are forced down in the Pacific Ocean.

Airmen will be aboard the stationary aircraft, a Martin PBY hull, and then will be told to leap into the bay with one-man life rafts.

Stolen Float Recovered

A stolen finger float, one of 10 being built by Larkspur contractor Russ Lauterwasser for Angel Island State Park, was recovered by Larkspur police late Monday in the tule marshes behind Redwood High School.

Police Chief Howard Clark said juveniles presumably made off with the 4-by-20-foot wood and Styrofoam float. It was not damaged. The theft occurred at Lauterwasser's construction site on Corte Madera Creek, near the Larkspur Lumber Co.

The floats, worth about $300 each, are being built for the state Division of Beaches and Parks. Lauterwasser, former city clerk of Larkspur, is scheduled to deliver them this week.

What Can County Do If Indigent Too Ill To Move To San Rafael General?

A problem that plagued the Marin County Board of Supervisors earlier this year was presented again yesterday: What should the county do when an indigent patient is too ill to be moved to San Rafael General Hospital?

The case of a 61-year-old veteran of World War I, who was near death on July 14 after suffering a severe heart attack, was described by Dr. Martin H. Long of Mill Valley in a letter read to the supervisors.

Attending physicians learned after the man had improved slightly that he was unable to pay for his medical care. The Veterans Administration Hospital in Oakland could have taken him if he could have been moved, Dr. Long reported.

Dr. Long said Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy, county medical director, told him the county could not assume care of the man unless he were placed in San Rafael General Hospital.

In Dr. Long's opinion it would have been unwise to move the man from Ross General Hospital to San Rafael General Hospital. He is still at Ross General.

On Jan. 6 the county board of supervisors established a money-saving policy of paying for care of indigent patients who need hospitalization at San Rafael General exclusively, instead of at all three Marin hospitals.

Dr. Long entered the suggestion yesterday "that the policy of care for such an individual (the heart attack victim) be changed to allow the county physician's office to treat such patients at other hospitals until their condition improves to the point they can be transferred."

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen said a policy recommendation requested from the Marin County Medical Society had not yet been received.

The supervisors asked that Dr. Dufficy report to them at next Tuesday's meeting on the suggestion made by Dr. Long.

IT RAINED, JUST LIKE THEY ALL SAID IT WOULD

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Waynesburg residents didn't have long to wait today for the fulfillment of their almost dead certain prediction for rain on July 29.

Just one hour and 55 minutes after the stroke of midnight on the town hall clock, a light drizzle fell on the crowd of residents who gathered to witness the rainfall that history practically assured would come.

To scoffers, it was pointed out that written records show that before today, it has rained here on July 29, 73 out of the last 82 years. Now it stands one better.

Walters said he hoped the engagement would run a full year.

The producer, who returned from Paris Sunday, reported he completed negotiations with Folies owner Paul Derbal for the engagement. The show will feature can can girls and the Folies' famous nude models, he said.

Tam School Aims Outlined In Report

A concise presentation of what the Tamalpais Union High School District is trying to accomplish in its schools is the aim of a committee working on a statement of "Philosophy of Education" at the request of Supt. Chester G. Carlisle.

Headed by Robert D. Torrey, director of instruction and personnel, and composed of teachers and parents, the committee has prepared a preliminary statement to be presented to other groups for reaction and suggestions.

After further study, Torrey said, the revised statement will be submitted to the district board of trustees.

The preliminary statement includes "basic assumptions" that Tam District schools must provide education consistent with the American way of life and geared to "maximum educational development of the individual potential" of every youngster.

The report says specific tasks of the school include instruction in fundamental knowledge, skills and attitudes, special programs for particular academic and vocational needs, and guidance so every student may gain maximum benefit from school.

Measles Shows In County's Disease Report

Marin County had 29 cases of communicable diseases during the week ended last Friday, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, reported today.

Measles again led the list, although showing a drop to 12 cases. Seven of these cases were in San Rafael, while San Anselmo had two and Kentfield, Larkspur and Mill Valley each had one.

Of six cases of mumps, four were in San Rafael and two in Mill Valley. Corte Madera had three cases of streptococcic infection and San Rafael had two.

Two cases of tuberculosis were reported in Marin City. Two cases of gonorrhea were in unincorporated areas and a third was in San Anselmo. San Rafael had one case of infectious hepatitis.

Former San Rafael Man Hears Sentence

Donald Duane Fields, 23, former San Rafael resident, must pay a $180 fine and not drink at all for one year because he was caught driving while drunk at Fourth street and Lincoln avenue in San Rafael July 11.

He was sentenced by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court.

We'd Like You To Help Us Keep Marin Marvelous

Last weekend we did a little roaming around Marin. We rode up to the top of San Rafael Hill by the cross. We hiked through the hills edging Black Canyon. We drove slowly and meanderingly through some of the county's back roads.

We really have a beautiful county that we forget to look at some times.

But one thing appalled us. Everywhere we went we found litter. High on a fire road above Black Canyon we came upon two piles of broken plaster and lath. There was about enough in each pile to fill the back of a station wagon or a small pickup truck. Somebody had been taking out a partition.

The road up San Rafael hill was littered with beer cans and six packs. Every wide spot where a car can park to "look at the view" is surrounded by discarded paper, cigarette packages and other items.

Along most of our other county roads are places where someone has "deposited the garbage." A cardboard carton filled with tin cans and other refuse is tossed out the window of a passing vehicle, spreading the cans and garbage in a wild semi-circle.

These are discouraging sights to see. They make us feel that too many of our neighbors are slobs, people who either don't know any better or don't care.

We've been making some improvement in the littering of our major highways. Even though there is still room for improvement here, more and more cars are carrying litter bags; fewer car windows are being opened to dispose of that gum wrapper or cigarette butt.

But a new type of litterbugging has made its appearance. Possibly it has been sparked by the moving of the county dump to far North Marin along with stiff fees for dumping grass and tree trimmings in the Larkspur dump.

This is Bay littering. The Army Corps of Engineers are complaining about a marked increase in floating debris in San Francisco Bay. They should know; they have to clean it up in the ship channels.

The people who have waterfront property also are reporting more and more litter floating ashore.

Don't be a slob—excuse us, we mean a litterbug. Don't pollute the highways, the roadsides, the trails or the Bay. It's not only against the law, but we'd like you to help us keep Marin Marvelous.

FIRE TRAVELS ACROSS COUNTRY

The fire started in Lancaster, South Carolina, but was not discovered until the car reached Portland, Oregon.

Firemen, finding the seals on the doors of the freight car unbroken, concluded that the fire had been smoldering for some time until it burst its way through a two-inch wooden flooring and then burst into flames.

A tiny spark probably started this fire. In much the same way, the little things we say or do may have repercussions, good or bad, in some distant place or long after we have passed from the earthly scene.

This can be a most stimulating thought for those intent on doing as much good as possible during their pilgrimage through life.

If you truly desire to share your blessings with the world, as far as you can reach, God will bless you. One day when you stand before Him, you may be happily surprised to learn the far-reaching effects of your efforts.

"Yea, Lord, Thou knowest that I love Thee. He saith to him: Feed my lambs." (John 21:15)

Little-Known Facts About Most Powerful Elective Job In World

NEW YORK (AP) — Eighteen months from now the White House will have a new occupant.

No one can say now for sure who will be the next President although a lot of people feel they already know.

The odds are, however, he won't have been born in June. No June baby has ever become president. The biggest months for presidential births have been October and November, each with five.

Here are a few facts and statistics about the job that has been called the most powerful elective office in the world:

George Washington, who died childless, is known as the father of his country. But the champion White House daddy was the 10th President, John Tyler. He had 14 children by two wives.

Presidents tend to have more sons than do average dads. The 33 presidents have fathered 71 sons but only 47 daughters.

James Buchanan, the 15th President, was the only bachelor. But five Persidents married a second time after the deaths of their first wives.

Most popular first name among president has been "James." Five were so named.

Not one in a thousand Americans knows the real first name of U. S. Grant, the 18th President, was Hiram. He was baptized Hiram Ulysses but adopted the name Ulysses Simpson Grant after he was so erroneously entered at West Point in 1839.

The first name of Calvin Coolidge was John. The first name of Grover Cleveland was Stephen. The first name of Woodrow Wilson was Thomas.

Shortest-lived President was James A. Garfield, assassinated at 49. Longest-lived was John Adams, who lived to be 90.

HE AND THOMAS Jefferson died on the same day, July 4, 1826.

Virginia has given birth to more U. S. Presidents than any other state, eight. Ohio is next with six.

Only three Presidents have been born West of the Mississippi River—Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman, and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

FIFTEEN U.S. Presidents — including both Roosevelts — have been Freemasons.

When George Washington died he was one of the wealthier men in America, owning 110,000 acres of land. What a golf course that would have made!

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

CD Director Pledges Progress

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have read with a great deal of interest your editorial of July 7, entitled "What We Need is Realistic Look at Civil Defense." . . .

It is my conviction that the Legislature, as well as the general public, needs to know much more about the work of this office. The legislative action on the budget indicated not so much that the California Disaster Office hasn't done a worthwhile job, as some vagueness about what the job is. We are taking many steps to help clarify the accomplishments and objectives of the program.

In March, for example, the State published its first Civil Defense Operations Plan — a concrete and detailed plan for civilian recovery, post-disaster. Every State in the Union must develop such a plan. At present, counties and cities are integrating their own emergency plans with the master plan of the State.

We have briefed the State agencies on their emergency responsibilities and since we believe State government must practice what it preaches, the agencies are perfecting their emergency plans at this time. Good progress has been made.

We are holding a series of regional meetings with county and city officials, including directors of civil defense, so that we can assist and encourage the completion of local plans.

We are urging an updated approach to the problem, at a period in history when preattack warning time is rapidly waning, and citizens must be convinced of the need for taking a few realistic steps toward survival.

The Federal government cannot do the local job. It is not equipped to make individual state plans, or plans for the counties and cities.

Although it can and does establish broad policies, the primary responsibility rests with the local officials and the State. No Federal agency has the familiarity with the local resources which is essential to workable plans. In the event of real disaster, the people on the spot would do the job.

I agree that the very name "civil defense" is unfortunate. In an attempt to bring the concept of non-military defense in line with the times, we are now using the symbol which you see on our letterhead in place of the "CD" so long associated with World War II. I would like to stress, however, that in my reference to "sand buckets" there was no intention of disparaging the very real contribution of World War II civil defense workers. We just want to emphasize and, if possible, dramatize the basic changes which have taken place in this program since the war.

Civilians cannot, of course, defend the nation in the sense that we apply to the military. At the same time, the major military emphasis is now being placed on retaliatory power, not attacking force. If our military forces are going to retaliate, that means some of our civilian population will have been hurt before we strike even one blow.

And that fact creates the reason for disaster preparedness. We can greatly reduce the number of casualties and we can greatly facilitate our ability to recover if we have a workable program of disaster planning — or, as you say, emergency survival.

Civilians can increase their chances of survival by learning the warning signals; knowing their local plans; determining the location of the best available shelter at home and in the community; and by keeping a supply of food and water on hand that will last for at least two weeks.

The Federal government has made it clear that following a disaster, weeks might pass before the national government could have the situation in hand. This is the basic reason for State programs and local programs. Survival and recovery should start immediately, not four or five weeks after an attack.

We intend to carry forward a realistic program and we are basing it on a reasonable organization. . . .

Negligence Can Result In Polio

Independent-Journal:

With the advent of the polio season close at hand and despite the reports of the severity of the polio epidemic in Des Moines, Iowa, it is a heartbreaking fact that public apathy in Marin County towards the Salk vaccine shots is at its highest peak.

There is a widespread misconception abroad that "polio has been licked" and that there is no further need for anyone to protect himself, by the simple procedure of vaccination, from this crippling menace. The diseases of small pox and diptheria were "licked" over two decades ago, but that does not deter people from being vaccinated against them today. And, to date, the control of polio has not by any means approximated the control of these former menaces.

Having contracted polio myself many years ago before such shots were available, I have seen and am still seeing the sad results of this disease in the many cases who did not have the shots.

Fellow Marinites, do not allow yourselves through negligence to be numbered among these statistics. Please take advantage of the free shots offered by your Health Department (or if you prefer, contact your own physician) as soon as possible. This way you can help to eliminate polio epidemics. Don't forget that polio strikes all age groups, so don't let an epidemic happen here.

In 1904, after a fruitless attempt to find a job in every newspaper office in metropolitan New York, the late Irvin Cobb sent this letter, special delivery, to all editors: "Sir: I am the best writer and the ablest editor that has ever come to New York and yet nobody has jumped at the unparalleled opportunity of hiring me. This is your last chance. I'm weary of waiting in your anteroom and a modest appreciation of my own worth forbids my doing business with your head office boy any longer. Unless you grab me right away, I will leave your paper flat on its back in the middle of a hard summer and your whole life hereafter will be one vast surging regret."

This must have been a novel approach in 1904, because Cobb notes that his letter produced five offers of jobs!

Novato Community Clubhouse Doesn't Have To Be Given To 'City'

Novato incorporation proponents who listened to a fast-spreading rumor last week thought they had a windfall in the bag.

Seems someone took a look at the bylaws of the Novato Community Club and came up with the "news" that the club's venerable meeting hall would be turned over to the city of Novato, once incorporated.

The announcement sent club members scurrying to read the legal verbiage that would transfer ownership to the fledgling city—for use perhaps as a city hall.

But after some scanning, a conclusion: It was a rumor with a shaky foundation.

Mrs. Edward Grundstrom, club president, took a look at the long over-looked section and found that while the bylaws do indeed state that the club's property can be given as a gift to a city of Novato, there is one important provision.

At least 75 per cent of the club's members (there are about 250 of them) first must vote in favor of relinquishing the clubhouse.

"It's quite shocking how the rumor got started," reports the president. "The board of directors hasn't discussed the idea at all."

THE THREAT of a court battle has been sounded by Novato residents opposed to incorporation. And they are quick to point out that you need not win in court to win at the polls.

Paul Brindel and Henry Lautrup, leading foes of the concept of turning Novato into a city, last Saturday reminded a group of like-minded property owners of what happened two years ago to a proposed community services district in North Marin.

Said Brindel: Then, the Marin County Board of Supervisors chose to include areas in the proposed boundaries which allegedly were against inclusion.

"We took the case to court," he recalled, "and lost. But the proposed district went down to defeat 1,228 to 412.

"I think incorporation can be defeated as well," he proclaimed. "But it's going to be a missionary job."

One thing was made clear by the opposing voices. Incorporation won't come to Novato without plenty of verbal fireworks.

IT LOOKED FOR ALL the world this week that Marin's proposed site for a new four-year state college the Freitas Ranch in west Novato had reached the finals in a contest that has kept the bystanders guessing for many months.

Speculation was aroused when the State Public Works Board announced plans to take samplings of the subterranian soil 30 feet down.

The ranch's rolling acreage is apparently still very much in the running, at least, with the several other North Bay sites under consideration by the state board.

JOHN KIKER, chairman of the ways and means committee of Novato's American Legion Post 708, is all out for a drag strip in North Marin—as are his fellow Legionnaires.

That, in fact, explains why ferris wheels and side-show barkers are in action this week at the corner of Highway 101 and Diablo avenue. A percentage of the profits made by the carnival owners will go toward the post's youth project, the drag strip.

The proposal could mean a partial answer to the question posed by the Novato School Board from time to time: "How do you keep the hot-rods from tearing up the turf at Novato High School's new and unfenced athletic field?"

Both Competitors Were Victors In The Nixon-Khrushchev Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public argument between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have given diplomats a shock, but it didn't amount to much except perhaps to help both men politically at home.

They agreed Sunday their fast set-to at the American fair in Moscow was just frank and hardhitting, but not belligerent. It was almost like calling the whole thing good, clean fun.

IT WAS PRETTY much an old story except for the way it was done.

It didn't come any closer to settling anything — or making anything worse—between the United States and the Soviet Union than a high school debate.

Both men knew any real hope they might have for settling American-Soviet differences rested in their private talks, of which they have had several.

To professional diplomats used to washing dirty international linen out of sight and with polite palaver, the spectacle of these two high government officials stepping on each other's toes may have seemed clumsy.

But the United States and the Soviet Union both have been clumsy in the way they have handled Nixon's visit. Nixon's own government put him under a handicap and left him open to abuse before he ever got to Moscow.

THERE IS SMALL excuse — except on the ground of thoughtlessness—for the fact that Congress and the Eisenhower administration combined to declare last week Captive Nations Week. This was a deliberate, anti-Communist slam, intended to remind the satellite peoples this country hadn't forgotten them.

What was forgotten was that last week was also the week Nixon was to arrive in the Soviet Union and that the Russians might — as they did — take out their irritation on Nixon.

But if this was clumsy, the Soviets looked even more gawkish. They were incredibly clumsy.

They provided the world with living evidence of Nixon's suggestion to Khrushchev that the Soviets are afraid of ideas. Khrushchev's rejoinder — "we are telling you not to be afraid of ideas" — looked ridiculous in view of events.

ON TOP OF THIS the Soviets scrambled up the news coverage of Nixon's trip with censorship — a fact that was duly noted in the American press.

Nixon's ordeal in Latin America last year—when, because of anti-American feeling, he had to endure spit and stones — did him political good. It created great sympathy for him and appreciation for sturdiness in an ordeal.

NOW HIS SLUG-FEST with Khrushchev should do him political good here. Many Americans, fed up with Khrushchev's bluster, can easily identify themselves with him and tell themselves: "He told off that guy."

And Khrushchev could hardly lose at home by battering on Nixon. Any Russians, more concerned about their own feeling of inferiority toward the United States than the actual content of the argument, will no doubt applaud their premier for standing up to the American.

KISS FOR NEW SENATOR—Hiram L. Fong, 52, Republican and millionaire Chinese-American businessman, gets a victory kiss from his 11-year-old daughter, Merie Ellen, after he led the GOP ticket to surprising victories in yesterday's first state election in Hawaii. Fong was elected a U.S. senator and will be the first person of Chinese ancestry to serve in that capacity. (AP Wirephoto)

Republicans Score Heavily In Hawaii's First State Voting

HONOLULU (UPI)—Republicans who went into Hawaii's first state elections as near bankrupts came out today as prize-winning holders of a U. S. Senate seat, the state governorship and control of the new State Senate.

More than 90 per cent of the new state's 183,000 voters jumped back and forth across party lines to confound the political experts as they chose their new national and state officers on the basis of personal popularity, rather than by party label.

Republican William F. Quinn launched himself into national prominence and sent his party supporters on the binge of their lives by soundly thrashing Democrat John A. Burns for the governorship—although the Democrats had owned island politics for the past five years.

However, the most popular man in the election was a Democrat. He is Daniel K. Inouye, a 34-year-old war hero of Japanese ancestry, who was carried into the House of Representatives by a landslide.

Inouye, who lost an arm in World War II fighting, will be the first of his race to hold a congressional seat.

A Chinese-American Republican, millionaire Hiram L. Fong, also will be the first of his race to gain a seat in Congress. His opponent, Connecticut-born Frank A. Fasi, announced at Democratic headquarters early today that he was conceding their race for a Senate seat.

The Democrats' only other winner appeared to be Oren E. Long. He held a commanding lead over Wilfred Tsukiyama in the race for the other Senate seat—although Tsukiyama did not concede.

Inouye was the only landslide winner of the 50th state's first state election. With about 72 per cent of the vote counted, he led his Republican opponent, Dr. Charles H. Silva by almost three to one. Silva conceded five hours after the polls closed.

Inouye said he was "deeply gratified for the privilege of being the first United States representative from the new sovereign state of Hawaii . . . I am determined to do my share, small though it may be, to make Hawaii a bridge of understanding and tolerance between the Western and Asiatic worlds."

Republicans apparently captured 13 of the 25 new State Senate seats to gain control of that body for the first time in five years. However, the Democrats had leads in 32 of the 51 House seats up for election.

Almonte Sanitary Board Approves Budget Of $10,300

Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District Monday night approved a budget of about $10,300 for the coming year which includes an increase of some $2,000 to be paid to Mill Valley for sewer treatment service.

Chairman Jerome F. Downs announced, however, that the overall tax rate of 87 cents per $100 of assessed valuation would be the maximum with the expectation that it may be several cents less.

Sewer service fees will remain at $30 a year, Downs said.

Not included in the budget figure is some $6,200 in serial bonds and interest to be paid off this year and about $1,500 in capital outlay to be covered by sewer connection fees, Downs said.

STEEL PROFITS HIT BY UNION LEADER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steelworkers Union has seized upon a report of record profits by U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer, to charge that the figures make the industry's strike position "utterly ridiculous."

The companies' position that they are holding the line against inflation by refusing wage demands was characterized by the union as raising a "phony inflation issue at a time when they are rolling in wealth."

U.S. Steel replied that the profits were "not in any way excessive" when compared with those in other industries.

Meanwhile, a mediator reported after separate talks with both sides in the 15-day-old nationwide strike of a half million steelworkers that there was no change in the position of either side.

A strike threat affecting most of the aluminum industry scheduled for Friday midnight was postponed.

David J. McDonald United Steelworkers president, said the "astronomical profits being reported by steel firms" will convince the public that the steelworkers were forced to strike "by a cold-blooded plan of an industry that wanted and planned this shutdown for its own selfish reasons."

U.S. Steel's board chairman, Roger M. Blough, replied that U.S. Steel would hold the price line, unless the government forced a strike settlement which might change the picture.

He made it clear he expected the industry to follow suit.

The steel industry has refused to grant union demands for a wage increase, claiming that any increase in labor cost would force a price increase and contribute to inflation.

The union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual increase.

The Steelworkers Union and other unions made similar demands in the aluminum industry, and they were turned down. Aluminum wages range between $2.76 and $2.91 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and the Big Three companies involved—The Aluminum Co. of America, the Reynolds Metals Co., and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp.—agreed yesterday to extend current contracts 30 days beyond the steel settlement date, or until next Nov. 1, whichever is earlier. The agreement would be retroactive to Aug. 1. It covers about 30,000 of the Big Three's 58,000 production workers.

The Aluminum Workers International Union reached a similar agreement with ALCOA. Union talks with Reynolds were scheduled later today.

JACK HANLEY'S REPORT

Blame The Wives For Giants' Home Record

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

SEALS STADIUM — Our editor took us to lunch the other day and succinctly stated, as he always does, what was on his mind.

"Why," he asked, "don't the Giants win at home like they do on the road?"

Preoccupied with the thought of ordering the top dish in the house since his check-grabbing generosity is well known to all staffers, we had to admit we missed the question.

"Sorry, boss, the menu intrigued us," we said. "What was that again please?"

"What's wrong with the Giants at home?" he repeated.

"They try too hard in Seals Stadium," we replied. Especially Willie Mays. He's never had a real big day at home and he just about busts his seams pressing for one."

Turning back to the menu, we heard the boss, an old baseball writer himself who can rattle off pitching and hitting statistics faster than an IBM, mumble a non-committal "Mmmmm."

KNOWING THAT "Mmmm" to be a sure sign he wasn't satisfied with the answer, we made a top priority mental note which read: "You better check this out some more, bub, and fast."

As soon as the Giants returned from their exhibition jaunt to Portland, we started with Bill Rigney and then methodically went right down the Giant roster in alphabetical order so as not to miss one player, checking them off as we got their answers to the question:

"Why don't the Giants win at home like they do on the road? Going into today's game with the Phillies, the home record 25-23 is only two over the .500 mark whereas the road record shows 30-21, nine over."

RIGNEY and 24 out of the 25 players on the roster gave answers similar to the one we gave the boss. It was the 25th player who supplied a different answer although he wasn't the 25th Giant interviewed. That would make his identification too easy on an alphabet basis and he asked that his name be withheld.

"Domestic chores," was this fellow's answer which at first puzzled us. But he went on to explain:

"Sure, that's what I mean. Domestic chores. You know as well as I do that a number of our players are young fathers who live on the peninsula.

"After three weeks on the road, the lawn needs mowing when they get home. Maybe some of the faucets need washers to stop an annoying drip-drip-drip.

"Mama has some errands she wants run. The youngsters, particularly the infants, don't know that Papa is a ball player who just finished an extra inning game. So they shout as lustily for the 2 a.m. bottle as the babies of any other young father.

"THEN, how about that freeway traffic. The fellows drive their own cars to and from the stadium. It's not like the road where the bus takes them to and from the hotel.

"So add them all up and what have you got? You have a lot of little things that take a guy's mind off baseball when he's at home. It's not like the road. But remember now don't use my name. I don't want to get in dutch with a lot of wives who are very nice people."

Boysaw Is Choice Over Elorde On TV

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Solomon Boysaw, an unheralded Cleveland boxer, is a 7-5 choice to celebrate his television debut tonight by defeating Flash Elorde, third-ranked flyweight from the Philippines.

Elorde, who is in line for a flyweight championship bout, will be going against an unranked but unbeaten fighter in the Cleveland lightweight. The fight will be televised nationally (ABC), 7 p.m., PDT.

Boysaw, 26, son of a preacher, never has been on the canvas since turning professional. He has a record of 20 victories and a draw in 21 starts. His victims include Lulu Perez and Eddie Perkins.

Elorde, 24, is the lightweight and featherweight champion of the Orient. He has whipped several highly-ranked fighters in compiling a record of 46 victories, 15 defeats and two draws. Elorde has scored 18 knockouts. His biggest triumph was a decision over Sandy Saddler in 1955. He lost a world featherweight title bout to Saddler in 1956 at San Francisco.

The Boysaw-Elorde match was scheduled as a substitute Wednesday night TV bout when the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title fight at Montreal was postponed. That bout was set back to Aug. 12 after Moore's wife underwent an operation last week.

New Pro Grid League May Field 12 Teams

NEW YORK (UPI)—A former professional football star who is "involved" in creating a new major pro football league disclosed today that the loop, tentatively named the "Trans-America Conference," hopes to begin operation next year with 12 teams.

Travis Tidwell, former New York Giant passing ace, said the new league would be "just as representative as the National Football League, with teams from coast to coast and Miami to New York."

Existence of plans for a new pro football league was revealed yesterday by Bert Bell, commissioner of the NFL, in testimony in Washington, D. C., before a Senate subcommittee which is conducting hearings on anti-trust bills relating to pro sports. Bell said the NFL would "welcome" the new loop.

Bell said the league probably would start with teams from Houston, Denver, Minneapolis, New York, Dallas and Los Angeles, and said other possible members are Louisville, Boston, Miami, Seattle, San Francisco and Buffalo.

Tidwell, who is vacationing here, stressed that he could "not speak for the league or as representative of the league."

"But I can tell you we are making definite plans to play in 1960," he said.

Howard To Replace Skowron On All-Star

BOSTON (AP)—Elston Howard, New York Yankees catcher-infielder, was named yesterday to replace injured Bill Skowron on American League all-star squad.

Ted, Stan To Start In All-Star Tilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Stan Musial and Ted Williams, almost fixtures in All-Star play, will be in the starting lineups for Monday's second All-Star Game.

Rival managers Casey Stengel and Fred Haney yesterday bowed to the wishes of southern California sports editors in naming the two perennial favorites to starting roles.

The sports writers wired the managers:

"Being well aware of your full knowledge of the southern California sports public, we suggest that those two great showmen, Fred Haney and Casey Stengel, make every effort to use Stan Musial and Ted Williams in their respective starting lineups for the All-Star Game here Aug. 3. Musial has appeared in 16 All-Star games and Williams in 15 and they have started against each other six times.

"This may be their last chance to start against each other."

In the first All-Star game this year in Pittsburgh, Musial appeared as a pinch-hitter and popped out. Williams, also appearing as a pinch hitter, drew a walk.

Giants' Lead Continues To Dwindle

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Philadelphia's Phillies, still in last place but in their hottest streak of the year, aim to become the spoilers of the National League race.

Last night they edged San Francisco 3-2 on Gene Freese's eighth inning solo home run. The loss cut the Giants' league lead to one-half game over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Two more games come up here and the Phils then go to Los Angeles to face the other top challenging West Coast club.

That victory made it seven in the past eight games for the Phillies and 11 out of the past 14. The Giants have won three and lost five on their current home stand.

STARTERS NAMED

Freese's homer last night was at the expense of losing pitcher Stu Miller. It came after Kirkland's 17th homer in the sixth, and Cepeda's 20th in the seventh had tied the count.

Starter Sam Jones ran into a wild streak that cost him runs in the third and fourth innings. In the third he walked Sparky Anderson and Joe Lonnett. Anderson scored with two out when Richie Ashburn dumped a two-base hit into short center. Willie Mays stumbled as he started for the ball on what appeared to be an out.

Then in the fourth Freese singled and Jones walked three in a row to force in run No. 2.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Chisox Capture Lead, Hip Floundering N.Y.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The White Sox aren't the hitless wonders of long ago but they still make one run go a long way.

They've score fewer runs than any other American League team except Baltimore, but they're back in first place by a half-game today because their pitching and defense win the close ones.

They came through with one of their most important decisions of the season last night when Billy Pierce's sturdy pitching and Al Smith's two-run eighth-inning homer produced a 4-3 win over floundering New York Yankees. A crowd of 43,829—largest of the season in Chicago's Comiskey Park—saw the White Sox dump the world champions into fifth place.

The Cleveland Indians slipped back into second place when they lost, 8-4, after beating the Boston Red Sox, 5-2 in a double-header; the Kansas City A's stretched their winning streak to a major league season high of nine by beating the Washington Senators, 6-1, and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Orioles, 8-3, in other A.L. games.

The Los Angeles Dodgers climbed within a half-game of the National League lead when they beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-4, and the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the San Francisco Giants, 3-2. The Chicago Cubs nipped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-4, and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-4.

Gary Bell pitched a six-hitter and Jim Baxes hit his 13th homer for the Indians in their opener, but then homers by Frank Malzone and Pete Runnels led the Red Sox to their nightcap victory.

Don Mossi pitched a three-hitter to win his ninth game for the Tigers who racked up Hoyt Wilhelm for six runs in 2⅓ innings.

The Dodgers dealt the Pirates their eighth straight setback with an 11-hit attack that featured a homer and double by Wally Moon in addition to doubles by Norm Larker and Don Demeter. Stan Williams shut out the Pirates for the last six innings to win his fourth game.

Roy McMillan, back in the starting lineup for the first time since June 14, singled home the winning run in the eighth inning after the Reds overcame St. Louis' early lead by scoring four runs in the seventh.

Bowdry Has Sensational Kayo Record

Fourth-ranked Jesse Bowdry may became the first St. Louis born fighter to win the light heavyweight championship of the world, believes his co-managers, Bernio Glickman and Eddie Yawitz.

Bowdry arrived in San Francisco Sunday for his 10-round match against Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo tomorrow night at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium.

The city of St. Louis has produced good fighters over the years, but only two, Dixie Kid and Virgil Akins, both welterweights, ever won world titles. Dixie Kid goes back to the turn of the century; Akins is still active.

Bowdry, 20 years old and standing 5 feet 10 inches tall, has a sensational knockout record. He stopped 20 opponents in 26 victories, 12 of these coming inside of the first two rounds. His biggest win came recently when he thrashed Tony Anthony in a nationally-televised bout, which boosted the Midwesterner into title contention.

Tickets for the Bowdry-Rodriguez bout are scaled from $2.50 to $7.50.

Over 500 Marin
4-H Club Members
Sincerely Thank the following business firms and individuals for their outstanding support of 4-H Club activities.

Each year many of Marin County's 500 4-H members raise fat steers, lambs and hogs as their year's project. These fat animals are nearly always shown and sold at the Sonoma County Fair. Since the kids pay a premium price for their animals and feed them expensive feed they must get a premium price in order to show a profit for the year. In order to do this the 4-H'ers depend largely on the support of local businesses and individuals.

In past years this support, in Marin County has been carried largely by a few.

This year these few were joined by many. The support was very gratifying to all 4-H'ers selling fat stock at Santa Rosa. Spirited bidding by all buyers made the sale a success. In appreciation all Marin County 4-H members and their families join in thanking the following buyers for their generosity.

The highlight of the sale occurred when Joan Marzell's lamb went on the block. First National Bank, Brice Bros., and the Central Valley National Bank competed for the animal and their spirited bidding ran the price to a final of $1.25 which was paid by First National Bank.

As consolation for those youngsters whose animals did not grade high enough to sell, H. Pini & Co. is sending each one a ten dollar feed order.

Employee Admits Fake Robbery Tale

A reported holdup of an Ignacio service station last January turned out to be a complete hoax, devised by the station attendant who took the money himself, Undersheriff Eugene Myer disclosed today.

Sheriff's Inspector Marco Melovich, who had been working on the "robbery" for several months, said the attendant admitted yesterday he took the money for his own use, then gave the sheriff a detailed report of how he was robbed at gunpoint.

The suspect is Jesse William Winters, 20, an airman attached to the 1902nd Airways and Air Communication Service at Hamilton Air Force Base. He was jailed yesterday on a charge of giving a false report. Freed on $250 bail, Winters was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Winters had given a detailed description of the "robber," and a composite drawing had been made to aid in the search for the bandit. Air Force investigators learned of the hoax and cooperated with the sheriff in arresting Winters at the air base.

Winters, attendant at the Associated Service Station just north of the air base, called for help on the morning of Jan. 16, reporting he had been robbed of $117.

He told investigators a man pulled a revolver on him and cleaned him to the last dime so that he could not call the sheriff immediately from the the station's pay phone. Winters said he waved down a truck driver to get a dime, and the truck driver suggested he open the soft drink machine to get a dime.

Yesterday, Winters admitted taking the money himself and spending it all. He said he was depressed because his fiance had broken up with him. Inspector Melovich said the airman could give no reason for the hoax except that he "acted on impulse."

PG&E To Add To Ignacio Substation

The substation is near the junction of Highway 101 and the Black Point cutoff.

PG&E workmen will install a bank of three transformers for power distribution at 12,000 volts, Henderson said.

Ignacio substation now is a junction point entirely for long-distance transmission of electricity at 110,000 and 60,000 volts.

Carnival Games Close In Novato

Three "wheels of fortune" at the Foley and Burk Carnival in Novato were closed voluntarily last night after their operators were advised by a district attorney's investigator that they are illegal.

Donald E. Midyett, investigator for Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, said the wheels, for chances on bacon, ham and dolls, were the only illegal gambling he discovered.

The carnival, sponsored by Novato American Legion Post 708, will continue through Saturday night.

Juanita Denies Slugging MPs

Juanita Musson, who runs Juanita's Galley in Sausalito, denied yesterday she committed assault and battery on two off-duty military policemen from the Presidio last July 21.

She appeared before Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court and demanded a jury trial. The judge set Sept. 17 and 18 for the trial. Juanita announced that her attorney will be Harry Wainwright.

Juanita is accused of attacking John Hogan, 21, and Kenneth Krebs, 24, who were at the restaurant for a cup of coffee.

Sausalito police said the two men apparently entered the wrong restroom. The doors are not marked.

Juanita went after them, shoving the door open. She said the door hit one of them on the head. She ordered them out, she said.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — A mid-day rally sent most stock market prices a shade higher in busy trading this afternoon. Oils remained strong.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,700,000 shares against 3,190,000 yesterday.

Rails, docile in the market's recent upsurge, featured the rebound by running up some smart gains. Steels bounced back moderately.

Chemicals, metals and aircrafts generally moved fractionally higher. Electronics were mixed. Motors eased while some drugs suffered sharp losses.

After creeping a shade higher at the opening, the market backed down until early afternoon. Prices then edged higher again.

Oils, bolstered by improved company earnings reports, barreled ahead for the second straight day. Amerada and Shell Oil each soared almost four. Richfield Oil jumped around three. Royal Dutch and Gulf Oil advanced more than two.

Southern Pacific paced the rail advance with almost a two-point gain. Baltimore and Ohio and Illinois Central stepped up around one. New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio and Pennsylvania each added around half a point.

DuPont and Vick Chemical ran ahead about five. Allied Chemical climbed almost two.

Merck fell more than four, Reynolds Metals about three, Litton more than two and Motorola more than one.

Sub Missile On Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy confidently told Congress today its submarine-launched Polaris missile will be ready for combat use by late 1960.

Challenging suggestions that there have been delays in developing the advanced type missile, Rear Adm. William F. Raborn said work on the Polaris is right on schedule.

Raborn, director of the Navy's Special Projects Office, was the opening witness at the second day of a House Space Committee inquiry into the recent series of test failures of Atlas and Polaris missiles.

Doomed Slayer Appeals To Marin Court

A San Quentin Prison inmate who is scheduled to die in the gas chamber on Aug. 7 for killing a Los Angeles police officer today asked Marin Superior Court for a stay of execution.

Marion James Linden, 45, appealed to the court through attorney William L. Blaine of San Francisco. Linden says he is illegally held in prison because the Los Angeles court let him try his own case.

According to Blaine, the court furnished Linden with an attorney, but Linden said he wanted to act as his own lawyer. The court erred in permitting Linden to do so, and thus deprived him of due process of law, claims Blaine.

On March 17, 1957, Police Officer Leo Wise of Los Angeles had Linden in custody for questioning.

While the officer was telephoning headquarters, Linden whipped out a pistol and shot the officer on the spot. Linden was caught in six minutes and subsequently convicted of first degree murder.

The state Supreme Court upheld the conviction, and the U.S. Supreme Court has denied a stay of execution.

Contract Let For Bank Job

Directors of the First National Bank in San Rafael today awarded a contract to A. Von Rotz of San Anselmo for addition and alterations for a branch bank in San Anselmo.

Von Rotz had submitted the low bid of $118,980.

The building to be remodeled is the former Purity Store on Sir Francis Drake boulevard. The property and the building is being leased by the bank from Don Perry, owner of the Sunnyside Nursery.

Construction work is scheduled to start next week, and the bank hopes to open the branch for business by Dec. 1.

Novato Phone Official Testifies At Hearing

Harold O. Davis, vice president and general manager of the Novato exchange of the Western California Telephone Co., was called as a witness yesterday afternoon in a state Public Utility Commission hearing at Novato of the company's application for rate increases.

Davis' testimony was brief and comprised clarification of questions raised in completion of the presentation of a 77-page report on operation put before Manly Edwards, examiner who was hearing officer representing Commissioner Peter E. Mitchell of Ross.

Further testimony was also given by Robert C. Abrams, special studies engineer, and Robert A. Lindsay, chief accountant, before the hearing adjourned about mid-afternoon.

Although yesterday's hearing was public, there was no participation by the public at large. Lee Wise, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, attended as observer.

HOSPITAL

ed the hospital administration.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, board president, acknowledging it was "very close and could have gone either way," said he was "gratified we were on the black side rather than the red."

Pence said net revenue of $7,542.55 in June brought the year's surplus to the total reported.

He said 581 patients were admitted to Marin General Hospital last month, and 55 were turned away for lack of sufficient beds.

The hospital as a whole had only an 87 per cent occupancy for the month, he reported, but the surgical floor was utilized at 97.1 per cent and the medical floor at 98.5 per cent.

Admissions by area were: San Rafael, 193; Ross Valley, 177; Southern Marin, 120; North Marin, 42; out-of-county, 25; coastal Marin, 14, and Central Marin, 10.

The hospital board also:

1. Set for 8 p.m. Aug. 6 an adjourned meeting on changes suggested by Rowe in a proposed contract with Robert Stanton, Carmel architect, for design of a new wing at Marin General Hospital.
2. Learned that it cost $1,744.88 to hold the June election on secession of Novato from the hospital district.
3. Agreed, without taking a vote, to continue taking county welfare cases without a formal contract with the county. Pence said the program has operated with "very little difficulty."
4. Asked Pence to submit monthly financial reports on the cost of emergency care.
5. Tabled, pending further study, a request by the California Hospital Assn. for a pledge of financial support for a Stanford Research Institute study on hospital automation.
6. Learned from Pence that the state Advisory Hospital Council will not allocate Hill-Burton act funds to California hospitals until a meeting Sept. 29-30 in Los Angeles. The Marin district is seeking an allocation of $1,486,374 toward expansion of Marin General Hospital.
7. Asked Pence to confer with Harold F. Riede, the district's attorney, on legal steps required to change the district's name. Directors said they want the word "county" dropped from the name because many persons believed the district operates a county hospital.
8. Referred to the board's personnel subcommittee a request by Pence that one of three dietary supervisors positions be upgraded to assistant dietitian, with a pay increase from $275 to $375 per month minimum. The position now is vacant.

A testimonial dinner for Donald T. Wood, who will retire Friday after 39 years as San Anselmo's police chief, will be held Aug. 8 at 7 p.m. at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio.

A representative of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's office will present Chief Wood with a plaque, said Raymond R. Buchignani, who will become San Anselmo's new police chief on Saturday.

John P. O'Connell, San Anselmo attorney and former councilman, will be master of ceremonies at the dinner.

Local Government Values Stressed By Berkeley Man

SEATTLE (AP)—The authority of local governments should be strengthened and the "functions assigned to area-wide metropolitan agencies" strictly limited, a Berkeley city councilman asserted yesterday.

Speaking at the American Institute of Planners, T. J. Kent of Berkeley advocated the use of the popularly termed "metro" operations as a mere supplement to local governments.

"Inherent values of local self-government are so great," said Kent, "and the natural, destructive reaction against remote government affairs so harmful that only those area-wide needs absolutely essential . . . should be assigned to a metropolitan agency."

Bike Day Slated At Albert Park

The San Rafael Recreation and Park Department, in conjunction with the San Rafael Police Department, will present "Bicycle Day" at Albert Park, tomorrow, at 1 p.m.

Activities will include bicycle races, bicycle skills and bicycle safety. Youngsters aged 8 to 13 are invited to attend.

Mill Valley Apartment Plan Rejected

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night denied a subdivision request from architect Richard Clements Jr., who sought approval on behalf of owner Antonio Varney to build a 12-unit apartment house at 170 Miller avenue.

Clements indicated he would appeal the decision to the city council.

The commission also:

1. Granted a subdivision request and use permit to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, for church use of a five-acre parcel of land on Camino Alto, 550 feet north of the East Blithedale avenue intersection.
2. Set Aug. 11 for consideration of rezoning land at 31 Miller avenue where Manuel Gomez has a commercial structure in what was discovered to be a non-commercial zone.
3. Also set for Aug. 11 a public hearing on rezoning property of E. Le Roy Abbott at Una way and Ethel avenue from single family to multiple use.
4. Recommended to the city council that plans suggested by Recco, Inc., for Project 17 development in the marshlands be considered with the commission's prior recommendations for development of the Camino Alto-East Blithedale avenue section.

Mill Valley Board Agrees To Rehire School Officials

In a closed executive session last night in the district office, Mill Valley School District trustees agreed that contract renewals would be offered to Dist. Supt. G. Robert McConnell and Asst. Supt. Logan T. Miles.

McConnell is entering the third year of a three-year contract and receives a $12,000 annual salary for the final year. Miles in is the second year of a two-year contract at $10,800.

one of 7 Big Bests Chevy gives you over any car in its field

You've got more to go on than our say-so: Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED says it this way: ". . . surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And if you want the thrift of a six, you still get the best of it in a Chevy.

BEST ECONOMY

No doubt about this: a pair of Chevy sixes with Powerglide came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon.

BEST BRAKES

Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy outstopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research

BEST RIDE

A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BEST TRADE-IN

Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

*National Automobile Dealers Association

BEST ROOM

Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST STYLE

BASEBALL MYSTERY

What Causes Hitting Slump? No One Knows

By ALEX KAHN

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—One of the great mysteries of baseball is the hitting slump and what to do about it, Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston said today.

Every club has them and the remedies are legion, Alston says. But the trouble is nobody knows what really helps a player get out of his slump.

ZIMMER IN TROUBLE

Right now shortstop Don Zimmer is hitting less than his weight and the earnest infielder has done everything under the sun trying to get out of it, to no avail.

Alston's remarks were prompted by the recent slump of the Dodgers during which the club as a whole was able to drive in only 32 runs in 11 games.

"I ordered extra-batting practice for only one man—catcher John Roseboro — because we had noticed that his hitting improves with extra work," Alston said.

BASICALLY TIMING

"But that doesn't work with other players. Some of them will snap back if they are given a few days rest. If we learn from experience that will work for a player, we take him out of the lineup and bench him for a while."

Alston said that basically a hitting slump was the result of a player's timing going bad. But it can be much more complicated than that, he added.

"We watch the man at the plate and in the batting cage to see if we can learn what bad habit he has picked up or what he is doing wrong. Sometimes we discover he is taking his eyes off the ball. In other cases he has his feet placed wrong so that he is awkward going after certain pitches, mostly the low and outside throws. Other men develop a hitch in their swing.

HODGES HELPED SELF

"If we can find those flaws and correct them it's fine and we congratulate ourselves. But then we have the cases of men who don't appear to be doing anything wrong, who may even hit well in batting practice, but who can't buy a base hit in a game.

"About all we can do is wait and hope that the man works out of his slump by himself. That was pretty much the case with Gil Hodges last year. We played around with his stance for a while but it only made him hit less. So we left him alone and he finally came around," Alston added.

He pointed out players like Hodges worried so much when they got into slumps that they voluntarily came out early and batted with the rinkydinks and the pitchers to get in more practice.

Bosley Wasn't Invited, But He Reported Early

By JACK STEVENSON

MORAGA (AP)—San Francisco 49er Bruce Bosley nearly gave up pro football a year ago, but this time he couldn't wait for practice to start.

So the former University of West Virginia All-American turned up at the rookie camp this week, uninvited but welcome. A year ago he blasted the low pay of linemen and decided to stay on his job at a health studio instead of playing.

He changed his mind and came back belatedly to the gridiron for the latter part of the season. During the winter the health studio, part of a national chain, went into bankruptcy.

TALKS WERE BRIEF

This time his contract talks with the 49ers lasted an estimated five minutes, and he came away satisfied.

"I want to get into good shape, so there was no use waiting," he declared on checking in at 239 pounds, six less than he played at last season even after finally getting into shape.

"I wanted to get into the spirit of things.

"I really look forward to playing more this year than any year before. There are things I want to prove to myself and to other people."

Bosley didn't elaborate, but many feel that in his three seasons of pro ball he hasn't yet lived up to his football potential.

Coach Red Hickey confirmed that the big lineman asked to report to camp early. Although there will be a lot of shuffling of positions, Bosley will be used exclusively as a guard on offense.

OUT OF SHAPE

"He looked very good the latter part of the season after he got in shape," Hickey asserted. "There's no way to play this game until you get into condition."

Bosley admits he was out of shape when he finally did report last season, explaining, "I was working at my job 12 to 14 hours a day and that was no way to get into condition. I actually thought I wouldn't be playing again, but once football gets in your blood it kind of stays there."

Sign-Up Time For Sausalito Net Tourney

Sign-up time has arrived for Sausalito's second annual City Junior Tennis Tournament.

The competition is slated for three successive Saturdays, Aug. 8, 15 and 22.

Tournament director John Minton said entries will be accepted in person any time this Saturday morning at the Richardson Bay School courts. Or, he said, they may be telephoned to him at home or to Mrs. Ann Hicks, the tournament's co-director.

There will be four divisions of play: Junior boys singles (age 18 and under); boys singles (age 13 and under); junior girls singles (18 and under), and girls singles (13 and under).

Defending champions are Ray Grinsell, junior boys; Geoffrey Van Lienden, boys; and Joyce Friedman, both junior girls and girls.

Minton urges all Sausalito youngsters interested in tennis to sign up for the competition. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded winners and runners-up in each division.

Little Luis Is Keeping Chisox In Contention

CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio, the little bandit of the basepaths, from Maraciabo, Venezuela, has Chicago White Sox rivals cursing with admiration.

The 25-year-old shortstop, the solid center of Chicago's well knit defense, is keeping the Sox in contention for the American League pennant not only with his fielding but also his superb base-running.

Luis has been the American League's top base stealer since breaking in the majors in 1956. As a rookie he had 21 stolen bases. Two years ago he led the league with 28, last year he was tops with 29 and this year he already has 31.

The minute Luis gets on base White Sox fans begin their hammering chant of "go, go, go." He has been caught stealing only eight times and three of these involved the tough attempts at third base or home plate.

In the field, Luis has no peer in either league. There are those who claim he is the greatest shortstop of all time. Many who won't go this far refuse to name anyone greater and add "he's as good as any" they've seen.

Johnny's Unbeaten In Basketball Loop

Johnny's Service remained undefeated in the Drake Summer Basketball League last night by pounding Maggi's Florist, 46-20. Jim Chandler and Bill Anderson with 14 and 12 points led the winners while Bruce Feldmeyer was high for Maggi's with 8.

Other games and high scorers: San Rafael (John Cuthbert, 10) defeated Tamalpais (Ray Edwards, 8) by 32-30; Schaefer's Sports Shop (Don Munton, 18) downed Redwood Benchwarmers (Rick Riede, 9) by 42-31.

Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Jr. League All-Stars Selected

Managers of the five member teams of the Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Junior League have made their selections for their all-star team to compete in next week's tournament at San Anselmo.

There they will be vying with teams from San Anselmo, North Marin and the Presidio.

The boys are 13 and 14 years old.

Jerry Hannigan and Bill Tadlock will serve as manager and co-manager. They held the same posts with the Harry Mart team which won its local league championship with an 11 victory, 1 loss record.

New York-Philly Bridge Team Wins

CHICAGO (UPI)—A team from Philadelphia and New York won the national masters mixed team of four contest in the 31st Annual Summer Tourney of the American Contract Bridge League.

Sugar Ray May Fight Paul Pender Sept. 25

BOSTON (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to accept a $150,000 offer to fight Paul Pender here Sept. 25, Promoter Sam Silverman said last night.

Silverman says that after talking to Robinson and his manager, George Gainford, in New York for two days, the match probably will be made by Monday.

THEY DEFY THREE-CAT LIMIT

Miss Aura Hardison (left) and Miss Marian Martin are seen with a few of the 150 cats they are harboring—to the annoyance of their neighbors—in their Glendale home. They pleaded innocent to a charge of operating a kennel without a permit and demanded a jury trial, set for Aug. 20. They insist they are not operating a kennel but merely are "providing a home for the homeless." A city ordinance says anyone with more than three cats must have a kennel license. (AP Wirephoto)

Nine Forest Fires Rage In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nine fires blazed through California timberlands today in what Gov. Edmund G. Brown called one of the most hazardous fire seasons in the state's history.

A critical shortage of manpower and equipment developed as new outbreaks stretched fire-fighting capabilities to the limit.

And the prolonged hot, dry weather was making it extremely difficult to control blazes even in areas where there was sufficient manpower. Tanker planes were being used extensively.

In Sacramento, Gov. Brown ordered the Division of Forestry to enforce fire regulations rigidly in an effort to reduce the number of man-caused fires.

A retired miner living in the Klamath National Forest area, where a fire in the Sulphur Ranch section 15 miles north of Yreka has caused heavy losses, was tried yesterday for burning debris without a permit and allowing a fire to spread.

George C. Smith pleaded guilty to both counts and was sentenced by Judge Robert Trinka to six months on each charge. The judge suspended the sentences and placed Smith on probation for three years.

The Sulphur Ranch area fire, near Hornbrook a few miles south of the Oregon line, burned 1,000 acres of timber and 2,200 acres of grazing land.

The worst fire was still out of control in Shasta-Trinity National Forest 50 miles northwest of Redding. Nearly 7,000 acres of pine and fir just east of the Trinity River were destroyed.

Two new fires broke out yesterday north of Redding.

One started in Sacramento Canyon and burned several hundred acres of timber near Highway 99, about 25 miles north of Redding. The other was on the north shore of Lake Shasta.

In Mendocino County, six miles northeast of Longvale on the Trinity River, fire-fighters were gaining control of a 550-acre fire in redwood timber.

There were four fires in Humboldt County and two of them could turn into big conflagrations, forestry officials reported.

L. A. SCHOOL BOARD PONDERING FATE OF CLASSROOM 'KINSEY'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Was soft-spoken Cecil Cook running a legitimate survey in his high school physiology class? Or is he a guy with a mental quirk about sex?

Cook, 37, today started the third day of a hearing to determine whether he is guilty of unprofessional conduct and moral turpitude. If adjudged guilty, he could lose his credentials.

Cook's survey consisted of nine formal questions read aloud, questions from the floor and the students' written replies. Subject: Students' habits on kissing, petting and more advanced sexual experience.

At the hearing yesterday, Calvin Gray, the board's personnel officer, quoted Cook's former employer as saying he didn't believe Cook belonged in a classroom.

State Farm Placement Aide Fired: 'Dishonesty, Cheating'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A 70-year-old state farm placement official was out of a job today—just three days before his retirement date—on charges of using state workers to pick up fruit and vegetable gifts from farmers for delivery to his friends.

William N. Cunningham, 70, Los Angeles, was dismissed as an assistant chief of the service by Employment Director John Carr yesterday in a five-point complaint listing "dishonesty and cheating."

Carr said investigation of the service would continue. No decision was made on possible action against Cunningham's subordinates whom Carr said falsified expense accounts to finance the deliveries.

Get California turkey at your favorite market today and give your family a turkey treat this weekend. Most markets offer turkeys from 4 to 24 pounds; easy-to-barbecue halves; quarter roasts with white or dark meat; and, in some cases, even the very parts you prefer. Ask for anything you don't see!

Turkey is tops for carefree, outdoor cooking because you just can't miss. It requires little attention and your favorite barbecue sauce gives it a deliciously different flavor. Speaking of flavor . . . try this mouth-watering stunt. During the last ten minutes of your barbecue, toss either orange or lemon rind, garlic buds, fresh parsley, oregano, tarragon or freshly ground black pepper directly on your hot coals. It's a professional touch!

Here's a hint for you "insiders", too. Turkey quarters barbecue beautifully in the oven.* Treat your family to a turkey barbecue this weekend. Get your turkey TODAY!

* OVEN BAR-B-Q
Wash, dry and salt each quarter; brush with peanut oil; place skin side up in shallow roasting pan and roast at 325° for 20-25 minutes per pound. Baste frequently with your favorite BBQ sauce during the last hour of cooking.

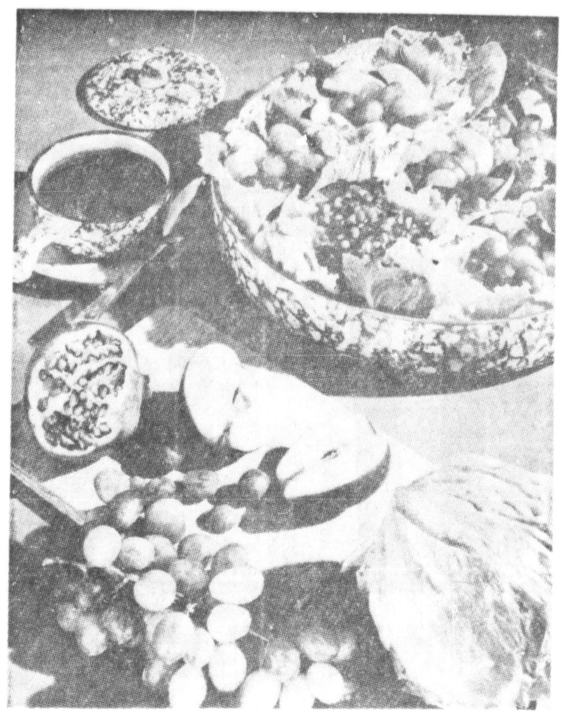
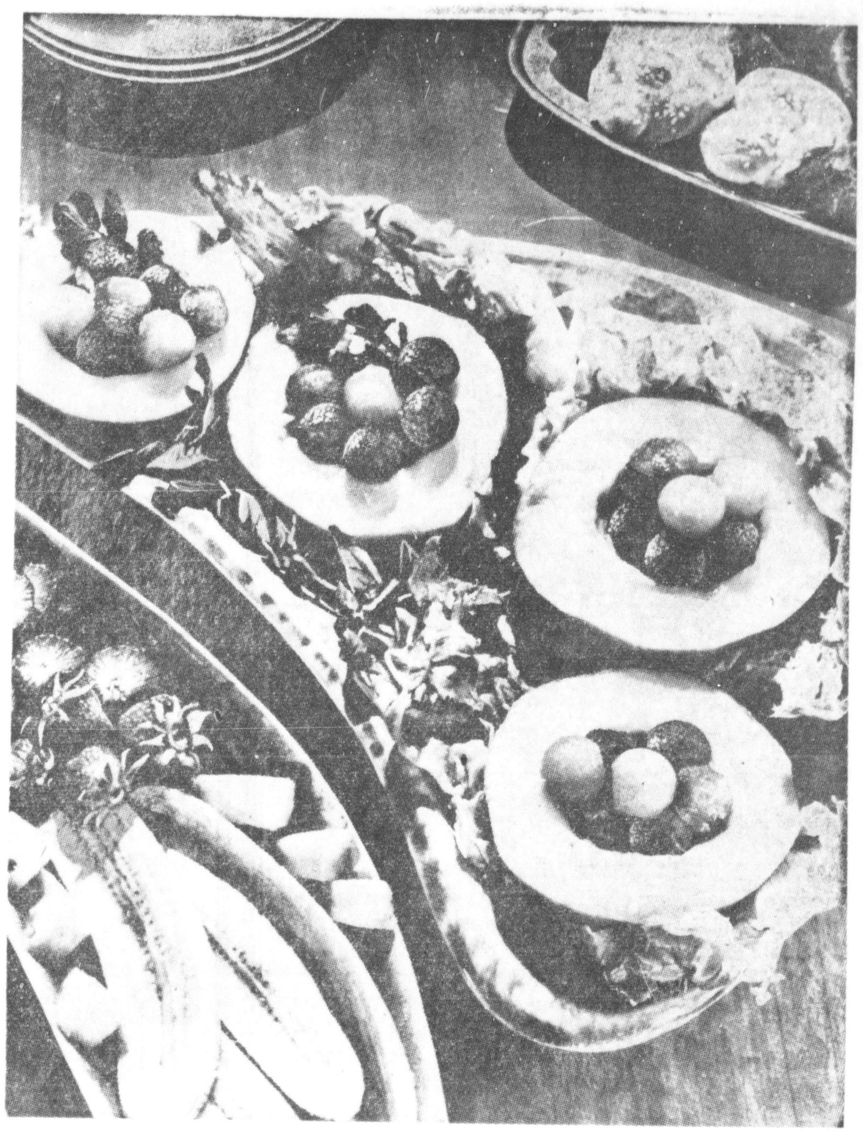
CALIFORNIA TURKEY . . . best to Bar-B-Q or Roast . . . any time

OF COURSE the tossed green salad is an unbeatable favorite at Marin barbecues. A tangy dressing sets it off quickly and easily. Roquefort dressing is another memorable one.



FRESH FRUIT summer salad is a colorful, healthful course to serve. This one is made up of apple slices, grapes and pomegranates arranged attractively on lettuce. French or thousand island make good dressings for it.



AN EASY trick that makes a fancy dish is to place cantaloupe rings on slices of lettuce. Fill center with fresh melon balls or other fresh fruits and garnish with berries.

Try Colorful Summer Salads To Accompany Barbecue Meal

Whether you serve these salads for luncheon or for a patio dinner, they will make an attractive course for family members and their guests.

FRUIT SALAD BOWL

2 bananas, cut lengthwise in strips
4 slices avocado
4 slices red-skinned apple
2 slices pineapple, halved
8 slices orange
4 long slices cantaloupe
Watermelon balls

Dip the cut banana, avocado, and apple in lemon juice to prevent discoloration. On a bed of lettuce or chicory lay the long fingers of banana and cantaloupe; then arrange the other fruits around them, sandwiching each apple slice between two slices of orange. Use the watermelon balls and strawberries for garnish. In serving, see that each person receives a portion of each kind of fruit. Serves 4 generously.

GRAPEFRUIT-GREEN SALAD

In a salad bowl mix torn leaves of lettuce, chicory, and Romaine or watercress. Add diced celery, sliced radishes, and grapefruit segments in any desired proportions. Diced avocado may also be included. Sprinkle with celery seed and chopped chives or green onions. Dress with French dressing made with grapefruit and lemon juice, to which a little catsup has been added. Toss and serve.

MELON BOWL SALAD

Any type of melon may be hollowed out to serve as a bowl for fruit salad. A watermelon shell may be used for a large salad, serving as many as 8 or 10; a honeydew or honeyball melon is the right size to serve 2 or 3. Halves of small cantaloupes make attractive individual salad bowls.

Cut a piece off the bottom of the shell so that the bowl will stand upright. With a teaspoon or a French vegetable cutter, scoop out the flesh of the melon in attractive shapes. Any assortment of fresh or canned fruits may be combined with the melon: pears, peaches, apricots, pineapple, banana, grapefruit or orange segments, whole fresh strawberries, raspberries, or seedless grapes. Heap the fruit mixture into the melon shell and pour over all a sweetened French dressing. Garnish with sprigs of mint and serve. A fruit salad dressing may be passed at the table.

Vitamins Aside, A Carrot Glazed In Orange Will Win

You may shout vitamins or point to the pretty color, but what really "sells" a vegetable is its flavor. Orange glazed carrots will stand on their own as a delicacy any spring day.

ORANGE GLAZED CARROTS

Ingredients: 3 cups thin diagonal sliced pared carrots, 1 cup boiling water, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons cornstarch, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ cup strained orange juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Method: In a 1½-quart saucepan, rapidly bring boiling water and ½ teaspoon of the salt to a boil; add carrots, cover and cook just until barely tender—about 8 minutes; drain. In the saucepan (without the carrots), mix together the cornstarch and sugar; stir in the orange juice gradually until smooth. Cook and stir over moderately low heat until thickened and clear, stir in butter until melted and orange rind. Mix in carrots and reheat. Makes 4 servings.

Leave The Fell

Many good cooks remove the fell—the thin outer covering of lamb—before roasting because they believe it is detrimental to flavor; but recent research indicates that the fell does not affect the flavor or roast lamb.

Bacon Dressing Sets Off Crisp Tossed Salad

Of course, each new salad combination must be accompanied by an even newer salad dressing.

Home economist and meat expert Reba Staggs has this Zesty Salad Dressing With Bacon to offer. It's a nippy combination featuring bacon, salad dressing, French dressing, vinegar, chopped onion, chopped parsley and capers.

Capers provide that something which makes this salad a standout while the bacon lends a crisp texture different from that of the greens.

DRESSING WITH BACON

6 slices bacon
½ cup salad dressing
¼ cup French dressing
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 tablespoons capers

Cook bacon until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Break into pieces. Mix together salad dressing, French dressing, vinegar, onion, parsley and capers. Chill. Serve over salad greens. Sprinkle with bacon pieces. Yield: 1 cup dressing.

The Reasons Why

There are four reasons why a butter-type cake may fall in the center: too much fat or sugar; too much baking powder or other leavening; too slow an oven; not baked long enough.

Refreshing

Dilute frozen limeade concentrate according to the directions on the can and freeze some of the drink in your ice-cube trays; add some of the frozen limeade cubes to tall glasses of ginger-ale.

Bohemian Beef Dinner Has Flavor

Bohemian Beef Dinner has a flavor distinction unique in itself and is cherished by epicureans of fine foods.

The dish actually consists of beef cubes braised slowly and served over sauerkraut. However, the seasonings dress up the meat in typical Bohemian fashion. Salt, pepper, onions, garlic, dill seed, caraway seed, paprika and sour cream all blend flavors along with the beef cubes to present a meal you won't want to miss.

2 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 medium onions, sliced ¼-inch thick
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1 teaspoon paprika
½ cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) sauerkraut
Paprika

Brown beef in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper, onion, garlic, dill seed, caraway seed, 1 teaspoon paprika and water. Cover tightly and simmer 2½ to 3 hours or until meat is done. Add sour cream and heat through. Heat sauerkraut. Serve meat and sauce over sauerkraut. Sprinkle with paprika. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Spinach Takes On Italian Flavor

Ingredients: 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, 2 quarts boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 clove garlic (crushed), 3 tablespoons grated fine-flavored Parmesan cheese.

Cover and boil rapidly until tender—about 5 minutes. Turn into a colander to drain; lightly press out most of remaining cooking liquid with a fork.

Return drained spinach to kettle with oil, butter, crushed garlic and 1 tablespoon of the cheese; turn with fork over high heat to "fry" slightly. Turn into small shallow baking dish—an 8-inch heat resistant glass pie plate is fine. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons cheese.

Boon From Baby

JELLIED FRESH FRUIT FOR SHORTCAKE
MADE WITH M. C. P. "LOW SUGAR" PECTIN
Jellied Fresh Fruits Will Not Soak Into Shortcake
SAVE THIS!...One Recipe for All Fruits Without Cooking

PREPARATION OF FRUIT: Wash thoroughly. Hull and crush berries. Grind tree fruits.

1. Measure 2 cups crushed or ground fruit and 1 cup M.C.P. "Low Sugar" Liquid Pectin into kettle. Mix well.
2. Add 2 cups sugar; blend mixture thoroughly to dissolve sugar.
3. Some tart fruits, such as Red Raspberries and Loganberries, may be tart enough to jell the fruit, but other fruits will need lemon juice. The amount of lemon juice to add ranges from ¼ cup to ½ cup, depending upon the kind of fruit being used.
4. First, try adding ¼ cup lemon juice, mix well. If texture and tartness suit you, do not add more lemon juice. If jellied fruit is not firm enough, then add ¼ cup more lemon juice; but no fruit will need more than ½ cup lemon juice for this basic recipe.
5. The fruit will jell immediately when the proper amount of lemon juice is added and it is then ready for use on shortcake, or if you want to keep it for future use, it will keep for weeks stored in refrigerator same as milk.

"Jellied Fresh Fruits" can be frozen in regular freezing containers for long storage. When thawed out, jellied fruit will retain its perfect texture and fresh fruit flavor.

The above recipe will make 2½ lbs. of "Jellied Fresh Fruit." This recipe may be doubled, tripled, etc., by multiplying all the ingredients by the same number.

VENETIA FORWOOD IS ENGAGED TO WED THOMAS FRANKLIN HOLT

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Forwood of Mill Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Venetia Forwood, to Thomas Franklin Holt of San Francisco.

Oct. 4 has been tentatively set for the date of their wedding at Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito.

The bride-elect attended school in England and in Washington, D. C. while her father was with the British Embassy there. Then she attended the Ecole de Commerce and the University of Neuchatel in Switzerland. She is employed at a San Francisco store.

Until they came to the United States in 1956 the Forwoods lived in the third oldest lived-in house in England. Grevel House, one of the first non-moated dwellings, is located at Chipping Camden in Gloucestershire. They kept it open to visitors because of its great historical interest.

Venetia's fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Holt of San Luis Obispo. His father is principal of the San Luis Obispo High School and Junior College.

He attended the Junior College and was graduated from the New Mexico Military Institute in 1952 and received his bachelor and master of arts degrees from the Stanford Business School. He was a member of Delta Kappa Upsilon Fraternity.

From 1954 to 1956 he served with the U. S. Army as a lieutenant with the Quartermaster Corps. He is presently employed as assistant bank examiner with the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco.

It was two years ago, the Rev. Getz baptized the Mathewsons' older daughter, Michelle Jacqueline.

After the religious services Mr. and Mrs. Mathewson entertained at a buffet luncheon at their home in Bret Harte Heights, San Rafael. Guests were the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Lucien Bertin of San Rafael; Mrs. Mathewson's aunt and godmother, Mrs. Charles I. Holzheiser, and her husband of Sacramento; Mrs. Mathewson's sister, Mrs. Archie Luke Marcum of Novato, and her husband, and Mrs. Marcum's son, William H. Baltzell III of Novato; Mrs. Leonce Charles Bertin and Leonce C. Bertin Jr. of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Schatanus.

SECOND TRIP

Helen Gapen Oehler To Leave Next Week On African Safari

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

Helen Gapen Oehler, Mill Valley's noted artist who has been listed in many Who's Who editions, is leaving next week for her second African safari.

Mrs. Oehler returned home only a year ago after five month abroad that included three months in Africa, but this year she believes the safari will be even more exciting.

Only 10 people who have traveled extensively in Africa have been accepted for this adventure that will feature many "firsts." For 74 days the party will travel into many regions never visited before by a tour party and where the American is virtually unknown.

"We expect to experience quite a bit of discomfort," Mrs. Oehler said, "in order to see the really wild places, but I'm sure the records I hope to bring back will make it all worth while.

"Our itinerary will take us through lands laced by ancient caravans and ageless cities, to equatorial jungles and great plains where there are the world's most fabulous flora and fauna, fascinating people and unforgetable wonders."

"Since it is spring there we expect to see hundreds of miles of wild flowers in Namaqualand. Other highlights will be the thundering Aughabies falls, Ngorongoro crater, where only five of us will be permitted to go down to its floor at one time, and the lands of the whirling dervishes and the pure aboriginal bushmen of the Kalshari desert dating from the stone age."

Well known for her lectures illustrated with colored slides she takes on her world travels, Mrs. Oehler expects to gather unique collector's items and much fresh material on aspects of Africa not found in the political news of the day.

"Many people take pictures," she pointed out, "according to a scientific and arithmetical formula, but those of us who have an art education prefer to think of photography as artistic expression and work naturally in terms of color and composition."

Mrs. Oehler is chairman and one of the founder of Artist Associates, the group which hopes to make Mill Valley an art center like Carmel.

After taking side trips to London and Ireland, she expects to return to Mill Valley the end of December and will have a one-man show of her works at the gallery Artist Associates maintains in Mill Valley's El Paseo.

LOTUS LINE FEATURED IN PARIS STYLES

Stem-slim skirts were a little longer and jackets a lot longer. Many were tubular, hardly fitted at the waist but snug on the hips, with broader shoulders and classic collars.

Balmain brings back a longer waisted look. His skirts are several inches below the knee and his sleeves seven-eighth length. Beige and brown are his favorite colors for daytime, black for night.

Belt Can Limit Life Of Dress

A belt can often limit the life of a dress, so be a careful belt buyer advises the National Institute of Drycleaning. The Institute suggests you look for the wording "drycleanable" stamped on the back of the belt because many belts aren't.

Sometimes it's because the backing is made out of such stuff as cardboard, imitation leather — even paper. These come apart in the cleaning solvent. Sometimes there is an adhesive in rubberized innerlinings which dissolves and stains the outer belt covering.

Other belt problems your drycleaner can tell you about are: Linings and buckram facings that fade or bleed because of inferior dyes; belt and buckle backings which are fastened with an adhesive or glue which dissolves in the drycleaning solvent.

Beware, too, of glass or metal decorations which won't withstand even the mild mechanical action necessary for the drycleaning process.

Two New Members For Sea Point

With a "By the sea" theme, Miss Sue Erkelens and Miss Kathy Silva were welcomed into the membership of Sea Point Parlor 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West at its recent meeting at Perry's Hall, Sausalito.

The outgoing deputy grand president, Mrs. William Faber of Marinita Parlor, San Rafael, introduced her successor, Mrs. Louis Soldavini, also a member of Marinita Parlor, and the supervising district deputy grand president, Mrs. Frank Faustine of Sea Point Parlor.

Plans were made for a whist party to be held on Aug. 18 at Perry's Hall, to benefit the Children's Foundation. Also planned was a float entry at the Admission Day parade in Santa Rosa on Sept. 9.

The committee for the evening was composed of Mesdames Edward R. Souza, Walter Silva and Raymond Rodrigues.

New Look

When the glue dries, apply a sealer of clear, colorless shellac to protect the pretty surface and give it a fine gloss.

Making The Grade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal grades for beef have stimulated price competition, held down the costs of marketing and contributed to changes in the organization of the wholesale meat industry, reports the Department of Agriculture.

Most independent packers wholesale distributors and independent retailers, as well as chains, favor either the present voluntary system of beef-grading or a compulsory grading system, according to U.S.D.A. researchers.

Elegance Keynotes Parisian Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Sophistication is the swelling note in Paris fashions for fall and winter—less prettiness and more elegance.

Diagonal drapes are going strong, but most other trimmings have been trimmed off the new "plucked" silhouette, with a slimmer line and slightly longer skirts.

Cardin's promised suit revolution turned out to be long-jacketed tunic suits, mostly slim but unwaisted tubes. Jackets strike halfway between waist and knee. Tunic dresses have sheath underskirts showing about an inch at the bottom.

Cardin refuses to be pinned to one hemline. Some are short, barely covering the kneecap. Others come down to midcalf, as long as anything likely to be seen.

Coats range from shapely barrels with curving stave seams to flaring trumpet shapes. Some have braid buttons and big flapped pockets.

Black and brown are the stars of the season, but sage, greens, white, carrot, eggplant purple, orange pink and rosy reds all are present in the Cardin collection.

The small belted waist is out; the wide variety ranges from bloused-over tops giving the illusion of a longer waist to slightly waisted effects.

NEW SWIM, RAQUET CLUB — This private tennis and swim club is proposed north of Freitas Parkway between Terra Linda Oaks and Highway 101. Alliance Construction Co. plans to put in three tennis courts and a pool on terraces to take advantage of the sloping contour of the land. A public hearing on the project is set for Aug. 11 before the San Rafael Planning Commission. Severin and Associates drew the plans.

Monte Maria Vote Petition Certified

County Clerk George S. Jones yesterday told the Marin County Board of Supervisors he has certified 123 signatures on a petition calling for an election on formation of a Monte Maria Community Services District.

The board set 3 p.m. Aug. 18 for a public hearing on the proposal.

The petition had been presented by the Monte Maria Improvement Assn.

In other business the board:

1. Filed a letter from Mrs. Elizabeth H. Matteson, a member of the Junior Museum Service League, complaining that a $500 request for the museum had been deleted from the county budget.
2. Read a letter from U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel that he would give a Point Reyes recreation area "every consideration" when it reaches the Senate.
3. Awarded Brown-Ely Co., a contract at $11,028 for resurfacing Fawn drive in Sleepy Hollow. The bid was the lowest of seven.
4. Referred to Supervisor William D. Fusselman complaints that heavy trucks are ruining Butterfield road in Sleepy Hollow, and a request from the Corte Madera Town Council for a public hearing on master planning.
5. Referred a petition signed by 10 persons requesting repair of Glen lane to Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham.
6. Appointed Planning Director Mary Summers and Brigham to a liaison committee of local officials to work with engineers of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District in laying out Marin County routes. County Clerk Jones was directed to inform city officials of county's action and ask that city representatives be appointed.
7. Approved extension for another year of a contract with Sonoma County under which about a dozen boys from the Marin Juvenile Hall are sent to Sonoma County's "mobile" forestry camp.
8. Withheld a six-month pay increase for John Hettrich, assistant purchasing agent, pending a review of the salary ordinance after Fusselman noted that Hettrich had been a county employee doing the same job for two years or more.
9. Approved appointment of the following: William F. Allen, clerk-radio telephone operator, communications department, $353 per month, transferred from data processing; James M. Craddock, heavy equipment operator, fire department, $436, replacing J. L. Carver, resigned; Lucille Ann Donlon, registered nurse, medical department, $341, replacing Mary Jane Rowen, resigned; Keith Redman, deputy probation officer, probation department, $458, replacing Ernest S. Bachelor, resigned; Lyman D. Hinckley, group supervisor, juvenile hall, $395, a new position.

Kentfield Woman In Center Of Demo Party Conflict

The California Democratic Party today was rocked by an intramural struggle over tickets to the National Convention at Los Angeles in 1960, and in the midst of it the strife was Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Kentfield.

Mrs. Smith, a national committeewoman, was attending a meeting in Los Angeles.

A check of Democratic leaders produced the concensus that Los Angeles would not lose the convention but it was conceded there may be feelings hurt before the dispute is resolved.

On the one hand in the southland there was Edwin W. Pauley, finance chairman of the host committee, who had insisted that the national committee, headed by Paul Butler, promised the host committee 5,000 tickets to take care of local party followers who are pledged to put up $350,000 for the convention.

Pauley took the battle to Gov. Edmund G. Brown who said he may have to appoint an arbitrator.

"I have no personal knowledge of the basis on which Mr. Pauley feels he was promised 5,000 tickets," Mrs. Smith said, "but personally I feel 5,000 is excessive. I'm hoping Mr. Butler will be able to conclude a contract on the basis of 1,500 tickets. He (Butler) told me in April that was the maximum to which he would agree. He has repeated it four or five times to me since. Fifteen hundred is really a fair number.

In the wings was Mayor George Christopher, a Republican, who has resubmitted his no-strings attached bid of $350,000 for the convention but hastens to add, "We do not want to pirate the convention in any way to undercut Los Angeles."

Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson said: "I have said repeatedly that this problem will be solved. This is no time to get panicked by outside interference. Los Angeles with the new sports arena and our other great facilities is a natural. The Democrats will have their biggest convention here in 1960."

Public Likes Drunk Driver Crackdown

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Motor Vehicles Director Robert I. McCarthy reported this week that his mail is running 30 to 1 in favor of his order suspending licenses of all convicted drunk drivers for at least six months.

Making the report to the governor's council, he told Gov. Edmund G. Brown of receiving "widespread public support" for the ruling which went into effect July 1.

Brown, who told of similar response, said "the howls will start coming when you begin taking away the licenses."

"But let them howl," he told McCarthy, "they'll find out that an auto can be a dangerous instrumentality under certain conditions. They're going to lose their licenses for drunk driving and that's that."

BUT ANOTHER FAVORED

Neighborhood Protests Kill Swim-Tennis Club

Neighborhood opposition has killed a proposal for a tennis and swim club at the south end of C street in San Rafael.

Developer John Farrar, who had planned a private club and a subdivision of about seven homes between the end of C street and Meyer road, announced last night he is dropping the plan because of stiff opposition by residents in the area.

"They said they would fight it all the way," Farrar reported. "Rather than fight neighbors, we decided to drop the whole thing."

He withdrew his request to the San Rafael Planning Commission for both a subdivision and the tennis-swim club because one without the other is impractical.

However, the planning commissioners looked with favor on another private tennis and swim club, to serve Terra Linda. The planners set a public hearing on this project for Aug. 11.

The Terra Linda Swim and Raquet Club is planned by the Alliance Construction Co. and will be located off Oleander drive on Orchid drive. The site is northeast of Terra Linda Oaks about 200 yards off Highway 101.

William Hendricks, representing Alliance Construction, and designer Robert Severin presented plans and sketches, showing a $170,000 project including three tennis courts, Olympic size pool, picnic areas, and parking space for 50 cars. Hendricks said he took a poll of Terra Linda and Marinwood areas and received about 100 replies, all indicating they are in favor of the project.

Another private swimming club, proposed at the end of Oak Woodlands unit 1, will also get a public hearing on Aug. 11. Contractor Spero Spiliotis said he plans to build the pool and dressing rooms and turn them over to residents of Oak Woodlands. Spiliotis presented petitions showing residents of 11 out of 18 homes in the subdivision are in favor of the pool.

City Engineer Dominic Selmi pointed out that a parking problem might be created at the end of Mountain View avenue because no provision is made for offstreet parking for the plunge. Acting Chairman Carl Brown suggested the matter be set for hearing on Aug. 11 to give residents in the area a chance to express themselves.

2 Big Signs Win Approval Of Planners

Two large signs, for Terra Linda Oaks and for Eichler Homes in Terra Linda Valley, won approval of the San Rafael Planning Commission last night.

The Terra Linda Oaks sign is on wheels and will be located at the entrance to Terra Linda. The Eichler Homes sign will be at the southwest corner of Freitas Ranch road and Ranchitos road. Both are limited to 12 by 20 feet.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Gene O'Connor, the planning commissioners decided to approve the signs for one year.

The planning commission postponed a decision on Henry Koch's request for a two-lot subdivision on the upside of Meyer road. Engineer Dominic Selmi said there is no sewer line on Meyer road, and septic tanks for the two proposed homes could contribute to slides in the area. Koch will try to work out the sewer problem with the city engineer.

Rapid Progress In Venezuela Told Rotarians

Venezuela, emerging from a long state of semi-agrarianism, "is really jumping with progress," even to the point where construction goes on at night with the aid of flood lights, Sausalito Rotarians were told yesterday.

Prof. George Sugarman, for five years a faculty member of the Central University at Caracas, Venezuela, added: "In Venezuela there are only 16 people per square mile, compared with about 50 for the United States, and yet it has the amazing figure of 69 per cent of its male population under 30 years of age."

RECENTLY RETURNED

Sugarman recently returned from South America and is residing at 195 San Carlos avenue, Sausalito. He shared the Rotary Club speakers' assignment with Sr. Fernando Lopez-Contreras, Venezuelan consul general in San Francisco.

United States manufacturers have failed to capture their share of Venezuelan business because of unintelligent practices, charged Sugarman.

"In an establishment with $300 worth of European or Oriental manufactured mechanical goods, each article will contain instruction pamphlets printed in the finest Spanish. The same place with $3,000 worth of goods from the United States will have instructions entirely in English," he declared.

BOLIVAR SOLID

Although living costs in Venezuela have tripled in recent years, the monetary unit, the bolivar, worth about 30 cents in U.S. money, is even more solid on the international exchange than the American dollar," Sugarman asserted.

Banking Institute Plans Activities

A varied year's program was planned by Marin County chapter of the American Institute of Banking at a meeting in Mill Valley.

An outline of events given by president Horace Corona included a kickoff dinner, cocktail dance, golf tournament, water skiing, halloween dance, snow trip and fashion show.

Committees to work out details will be named later.

Graduated By Navy

Reserve Navy Lt. William B. Imholt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Imholt of 10 Fairway drive, San Rafael, has been graduated from a two-week course in the duties of a radar watch officer at the Fleet Air Defense Training Center, San Diego.

TO JOIN FORCE, HE'LL HAVE TO WEAR SHOES

TOTOWA, N. J. (AP)—Will Mario Gaita be able to inch his way into the police force? The borough council doesn't know.

Some councilmen feel that Gaita doesn't measure up. He's 5-7 in his stocking feet and policemen here are supposed to be 5-8.

Others argue that the borough ordinance doesn't make it clear whether police have to be 5-8 in their stocking feet or in their shoes. In his shoes, Gaita is 5-8.

South Marin Rec Finances Much Rosier

Finances of the Southern Marin Recreation Center are in a much rosier condition than they were last year at this time, treasurer Sherman Peterson told the membership at last night's quarterly meeting.

For the first six months of 1959 a profit of $1,850 has been realized, compared to a loss of $1,225 in the same period last year, he reported.

Income is up $2,000 a month and the approximate $39,000 outstanding on the mortgage should be paid in three years, Peterson said. He added that $7,000 has been set aside for improvements, including an arbor between the two pools.

Peterson reported 464 families with an average of three children belong to the center.

Oakland Man Hurt In Wreck

A passenger suffered a skull fracture when a panel truck rolled over on Highway 101 just north of the Golden Gate Bridge at 4:10 p.m. Monday.

Oscar Hofstede, 36, of Oakland was under treatment today in Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Oakland, for severe head injuries including a skull fracture. He was riding with Edward Roche Sullivan, 25, of San Francisco, who was driving a San Francisco Call-Bulletin truck.

Sullivan told the California Highway Patrol he swerved to miss a vehicle that was changing lanes and his truck went out of control. He was shaken up but otherwise uninjured.

Hofstede was given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital and transferred to Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Harmony Reached In Marinwood Land Plan

A special meeting of the board of trustees of the Dixie School District has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the district office on Highway 101 near Marinwood to discuss school land plans for Marinwood.

But there won't be the anticipated dispute between local and state views as to the amount of land needed because "any differences that we may have had have been ironed out," Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff said today.

Although 17 acres have been shown on the Marinwood master plan as allocated for a seventh and eighth grade school, Howard Rowe of the Bureau of School Planning of the state Department of Education recently indicated that 12.75 acres might suffice.

The district board decided last Wednesday that Rowe should be asked to attend its next meeting to hear the board's reasons for feeling that four and one-quarter acres shouldn't be given up. Rowe won't be around because he has decided the board is right, Goff said today.

Those present will, however, include Mrs. Mary Summers, Marin County planning director, and Wendell Freeman, president of the Marinwood Assn., composed of homeowners. Supt. Dennie B. Willis will be away on vacation.

The board is expected to take "firm action" concerning its decision as to the amount of land needed for school purposes, Goff reported.

Group Urges Marshlands Over-All Plan

An over-all plan of the entire area must be approved first, the subcommittee decided.

The "Recco" group, sponsor of Project 17, had submitted plans for added development of the area where a riding ring and baseball field have already been installed. But the committee recommended to the planning commission and city council that development should be considered along with consideration of rapid transit facilities, a small craft harbor and other marshlands projects.

The committee took a similar stand regarding a plan for development of Boyle Park, suggesting that a city-wide recreation program first be approved.

Sports Car Rally Slated At Reno

Al Wintringham of San Rafael, known to thousands of readers of his sport car-minded Badge Bar Journal as "Wintringham," has announced his annual Reno Rally for the eighth time Sept. 19-20.

It's known as "the oldest non-competitive event on the West Coast" and each year several hundred sports car drivers and navigators journey to Reno for a good time with no strain in the way of stopwatches and calculations.

Wintringham has temporarily suspended his magazine. Rally entries this year will be to P.O. Box 651, Redwood City.

The buried treasure of Tumwater

Before the turn of the century, buried treasure was discovered at the little town of Tumwater in Washington State. The treasure was water! A most unusual water. A water so fresh and pure that it was naturally perfect for brewing just as it flowed from the earth. It was here that the Olympia Brewing Company was founded. And today, over sixty years later, the water continues to flow in unlimited quantity from deep artesian wells with the precise character for perfect brewing. Rarely, in all the world, has such a water been discovered. It is this extraordinary brewing water that blends in and brings out the more delicate flavors of choice hops and grains . . . creating a refreshingly different beer of unchanging excellence and rare good taste.

the one priceless ingredient... "It's the Water"

*Visitors are always welcome to "One of America's Exceptional Breweries," Olympia Brewing Company, Olympia, Washington, U.S.A., every day between the hours of 8:00 and 4:30. *Oly ® 9-21

Something In Air

NEW YORK (UPI) — More money is spent on after-shave lotions than any other form of fragrance, including women's perfumes, according to Jan Hansum, general manager of a firm that makes sweet-smelling men's products.

Since 1954, new toiletry products for men have mostly been colognes, accounting for 40 per cent of the estimated $39 million in annual sales. These have been bought chiefly by women — as gifts.

Pro Perfume

NEW YORK (UPI) — "There's nothing I like better than to have a sweet-smelling doll ride in my cab. What a relief from the exhaust fumes I breathe all day long."

WE'LL BUY your Birds Eye vegetable or potato . . . just try . . .
NEW Birds Eye Main Dishes by a Master Chef

New "Main Dishes for Two"—the heart of your meal—prepared by world-renowned Master Chef Albert

TONIGHT, if you like, you can serve sliced turkey with sage dressing, haddock in white wine sauce, sliced beef in brown gravy or a magnificent casserole —with no more effort than opening a package and placing it in the oven.

All cooked for you, these dinner entrées are "Main Dishes for Two" by Birds Eye —the most welcome idea in frozen foods in many a year. You simply heat them, and concentrate on family favorites for vegetables, potatoes and desserts.

In planning these superb Birds Eye foods, we wanted main dishes as fine as any you'd prepare yourself . . . at reasonable cost, and packaged to serve two people generously.

And for this, we turned to Master Chef Albert, a former head chef at distinguished restaurants all over the world.

We told Albert what we wanted, bought him the finest meats, fish and poultry available . . . then stood back and watched him demonstrate his rare talent. It's in every sauce, every dressing, every gravy, and it's the kind of genius that makes all the difference. For example:

Birds Eye Macaroni & Cheese for Two
Albert calls this casserole country-style. It's an extra-rich creation of crackling-topped macaroni, plus the deep-down bite of old-fashioned New York cheddar. A man's casserole.

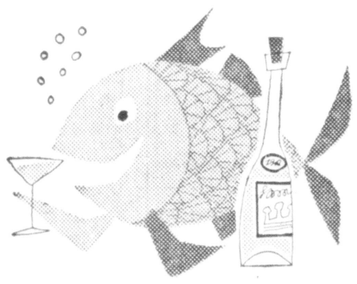
Birds Eye Turkey with Dressing for Two
Rosemary, sage, a touch of thyme and a touch of genius in the dressing. Sliced turkey from the plumpest birds in the land, plus the kind of gravy that separates a master chef from the rest of us.



Birds Eye Haddock in Wine for Two

BetterBuy Birds Eye. Try these Main Dishes soon. If your grocer doesn't have them, take him firmly in hand. He's simply standing in the way of progress.

Get refund on Birds Eye vegetable or potato. Simply send the wrapper—marked with the price you paid—from any Birds Eye vegetable or potato package, and the wrapper from any Birds Eye Main Dish (plus your name and address) to General Foods Corp., P.O. Box 1215, Kankakee, Ill. We'll send you the purchase price of your potato or vegetable. One offer per family. Good for 30 days.

Keeping Pets Teaches Youngster Emotional Rewards As Lessons

"I don't like dogs," a mother writes, "because they are dirty. They are breeding places for germs. They have no sense. They make it impossible to keep the house clean. What I think about dogs goes for cats too. How can anybody say that children should have pets? Do your children own a dog?"

I'm sorry we disagree. I do say that boys and girls need pets. At present my children have two dogs, a cat and a young bird which fell out of its nest. At other times we've had goldfish, turtles, hamsters, ducks, white rats and kittens and puppies galore. That's about par for a suburban home with children, isn't it?

Boys and girls need things to love—real, living things they can have fun with. In turn they need to be loved by their pets. The emotional rewards from good pets are great. Children also need to learn compassion, responsibility, kindliness. Pets help teach them such lessons.

Of course dogs and cats aren't human. They don't live by our standards of cleanliness. But they needn't be dirty if they're given proper care. They needn't bring disease into homes. A few precautions should be taken. We should select pets cautiously. We should be sure to get animals with good dispositions.

But properly selected, trained and cared for pets are an important part of children's lives. I hope you'll relent and let your children have a pet or two.

(Q) "Our son has taken group intelligence tests twice in school. The first time the score showed he was bright, the second time that he was below average. He's the same boy. Why the difference?"

M.S.L.

(A) Such differences often occur on group intelligence tests. Maybe he had a headache the day of the second test and couldn't do well. Or perhaps he got some of the answers on the first test from other children. Individual intelligence tests are much better.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 29, the 210th day of the year, with 155 more days in 1959.

The moon is in its last quarter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn, Venus and Mars.

On this date in history:

In 1869, American novelist and playwright Booth Tarkington was born.

In 1883, the founder of Fascism, Benito Mussolini, was born.

In 1914, the construction of the first transcontinental telephone line in the United States was heralded by a telephone conversation between persons in New York and San Francisco.

In 1945, William Foster was named to succeed the ousted Earl Browder as the chief of the Communist Party in the United States.

In 1947, Mt. McKinley in Alaska was conquered for the fifth time as three mountain climbers reached the top.

A thought for today: Italian dictator Benito Mussolini said; "To make a people great it is necessary to send them to battle even if you have to kick them in the pants."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Faubus Plan Rejected

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock School Board and Gov. Orval E. Faubus apparently are headed for another disagreement over plans for desegregation of public high schools here.

The governor, responding to the board's request to disclose any plan he might have for legally retaining segregation, yesterday suggested that two schools be integrated and two left for segregationists.

Board president Everett Tucker Jr. promptly retorted that the Faubus proposal would mean more integration than the board's plan to admit a few Negroes, if necessary, to each of three white schools.

Chamoun Aide Slain

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Fifty-four suspects were held today in the slaying of a top aide of ex-President Camille Chamoun as police pressed a house-to-house search for the killers in the Lebanese Mountains.

Haim Moghabghab, 48, a guerrilla fighter for Chamoun in last summer's civil war, was killed yesterday while with a group of followers.

Kennedy Backed

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Abraham Ribicoff and the state's Democratic Central Committee have formally backed Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Grand Canyon Search

With no leads to guide them, searchers were losing all hope of finding Mason Owens, 16, of Savannah, alive.

Equal Time Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, brimming with potential candidates, has moved to erase a threatened radio and television news blackout of next year's presidential campaign.

By voice vote yesterday, senators passed a bill that would exempt most news shows from the law's requirement that they make equal time available to all candidates for public office.

Until this year the requirement had been applied only to campaign advertising and political speeches, whether paid or free. A ruling by the Federal Communications Commission extended it to other types of programs, although not to mere mention of a candidate's name in a broadcast.

Atlas Shot Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A revamped Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile thundered 5,000 miles last night to punctuate congressional queries into whether we are losing the missile race with Russia.

It was the second straight Atlas success after five consecutive failures. About one and one-half hours after launching, the Air Force announced the shoot apparently was a complete success.

The silvery 100-ton war rocket rose confidently from its pad at 11:10 p.m. It climbed smoothly into a starry sky, on its way to a pre-designated impact area near Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

Cheap Campaign

Reporting to the secretary of state on his primary race in which he won the Republican nomination for Kentucky attorney general, Cannon listed $2 for a photograph and 50 cents for stamps.

Quick Cooling Off

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Weather Bureau said the cool air dropped temperatures 10 to 15 degrees in most spots, although the mercury dropped 21 degrees at Glascow, Mont.

Fair weather was the prospect from the Pacific Coast to the northern half of the plains as well as for much of New England and the mid-Atlantic states. The weather Man said the remainder of the country could look for scattered showers or thundershowers to develop in the afternoon or evening.

Explosive Candy

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Anna Jean Jacobs, 14, found some firecracker balls left over from the July Fourth holiday. She placed them in a bowl on the dining room table.

From her room at General Rose Hospital Minnie Jacobs—Anna Jean's mother — said yesterday:

"They looked so tempting."

Mrs. Jacobs mistook the colored balls for candy. The ball exploded as she bit down. She was treated for a cut mouth.

Get Long Look

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Japanese sailors wanted a look at the city. They got it. A g-o-o-o-o-d one.

Guards overlooked the sightseeing tars when they locked the 454-foot observation tower atop the City Hall at 4 p.m. yesterday. They were left high and dry.

An hour later a homeward-bound city employee pushed the wrong button and the elevator went up instead of down.

At the tower he spotted the sailors—faces pressed against the glass, shouting. Even the non-Japanese speaking worker knew they wanted out.

Nixon Trip Shows Russ Friendly: Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the reception given Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Soviet Union is clear evidence of a friendly feeling by the Russian people for Americans.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that Nixon has every right to discuss with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a possible visit by the premier to this country, but has no authority to offer an outright invitation.

Eisenhower said Nixon had acquitted himself splendidly and in a manner fitting his high office during his Soviet travels and his encounters with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower also touched on these other topics in the news conference:

STEEL — He said that the U.S. Steel Corp.'s profits, as reported last night, have no bearing on whether the government should intervene in behalf of a wage increase for the 500,000 striking steelworkers.

Eisenhower said the government cannot talk about steel wages or profits without appearing to favor one side or the other, and if it does it is in trouble.

GENEVA—The President asserted there still is no progress at the foreign ministers' conference which would justify the holding of a summit meeting, but he declined — in response to a question—to give an opinion as to whether the outlook is so hopeless that the conference should be abandoned.

FOREIGN AID—The cuts in foreign aid funds made by a House bill would seriously damage the American position in the cold war, Eisenhower said. He added that he is very, very hopeful the Senate will restore much of the money.

LABOR REGULATIONS — The President gave virtual endorsement to a new labor bill introduced in the House several days ago by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.).

HAWAII — The President opened his news conference with a volunteered expression of gratification over the outcome of yesterday's election in Hawaii.

He said his gratification was not primarily over the success of three Republicans—the governor, lieutenant governor and one senator—but at the fact that among the successful candidates, regardless of party, were Americans of Chinese, Japanese and Hawaiian extraction.

United Parcel Walkout Ends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The four-day strike against United Parcel Service ended today when Oakland Teamsters Local 70 voted to accept a new agreement providing a 25 cent hourly wage increase.

The hourly rate will be $2.75.

The walkout had also halted deliveries from about 2,000 stores in San Francisco when 300 San Francisco teamsters refused to cross picket lines. Marin County was not affected.

Parcel service drivers struck in Oakland Friday, demanding a 35-cent hourly wage raise. They turned down a company offer of 22½ cents, which would have given them parity with San Francisco drivers.

Longshoremen Share Benefits Of Automation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Probably the first major labor contract to share the benefits of automation with workers has been agreed upon by leaders of 17,000 West Coast longshoremen and waterfront employers.

The agreement was reached late yesterday by negotiators for Harry Bridges' independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Assn.

The new contract, subject to ratification by both sides, would run three years.

In return for the union's promise to furnish competent personnel to man labor-saving devices, the employers agree to contribute a one and one-half-million-dollar fund during the first year of the pact as payment for the men's share of increased productivity.

Other gains reported include: Wage raises of 11 cents an hour for longshoremen and 12½ cents for clerks, bringing the latter up to longshore parity within three years.

An added one-cent per hour employer contribution to the welfare fund if its balance drops below $100,000.

Coffee breaks.

Ike Thanks Marin GOP For Stand On Inflation

President Eisenhower sent a letter of thanks to the Marin County Republican Central Committee for going on record against inflation, Chairman Elmer S. Worlund reported at the committee's meeting last night.

The letter said:

"I am grateful to you and to the members of the Republican County Central Committee of Marin for your support of the administration's program to promote an expanding economy on the basis of a sound dollar and fiscal integrity.

"I hope all of you will do everything you can in your community to emphasize the danger to our country and to life as you know and now enjoy it should the inflationary spiral continue unchecked."

The President closed the letter "with deep appreciation of your confidence and support."

Two students from Redwood High School attended last night's meeting as observers. They will help in the fall with formation of junior Republican clubs in all of the county's high schools under the ageis of the Young Republican organization, Vice President Jeanne Daussee said.

Miss Dausse also reported on the Young Republicans convention in Denver. She said a crowd of 1,300 invited guests at a reception for Vice President Richard M. Nixon were captivated by Nixon's sincerity and charm.

Robert Palmer of Ross was named to head a committee on registration. Robert G. Alderman of San Rafael was asked to form a committee to plan a monthly bulletin to be sent to registered Republicans.

Members were urged to write congressmen in support of labor reform legislation. Frederick G. Dupuis of Tiburon said the Kennedy-Ervin bill has had 56 amendments adopted but that even a weak bill would be a step in the right direction.

Richardson Bay District Budget, Tax Remain Same

Directors of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District Monday night adopted a budget of $58,100 for fiscal 1959-60 and set a tax rate of 60 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, both the same as last year, according to secretary Samuel A. Fletcher.

The budget lists maintenance and operation, $29,300; capital outlay, $21,200; salaries, $2,000, and reserves $5,600.

The budget anticipates that $36,900 will be collected through taxes, with connection fees covering capital outlay.

Marin Cleaners

520 FOURTH ST.

An Open Letter to the Public:

For the past 4 years, we have been serving the Laundromatic Company's 7 locations in Marin County: 2 in Sausalito, 1 each in Larkspur, Fairfax and San Anselmo and 2 in San Rafael. We have provided their customers with top quality dry cleaning and dyeing. The Laundromatic Company recently introduced "economy cleaning" at the above locations.

"Economy cleaning" is not up to the standards of Marin Cleaners and so we have discontinued our service effective last Saturday, July 25.

We have no quarrel with the laundries who wish to offer "economy cleaning" to their customers. We feel that every business has a right to choose the kind of service that they wish to provide.

We have built our business and reputation on top quality dry cleaning and we have no wish to change our practices.

We do, however, feel that it is important to notify the customers of the above named automatic laundries that we are no longer serving these outlets. To those customers who wish to continue directly with us, we invite you to bring your cleaning to 520 Fourth St., San Rafael (our main plant and office) or to our branch at Marin Town & Country Shopping Center, Tiburon Blvd. & Blackfield Drive, Bel Aire, or call GL 4-4792 for pick-up and delivery.

ADULT EDUCATION

Citizens' Advisory Group To Air Program Suggested

(Third of a series)
By DONALD G. DAVIS

A citizens advisory committee to aid in establishing community-interest courses in the College of Marin adult education program is only one of the ideas of program director Samuel N. LeCount.

He has suggested, in an informal meeting with the college district board of trustees, that forums and discussion groups on local government be permitted. He said he proposed this two years ago and was turned down by the board with the comment that it would be too controversial.

Trustee chairman Rupert E. Kempf said he could not remember why that policy was started, "but I, personally am willing to rescind it."

Said LeCount:

"I am not in favor, either, of the tacit policy that we shouldn't encourage other educational institutions to use our facilities. We should not exclude university extension programs, providing they don't compete with us."

Kempf said he thought University of California officials probably should be contacted. "But, Cal," he added, "would only be an example."

On the subject of offering credits in the adult program, LeCount said he "personally recommended discontinuance of credits because persons who received them here would take their transcripts to other colleges which would not accept them. Then the student would object to us."

Holding to the thought that a credit-type program is not necessary, he said, "There is certain flexibility and freedom when you don't have fixed contents in courses, examinations and books which might be needed for credit."

Ultimately, however, he said, "we will need some kind of extended day college. There's no reason why we can't offer associate of arts degrees" to night students.

"But even if such a program be adopted, there still should be some courses offered on a no-credit basis."

Kempf said he thought this would be the proper way to go about it. "It should be gradual, testing here, testing there."

"I would recommend that the board hire a professional group to do it," LeCount said. "This would point out the needs of the people in the county on a basis of scientific evaluation."

"I know we've been off because sometimes just because a certain number of people ask for a course we give it," Kempf said. "I think we're talking about general community service."

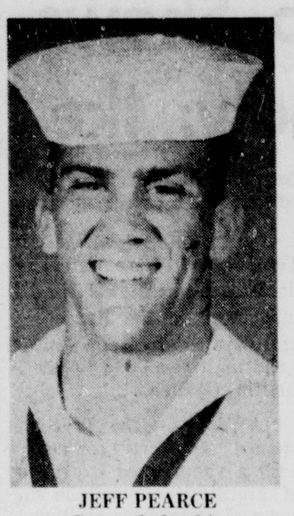
Trustee George G. Washburn asked, "Wouldn't the cost be high?"

"I'm not urging it at the moment. I just think you could be thinking about it," LeCount said. "I sense our possible needs in courses at meetings I attend — sometimes from remarks. Sometimes people will call in for a course and we get the required 20 students; if not, we discontinue. We discontinue four to six classes a quarter."

"How will you determine anything by a survey?" asked Washburn. "The community may change its mind. The average taxpayer doesn't know anything about education. It seems the survey should be made by educators."

"I don't agree," said Kempf, "I don't think that would give us a basis on which to work."

"An advisory committee," trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said, "would be alert to the interests of the people and what is possible at the college, and would be an effective way to achieve a cross-section of community thinking. I would like to see the operation set up, and I think you'll find support for your college."



JEFF PEARCE
Gets scholarship

One out of every seven medical bills covered by health insurance in the U. S. is $500 or more while more than half fall between $100 and $499.

Tam High Grad Wins Scholarship From Navy

Jeff Pearce, a 1958 graduate of Tamalpais High School, has been awarded a four-year Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps scholarship at the University of California in Berkeley.

He is a son of Mrs. Lorraine Pearce of 375 Redwood avenue, Corte Madera, and Harry Pearce of Fairfax.

Entering the Navy in August, Pearce was named "outstanding recruit" in boot camp. He was second in his class at schools in Norman, Okla., and Glynco Naval Air Base at New Brunswick, Ga.

Now attending the Navy Prep School at Bainbridge, Md., Pearce was one of 164 enlisted men in a class of 433 to receive college scholarships. He will enter the university in September.

Marin Quartet Wins Contest

A Marin County barbershop quartet, the Golden Gate Harmany Four, won first place in a quartet contest at Concord in competition with other Northern California singers.

Members of the group are Jim Heidinger, Steve Carrick, Ben Walton and Glen Dawson. They belong to the Marin chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

PLANE IN BAY BUT IT HASN'T CRASH LANDED

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — That airplane in San Francisco Bay off the northeast edge of International Airport hasn't crash-landed. It's anchored in cement for the start of Air Force wet ditching exercises today.

The Air Force 552nd Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing is using the plane to practice wet ditching in case any of its radar picket planes ever are forced down in the Pacific Ocean.

Airmen will be aboard the stationary aircraft, a Martin PBY hull, and then will be told to leap into the bay with one-man life rafts.

Stolen Float Recovered

A stolen finger float, one of 10 being built by Larkspur contractor Russ Lauterwasser for Angel Island State Park, was recovered by Larkspur police late Monday in the tule marshes behind Redwood High School.

Police Chief Howard Clark said juveniles presumably made off with the 4-by-20-foot wood and Styrofoam float. It was not damaged. The theft occurred at Lauterwasser's construction site on Corte Madera Creek, near the Larkspur Lumber Co.

The floats, worth about $300 each, are being built for the state Division of Beaches and Parks. Lauterwasser, former city clerk of Larkspur, is scheduled to deliver them this week.

Tahoe Gets New Mail Schedule

TAHOE VALLEY (UPI)—New mail transportation schedules to Lake Tahoe from Los Angeles and San Francisco went into effect this week.

Under the new system, trucks carrying mail on express schedules will operate between the Sacramento and Tahoe Valley Post Office. From there the mail will be transferred for local delivery around the lake.

Letters postmarked by 6 p.m. in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas normally will arrive in Tahoe the next day.

83 More Convicts Join Fire Lines

Eighty-three more San Quentin Prison inmates were sent into Northern California Monday to fight forest fires. The new group brought to more than 500 the number of inmates now on fire lines.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said the latest group was sent to Mendocino County. Other San Quentin fire-fighters are in Siskiyou, Lassen and Humboldt Counties.

Marin Banker To Retire

CLETUS C. WORTH
Banker to retire

Cletus C. Worth of 335 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, will retire Friday as a vice president of Crocker-Anglo National Bank at its office at 1 Montgomery street in San Francisco.

A lifetime Marin County resident, Worth joined the bank in 1914 and spent his entire career in San Francisco except for a recent two-year period at one of its offices in Oakland.

He has had assignments in stock transfer, trust, note and investment loan departments. Appointed an assistant cashier in 1949, Worth was named assistant vice president five years later.

He is a member of the American Institute of Banking and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

What Can County Do If Indigent Too Ill To Move To San Rafael General?

A problem that plagued the Marin County Board of Supervisors earlier this year was presented again yesterday: What should the county do when an indigent patient is too ill to be moved to San Rafael General Hospital?

The case of a 61-year-old veteran of World War I, who was near death on July 14 after suffering a severe heart attack, was described by Dr. Martin H. Long of Mill Valley in a letter read to the supervisors.

Attending physicians learned after the man had improved slightly that he was unable to pay for his medical care. The Veterans Administration Hospital in Oakland could have taken him if he could have been moved, Dr. Long reported.

Dr. Long said Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy, county medical director, told him the county could not assume care of the man unless he were placed in San Rafael General Hospital.

In Dr. Long's opinion it would have been unwise to move the man from Ross General Hospital to San Rafael General Hospital. He is still at Ross General.

On Jan. 6 the county board of supervisors established a money-saving policy of paying for care of indigent patients who need hospitalization at San Rafael General exclusively, instead of at all three Marin hospitals.

Dr. Long entered the suggestion yesterday "that the policy of care for such an individual (the heart attack victim) be changed to allow the county physician's office to treat such patients at other hospitals until their condition improves to the point they can be transferred."

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen said a policy recommendation requested from the Marin County Medical Society had not yet been received.

The supervisors asked that Dr. Dufficy report to them at next Tuesday's meeting on the suggestion made by Dr. Long.

IT RAINED, JUST LIKE THEY ALL SAID IT WOULD

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Waynesburg residents didn't have long to wait today for the fulfillment of their almost dead certain prediction for rain on July 29.

Just one hour and 55 minutes after the stroke of midnight on the town hall clock, a light drizzle fell on the crowd of residents who gathered to witness the rainfall that history practically assured would come.

To scoffers, it was pointed out that written records show that before today, it has rained here on July 29, 73 out of the last 82 years. Now it stands one better.

Walters said he hoped the engagement would run a full year.

The producer, who returned from Paris Sunday, reported he completed negotiations with Folies owner Paul Derbal for the engagement. The show will feature can can girls and the Folies' famous nude models, he said.

Tam School Aims Outlined In Report

A concise presentation of what the Tamalpais Union High School District is trying to accomplish in its schools is the aim of a committee working on a statement of "Philosophy of Education" at the request of Supt. Chester G. Carlisle.

Headed by Robert D. Torrey, director of instruction and personnel, and composed of teachers and parents, the committee has prepared a preliminary statement to be presented to other groups for reaction and suggestions.

After further study, Torrey said, the revised statement will be submitted to the district board of trustees.

The preliminary statement includes "basic assumptions" that Tam District schools must provide education consistent with the American way of life and geared to "maximum educational development of the individual potential" of every youngster.

The report says specific tasks of the school include instruction in fundamental knowledge, skills and attitudes, special programs for particular academic and vocational needs, and guidance so every student may gain maximum benefit from school.

Measles Shows In County's Disease Report

Marin County had 29 cases of communicable diseases during the week ended last Friday, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, reported today.

Measles again led the list, although showing a drop to 12 cases. Seven of these cases were in San Rafael, while San Anselmo had two and Kentfield, Larkspur and Mill Valley each had one.

Of six cases of mumps, four were in San Rafael and two in Mill Valley. Corte Madera had three cases of streptococcic infection and San Rafael had two.

Two cases of tuberculosis were reported in Marin City. Two cases of gonorrhea were in unincorporated areas and a third was in San Anselmo. San Rafael had one case of infectious hepatitis.

Former San Rafael Man Hears Sentence

Donald Duane Fields, 23, former San Rafael resident, must pay a $130 fine and not drink at all for one year because he was caught driving while drunk at Fourth street and Lincoln avenue in San Rafael July 11.

He was sentenced by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court.

Fields gave no address when booked.

New Pension, Worker Benefits Will Cost Californians $125 Million

By JERRY HARRELL

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Taxpayers and employers will start paying about 123 million dollars next year to provide sweeping new pension and workers' benefits.

The 1959 Legislature wrote laws increasing payments to the unemployed, the injured and California's 290,000 aged and infirm pensioners.

A five-bill series raising and extending benefits for jobless and injured workers was praised by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as "the finest social insurance program approved by the Legislature in this century."

PENSION BOOSTS

The governor wasn't as happy with the pension boosts, calling them cost-of-living increases. He said he wanted to make them bigger, but "the state's fiscal situation dictated otherwise."

Unemployment insurance will go up from a maximum of $40 to $55 a week. Over a year, about 600,000 workers will get higher payments. The new cost to employers: About 47.9 million dollars a year.

LONGER BENEFITS

Benefits will be payable for 39 weeks instead of 26 during recession periods. The legislation includes an automation clause, permitting benefits while displaced workers learn a new job. The cost to employers for a full year: 27 million dollars.

Employees hurt on the job will be able to get a top of $65 a week instead of the present $50; or $52.50 instead of the present $40 if permanently disabled. Cost of this increase in workmen's compensation, financed by employers: 29 million dollars.

DISABILITY GRANTS

Unemployment disability insurance, payments for off-the-job injuries, goes up from $50 to $65 a week. This program is paid for by the employees themselves. Benefits will increase about 6.5 million dollars a year with no new tax.

Another bill legalizes supplemental insurance benefits, or the extra jobless payments by employers agreed to in collective bargaining pacts. About 40 California firms have these so-called "guaranteed annual wage" agreements. The new law will permit state payments to workers covered by these supplemental plans.

The pension increases will raise payments to aged, blind and needy disabled persons. They're effective next Jan. 1 also.

Basic grants to the aged will go from $90 to $95 a month. Special needs pensions will rise from $106 to $115.

The legislation also raises from $90 to $105 the amount the basic grant may be boosted by any federal increase.

Aid to the needy disabled will go up from an average of $90 a month to $98. The maximum for special needs stays at $106, but with extra aid available for those receiving care outside institutions.

Basic grants to the blind will go up $5 a month; from $99 to $104 to basic aid recipients and $110 to $115 for those with special needs.

Brown also approved a bill extending the state's welfare medical care program to the needy disabled. Those under the aid-to-needy children, old age and blind programs already are covered.

The cost of these pension increases will be about 20 million dollars for a full year.

Demand Heavy For Vet Loans

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California veterans have been making Cal-Vet loans at a rate better than one million dollars per working day for the past six months.

The figure was announced by tne state Department of Veterans Affairs in its monthly report to the governor's council. The department said that it made 2,056 loans during June, when veterans borrowed $26,733,499 for home improvement, home construction and farm use.

Mill Valley Willing To Make Trade

The City of Mill Valley is willing to make a "horse trade" of a truck yard site for a reservoir, Vice Mayor George W. Blackwell said today.

Blackwell, acting in the absence of Mayor Robert D. Huber, said he and William H. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal Water District, had reached tentative agreement on an exchange whereby Mill Valley would get the water district's Cascade reservoir and the district would get a small plot in the Mill Valley marshlands as a site for a truck storage yard.

Blackwell said the reservoir would then be annexed to the city.

The "horse trade," proposed by the water district, will be submitted to a Mill Valley City council meeting Aug. 5, Blackwell said.

We'd Like You To Help Us Keep Marin Marvelous

Last weekend we did a little roaming around Marin. We rode up to the top of San Rafael Hill by the cross. We hiked through the hills edging Black Canyon. We drove slowly and meanderingly through some of the county's back roads.

We really have a beautiful county that we forget to look at some times.

But one thing appalled us. Everywhere we went we found litter. High on a fire road above Black Canyon we came upon two piles of broken plaster and lath. There was about enough in each pile to fill the back of a station wagon or a small pickup truck. Somebody had been taking out a partition.

The road up San Rafael hill was littered with beer cans and six packs. Every wide spot where a car can park to "look at the view" is surrounded by discarded paper, cigarette packages and other items.

Along most of our other county roads are places where someone has "deposited the garbage." A cardboard carton filled with tin cans and other refuse is tossed out the window of a passing vehicle, spreading the cans and garbage in a wild semi-circle.

These are discouraging sights to see. They make us feel that too many of our neighbors are slobs, people who either don't know any better or don't care.

We've been making some improvement in the littering of our major highways. Even though there is still room for improvement here, more and more cars are carrying litter bags; fewer car windows are being opened to dispose of that gum wrapper or cigarette butt.

But a new type of litterbugging has made its appearance. Possibly it has been sparked by the moving of the county dump to far North Marin along with stiff fees for dumping grass and tree trimmings in the Larkspur dump.

This is Bay littering. The Army Corps of Engineers are complaining about a marked increase in floating debris in San Francisco Bay. They should know; they have to clean it up in the ship channels.

The people who have waterfront property also are reporting more and more litter floating ashore.

Don't be a slob—excuse us, we mean a litterbug. Don't pollute the highways, the roadsides, the trails or the Bay. It's not only against the law, but we'd like you to help us keep Marin Marvelous.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

FIRE TRAVELS ACROSS COUNTRY

The fire started in Lancaster, South Carolina, but was not discovered until the car reached Portland, Oregon.

Firemen, finding the seals on the doors of the freight car unbroken, concluded that the fire had been smoldering for some time until it burst its way through a two-inch wooden flooring and then burst into flames.

A tiny spark probably started this fire. In much the same way, the little things we say or do may have repercussions, good or bad, in some distant place or long after we have passed from the earthly scene.

This can be a most stimulating thought for those intent on doing as much good as possible during their pilgrimage through life.

If you truly desire to share your blessings with the world, as far as you can reach, God will bless you. One day when you stand before Him, you may be happily surprised to learn the far-reaching effects of your efforts.

"Yea, Lord, Thou knowest that I love Thee. He saith to him: Feed my lambs." (John 21:15)

Little-Known Facts About Most Powerful Elective Job In World

NEW YORK (AP) — Eighteen months from now the White House will have a new occupant.

No one can say now for sure who will be the next President although a lot of people feel they already know.

The odds are, however, he won't have been born in June. No June baby has ever become president. The biggest months for presidential births have been October and November, each with five.

Here are a few facts and statistics about the job that has been called the most powerful elective office in the world:

George Washington, who died childless, is known as the father of his country. But the champion White House daddy was the 10th President, John Tyler. He had 14 children by two wives.

Presidents tend to have more sons than do average dads. The 33 presidents have fathered 71 sons but only 47 daughters.

James Buchanan, the 15th President, was the only bachelor. But five Persidents married a second time after the deaths of their first wives.

Most popular first name among president has been "James." Five were so named.

Not one in a thousand Americans knows the real first name of U. S. Grant, the 18th President, was Hiram. He was baptized Hiram Ulysses but adopted the name Ulysses Simpson Grant after he was so erroneously entered at West Point in 1839.

The first name of Calvin Coolidge was John. The first name of Grover Cleveland was Stephen. The first name of Woodrow Wilson was Thomas.

Shortest-lived President was James A. Garfield, assassinated at 49. Longest-lived was John Adams, who lived to be 90.

HE AND THOMAS Jefferson died on the same day, July 4, 1826.

Virginia has given birth to more U. S. Presidents than any other state, eight. Ohio is next with six.

Only three Presidents have been born West of the Mississippi River—Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman, and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

FIFTEEN U.S. Presidents — including both Roosevelts — have been Freemasons.

When George Washington died he was one of the wealthier men in America, owning 110,000 acres of land. What a golf course that would have made!

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

CD Director Pledges Progress

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have read with a great deal of interest your editorial of July 7, entitled "What We Need is Realistic Look at Civil Defense." . . .

It is my conviction that the Legislature, as well as the general public, needs to know much more about the work of this office. The legislative action on the budget indicated not so much that the California Disaster Office hasn't done a worthwhile job, as some vagueness about what the job is. We are taking many steps to help clarify the accomplishments and objectives of the program.

In March, for example, the State published its first Civil Defense Operations Plan — a concrete and detailed plan for civilian recovery, post-disaster. Every State in the Union must develop such a plan. At present, counties and cities are integrating their own emergency plans with the master plan of the State.

We have briefed the State agencies on their emergency responsibilities and since we believe State government must practice what it preaches, the agencies are perfecting their emergency plans at this time. Good progress has been made.

We are holding a series of regional meetings with county and city officials, including directors of civil defense, so that we can assist and encourage the completion of local plans.

We are urging an updated approach to the problem, at a period in history when preattack warning time is rapidly waning, and citizens must be convinced of the need for taking a few realistic steps toward survival.

The Federal government cannot do the local job. It is not equipped to make individual state plans, or plans for the counties and cities.

Although it can and does establish broad policies, the primary responsibility rests with the local officials and the State. No Federal agency has the familiarity with the local resources which is essential to workable plans. In the event of real disaster, the people on the spot would do the job.

I agree that the very name "civil defense" is unfortunate. In an attempt to bring the concept of non-military defense in line with the times, we are now using the symbol which you see on our letterhead in place of the "CD" so long associated with World War II. I would like to stress, however, that in my reference to "sand buckets" there was no intention of disparaging the very real contribution of World War II civil defense workers. We just want to emphasize and, if possible, dramatize the basic changes which have taken place in this program since the war.

Civilians cannot, of course, defend the nation in the sense that we apply to the military. At the same time, the major military emphasis is now being placed on retaliatory power, not attacking force. If our military forces are going to retaliate, that means some of our civilian population will have been hurt before we strike even one blow.

And that fact creates the reason for disaster preparedness. We can greatly reduce the number of casualties and we can greatly facilitate our ability to recover if we have a workable program of disaster planning — or, as you say, emergency survival.

Civilians can increase their chances of survival by learning the warning signals; knowing their local plans; determining the location of the best available shelter at home and in the community; and by keeping a supply of food and water on hand that will last for at least two weeks.

The Federal government has made it clear that following a disaster, weeks might pass before the national government could have the situation in hand. This is the basic reason for State programs and local programs. Survival and recovery should start immediately, not four or five weeks after an attack.

We intend to carry forward a realistic program and we are basing it on a reasonable organization. . . .

Negligence Can Result In Polio

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

With the advent of the polio season close at hand and despite the reports of the severity of the polio epidemic in Des Moines, Iowa, it is a heartbreaking fact that public apathy in Marin County towards the Salk vaccine shots is at its highest peak.

There is a widespread misconception abroad that "polio has been licked" and that there is no further need for anyone to protect himself, by the simple procedure of vaccination, from this crippling menace. The diseases of small pox and diptheria were "licked" over two decades ago, but that does not deter people from being vaccinated against them today. And, to date, the control of polio has not by any means approximated the control of these former menaces.

Having contracted polio myself many years ago before such shots were available, I have seen and am still seeing the sad results of this disease in the many cases who did not have the shots.

Fellow Marinites, do not allow yourselves through negligence to be numbered among these statistics. Please take advantage of the free shots offered by your Health Department (or if you prefer, contact your own physician) as soon as possible. This way you can help to eliminate polio epidemics. Don't forget that polio strikes all age groups, so don't let an epidemic happen here.

Get your polio shots today!

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

In 1904, after a fruitless attempt to find a job in every newspaper office in metropolitan New York, the late Irvin Cobb sent this letter, special delivery, to all editors: "Sir: I am the best writer and the ablest editor that has ever come to New York and yet nobody has jumped at the unparalleled opportunity of hiring me. This is your last chance. I'm weary of waiting in your anteroom and a modest appreciation of my own worth forbids my doing business with your head office boy any longer. Unless you grab me right away, I will leave your paper flat on its back in the middle of a hard summer and your whole life hereafter will be one vast surging regret."

This must have been a novel approach in 1904, because Cobb notes that his letter produced five offers of jobs!

Novato Community Clubhouse Doesn't Have To Be Given To 'City'

Novato incorporation proponents who listened to a fast-spreading rumor last week thought they had a windfall in the bag.

Seems someone took a look at the bylaws of the Novato Community Club and came up with the "news" that the club's venerable meeting hall would be turned over to the city of Novato, once incorporated.

The announcement sent club members scurrying to read the legal verbiage that would transfer ownership to the fledgling city—for use perhaps as a city hall.

But after some scanning, a conclusion: It was a rumor with a shaky foundation.

Mrs. Edward Grundstrom, club president, took a look at the long over-looked section and found that while the bylaws do indeed state that the club's property can be given as a gift to a city of Novato, there is one important provision.

At least 75 per cent of the club's members (there are about 250 of them) first must vote in favor of relinquishing the clubhouse.

"It's quite shocking how the rumor got started," reports the president. "The board of directors hasn't discussed the idea at all."

THE THREAT of a court battle has been sounded by Novato residents opposed to incorporation. And they are quick to point out that you need not win in court to win at the polls.

Paul Brindel and Henry Lautrup, leading foes of the concept of turning Novato into a city, last Saturday reminded a group of like-minded property owners of what happened two years ago to a proposed community services district in North Marin.

Said Brindel: Then, the Marin County Board of Supervisors chose to include areas in the proposed boundaries which allegedly were against inclusion.

"We took the case to court," he recalled, "and lost. But the proposed district went down to defeat 1,228 to 412.

"I think incorporation can be defeated as well," he proclaimed. "But it's going to be a missionary job."

One thing was made clear by the opposing voices. Incorporation won't come to Novato without plenty of verbal fireworks.

IT LOOKED FOR ALL the world this week that Marin's proposed site for a new four-year state college the Freitas Ranch in west Novato had reached the finals in a contest that has kept the bystanders guessing for many months.

Speculation was aroused when the State Public Works Board announced plans to take samplings of the subterranian soil 30 feet down.

The ranch's rolling acreage is apparently still very much in the running, at least, with the several other North Bay sites under consideration by the state board.

JOHN KIKER, chairman of the ways and means committee of Novato's American Legion Post 708, is all out for a drag strip in North Marin—as are his fellow Legionnaires.

That, in fact, explains why ferris wheels and side-show barkers are in action this week at the corner of Highway 101 and Diablo avenue. A percentage of the profits made by the carnival owners will go toward the post's youth project, the drag strip.

The proposal could mean a partial answer to the question posed by the Novato School Board from time to time: "How do you keep the hot-rods from tearing up the turf at Novato High School's new and unfenced athletic field?"

Both Competitors Were Victors In The Nixon-Khrushchev Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public argument between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have given diplomats a shock, but it didn't amount to much except perhaps to help both men politically at home.

They agreed Sunday their fast set-to at the American fair in Moscow was just frank and hardhitting, but not belligerent. It was almost like calling the whole thing good, clean fun.

IT WAS PRETTY much an old story except for the way it was done.

It didn't come any closer to settling anything — or making anything worse—between the United States and the Soviet Union than a high school debate.

Both men knew any real hope they might have for settling American-Soviet differences rested in their private talks, of which they have had several.

To professional diplomats used to washing dirty international linen out of sight and with polite palaver, the spectacle of these two high government officials stepping on each other's toes may have seemed clumsy.

But the United States and the Soviet Union both have been clumsy in the way they have handled Nixon's visit. Nixon's own government put him under a handicap and left him open to abuse before he ever got to Moscow.

THERE IS SMALL excuse — except on the ground of thoughtlessness—for the fact that Congress and the Eisenhower administration combined to declare last week Captive Nations Week. This was a deliberate, anti-Communist slam, intended to remind the satellite peoples this country hadn't forgotten them.

What was forgotten was that last week was also the week Nixon was to arrive in the Soviet Union and that the Russians might — as they did — take out their irritation on Nixon.

But if this was clumsy, the Soviets looked even more gawkish. They were incredibly clumsy.

They provided the world with living evidence of Nixon's suggestion to Khrushchev that the Soviets are afraid of ideas. Khrushchev's rejoinder — "we are telling you not to be afraid of ideas" — looked ridiculous in view of events.

ON TOP OF THIS the Soviets scrambled up the news coverage of Nixon's trip with censorship — a fact that was duly noted in the American press.

Nixon's ordeal in Latin America last year—when, because of anti-American feeling, he had to endure spit and stones — did him political good. It created great sympathy for him and appreciation for sturdiness in an ordeal.

NOW HIS SLUG-FEST with Khrushchev should do him political good here. Many Americans, fed up with Khrushchev's bluster, can easily identify themselves with him and tell themselves: "He told off that guy."

And Khrushchev could hardly lose at home by battering on Nixon. Any Russians, more concerned about their own feeling of inferiority toward the United States than the actual content of the argument, will no doubt applaud their premier for standing up to the American.

Many Plane Wrecks Litter Slopes Of California's High Sierra Area

Looking for a missing airplane in California's mountains is something like hunting for a wrecked car in a junk yard. There are a lot of heaps.

An index file kept by the 4th Air Force Search and Rescue Coordination Center at Hamilton Air Force Base shows as many as four wrecks within a 50-mile area in the high Sierra.

But aren't they marked?

Yes, explains Maj. Conrad Johnson, a coordination duty officer, by an orange "X" on the largest pieces—when you can get to the scene. But sometimes the wrecks are in high, remote areas where such marking operations might endanger lives. Then, too, marks have a way of fading out over the years.

How about just destroying the wreckage?

This can be done and often is with military planes. But civilian planes are a problem. They are private property.

Since a national search and rescue plan went into effect in June, 1957, coordination centers have kept crash locator files.

But when search planes go out to look for a missing aircraft, they do not carry these records—and for a very good reason.

"They might not pay enough attention to the area of a known wreck," Major Johnson explains. "We've had cases where new wrecks have been found within a matter of feet of the old ones."

Despite the problems of old wrecks, faded markings and rugged terrain, the records show suspension of searches for only two Army and five civilian craft in the eight states.

Smoked Boston Butt

This particular meat cut which is the cured, smoked eye of the Boston butt, can be either roasted in a 300° F. oven for 35 to 45 minutes per pound, or it can be cooked slowly in liquid for 1½ to 2 hours.

Suds The Plugs

If you resort to ear plugs in order to get a quiet night's rest, remember that those ear plugs should be washed after each use.

The ear is a sensitive organ, so anything that goes into it should be as clean as suds and water can get it.

Medical Practice

BOSTON (UPI)—Except once for an 11-year period, Boston has had a Dr. Warren practicing medicine since 1775. At that time the physician was Dr. Joseph Warren, Revolutionary leader who fell at the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Famous Navy Planes Now Used On Fire Duty

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A pair of Navy planes that became famous for starting fires in World War II are gaining a name in California for stopping them.

The state Division of Forestry and the U. S. Forest Service have been using single-engine TBM torpedo bombers and twin-engine PBY "Catalina" bombers to fight forest fires.

A state forestry official, sizing up two years of aerial firefighting, concludes the planes can be invaluable weapons in the battle to save the woods, but there's still much to be learned about their use.

Leonard R. Chatten, assistant deputy state forester, reports ". . . In several instances air tankers were credited as being the prime tool which halted fire spread and permitted rapid control"

The TBM, designed to operate from aircraft carriers, have the advantages of carrying big loads at slow speeds.

The same applies for the lumbering PBY, and it carries an even bigger payload.

Both planes have been especially useful in fighting the frustrating spot fires which start behind fire trails which already have been cut to contain the fire.

There are still some problems.

Smoke is a major one. The planes must go in at low altitudes to be effective, but the smoke is thick down there and often blinds the pilot.

Supplying chemicals in sufficient quantities is another headache, as are tactics—just where and how the planes can best be used.

The conclusion is that there's much more to be learned about the use of firefighting airplanes, but there's little doubt that they'll eventually take their place in a balanced ground-air firefighting system in the woods.

Sweetbreads Kabobs

For a summer meal planned outdoors, use sweetbreads to vary the menu. Here's how it is done. Simmer 1½ pounds sweetbreads 20 minutes. Break into pieces which may be placed on a skewer. Bacon slices and mushrooms play an important role in this recipe. Thread sweetbreads on skewers alternately with mushrooms. Bacon slices should be skewered so as to weave back and forth, thereby separating each sweetbread and mushroom.

HUSH PUPPIES — Some like 'em sweet, a bit; some like 'em with onion, but these are the basic South Carolina kind, which go with fish fries like . . . like . . . well, like hush puppies with a southern fish fry.

HUSH PUPPIES

Balls Of Sunny Cornbread Bobbing In Bubbling Kettle

Just watch those sunny-colored balls of corn meal batter bobbing around in our kettle of hot fat. Now they turn a mouth-watering golden brown. Flip them over and in another minute or two they're ready to be drained.

When we call "Hush puppies coming up!" everyone at our house hurries to come and get them. They're gobbled up as fast as we can fry them. Some eaters break them open and add the luxury of buttter. Others bite straightaway into the crisp batter bread.

Hush puppies are a by-product of outdoor Southern fish frys. They came into being when some old-time cooks stirred up the cornbread batter and dropped spoonfuls of it into the fat in which the fish had been fried. But outdoors or in, with fish or some other dish, or just by themselves, in the South or the North, hush puppies are still mighty good eating.

The amount of corn meal in the fried bread varies. Some cooks use all corn meal; others add flour in varying proportions.

An there are other variations, but talk about them softly because folk often get hot-tempered over these. Should hush puppies contain a smidgin of sugar? Should they be seasoned with onion? We've heard battles have been fought on behalf of or against these additions.

Here's where we bow out. Our recipe is a basic one—the version that according to one well-known Southern cook book is definitely South Carolina—sans both sugar and onion. If you think your eaters will relish the addition, you may add minced chives to it.

HUSH PUPPIES

Ingredients: 1¾ cups enriched yellow corn meal, ¼ cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons minced chives (if desired), 1 large egg, 1 cup mlik, fat for frying.

Method: Sift together the corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt. If used, add the minced chives. In a medium-sized mixing bowl, beat egg until yolk and white are combined; beat in milk to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients, stirring lightly until boistened. (Batter thickens quickly after mixing.) Drop a heaping teaspoonful of batter for each hush puppy into hot (375 degrees on deep-fat frying thermometer) deep fat. Fry only a few at a time — or as many as will float uncrowded on fat—until golden brown, 2 to 4 minutes, turning once. (Do not pierce with fork when turning.) Drain on brown paper or on several thicknesses of paper towels. Serve at once with butter. Makes 2½ to 3 dozen.

Frying? Broiling?

When panbroiling a meat cut, no additional fat or water is added. The pan is not covered and the drippings are poured off as they accumulate. In panfrying, a small amount of fat is added. Water is not added nor is the pan covered.

Basswood Blinds Don't Slice Light

If you don't like your light sliced up by Venetian blinds, and yet you value their combination of privacy plus illumination, consider using the handsome new blinds made of basswood splints.

These blinds diffuse and soften the light while protecting your privacy. All of their many colors can be washed easily in soap or detergent suds as often as necessary.

Stuffed Shoulder

If in need of an economy lamb cut that could be served for company or a Sunday dinner, purchase a cushion-style lamb shoulder. This meat cut can be roasted in a 300° F. oven—the same as a leg of lamb. For a color and flavor accompaniment, have the meat retailer cut a pocket in the shoulder. Stuff the pocket with either a spinach or carrot-raisin stuffing.

Wash, Then Open

Do you always wash food containers and jars when you bring them home from the store?

They are bound to collect dust, and if you open a can or jar with this dirt still clinging, some of it is almost certain to contaminate the food contents. Swab the container with warm soap or detergent suds, rinse it, and then open it.

Child Resistant

This year's prettiest new window shades—made of plastic interwoven with Fiberglas—are fire-resistant and child-resistant.

Anything—even fingerprints—that can be sudsed off an enamel surface will also disappear from these talented blinds if you apply a sponge dipped into soap or detergent suds.

JACK HANLEY'S REPORT

Blame The Wives For Giants' Home Record

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

SEALS STADIUM — Our editor took us to lunch the other day and succinctly stated, as he always does, what was on his mind.

"Why," he asked, "don't the Giants win at home like they do on the road?"

Preoccupied with the thought of ordering the top dish in the house since his check-grabbing generosity is well known to all staffers, we had to admit we missed the question.

"Sorry, boss, the menu intrigued us," we said. "What was that again please?"

"What's wrong with the Giants at home?" he repeated.

"They try too hard in Seals Stadium," we replied. Especially Willie Mays. He's never had a real big day at home and he just about busts his seams pressing for one."

Turning back to the menu, we heard the boss, an old baseball writer himself who can rattle off pitching and hitting statistics faster than an IBM, mumble a non-committal "Mmmmm."

KNOWING THAT "Mmmm" to be a sure sign he wasn't satisfied with the answer, we made a top priority mental note which read: "You better check this out some more, bub, and fast."

As soon as the Giants returned from their exhibition jaunt to Portland, we started with Bill Rigney and then methodically went right down the Giant roster in alphabetical order so as not to miss one player, checking them off as we got their answers to the question:

"Why don't the Giants win at home like they do on the road? Going into today's game with the Phillies, the home record 25-23 is only two over the .500 mark whereas the road record shows 30-21, nine over."

RIGNEY and 24 out of the 25 players on the roster gave answers similar to the one we gave the boss. It was the 25th player who supplied a different answer although he wasn't the 25th Giant interviewed. That would make his identification too easy on an alphabet basis and he asked that his name be withheld.

"Domestic chores," was this fellow's answer which at first puzzled us. But he went on to explain:

"Sure, that's what I mean. Domestic chores. You know as well as I do that a number of our players are young fathers who live on the peninsula.

"After three weeks on the road, the lawn needs mowing when they get home. Maybe some of the faucets need washers to stop an annoying drip-drip-drip.

"Mama has some errands she wants run. The youngsters, particularly the infants, don't know that Papa is a ball player who just finished an extra inning game. So they shout as lustily for the 2 a.m. bottle as the babies of any other young father.

"THEN, how about that freeway traffic. The fellows drive their own cars to and from the stadium. It's not like the road where the bus takes them to and from the hotel.

"So add them all up and what have you got? You have a lot of little things that take a guy's mind off baseball when he's at home. It's not like the road. But remember now don't use my name. I don't want to get in dutch with a lot of wives who are very nice people."

PS—Dear Boss: Is this satisfactory or are you humming that "Mmmmm" again?

Boysaw Is Choice Over Elorde On TV

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Solomon Boysaw, an unheralded Cleveland boxer, is a 7-5 choice to celebrate his television debut tonight by defeating Flash Elorde, third-ranked flyweight from the Philippines.

Elorde, who is in line for a flyweight championship bout, will be going against an unranked but unbeaten fighter in the Cleveland lightweight. The fight will be televised nationally (ABC), 7 p.m., PDT.

Boysaw, 26, son of a preacher, never has been on the canvas since turning professional. He has a record of 20 victories and a draw in 21 starts. His victims include Lulu Perez and Eddie Perkins.

Elorde, 24, is the lightweight and featherweight champion of the Orient. He has whipped several highly-ranked fighters in compiling a record of 46 victories, 15 defeats and two draws. Elorde has scored 18 knockouts. His biggest triumph was a decision over Sandy Saddler in 1955. He lost a world featherweight title bout to Saddler in 1956 at San Francisco.

The Boysaw-Elorde match was scheduled as a substitute Wednesday night TV bout when the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title fight at Montreal was postponed. That bout was set back to Aug. 12 after Moore's wife underwent an operation last week.

MILL VALLEY JUNIOR NET TEAM

New Pro Grid League May Field 12 Teams

NEW YORK (UPI)—A former professional football star who is "involved" in creating a new major pro football league disclosed today that the loop, tentatively named the "Trans-America Conference," hopes to begin operation next year with 12 teams.

Travis Tidwell, former New York Giant passing ace, said the new league would be "just as representative as the National Football League, with teams from coast to coast and Miami to New York."

Existence of plans for a new pro football league was revealed yesterday by Bert Bell, commissioner of the NFL, in testimony in Washington, D. C., before a Senate subcommittee which is conducting hearings on anti-trust bills relating to pro sports. Bell said the NFL would "welcome" the new loop.

Bell said the league probably would start with teams from Houston, Denver, Minneapolis, New York, Dallas and Los Angeles, and said other possible members are Louisville, Boston, Miami, Seattle, San Francisco and Buffalo.

Tidwell, who is vacationing here, stressed that he could "not speak for the league or as representative of the league."

"But I can tell you we are making definite plans to play in 1960," he said.

Ted, Stan To Start In All-Star Tilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Stan Musial and Ted Williams, almost fixtures in All-Star play, will be in the starting lineups for Monday's second All-Star Game.

Rival managers Casey Stengel and Fred Haney yesterday bowed to the wishes of southern California sports editors in naming the two perennial favorites to starting roles.

The sports writers wired the managers:

"Being well aware of your full knowledge of the southern California sports public, we suggest that those two great showmen, Fred Haney and Casey Stengel, make every effort to use Stan Musial and Ted Williams in their respective starting lineups for the All-Star Game here Aug. 3. Musial has appeared in 16 All-Star games and Williams in 15 and they have started against each other six times.

"This may be their last chance to start against each other."

Howard To Replace Skowron On All-Star

BOSTON (AP)—Elston Howard, New York Yankees catcher-infielder, was named yesterday to replace injured Bill Skowron on American League all-star squad.

Giants' Lead Continues To Dwindle

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Philadelphia's Phillies, still in last place but in their hottest streak of the year, aim to become the spoilers of the National League race.

Last night they edged San Francisco 3-2 on Gene Freese's eighth inning solo home run. The loss cut the Giants' league lead to one-half game over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Two more games come up here and the Phils then go to Los Angeles to face the other top challenging West Coast club.

That victory made it seven in the past eight games for the Phillies and 11 out of the past 14. The Giants have won three and lost five on their current home stand.

STARTERS NAMED

Freese's homer last night was at the expense of losing pitcher Stu Miller. It came after Kirkland's 17th homer in the sixth, and Cepeda's 20th in the seventh had tied the count.

Starter Sam Jones ran into a wild streak that cost him runs in the third and fourth innings. In the third he walked Sparky Anderson and Joe Lonnett. Anderson scored with two out when Richie Ashburn dumped a two-base hit into short center. Willie Mays stumbled as he started for the ball on what appeared to be an out.

Then in the fourth Freese singled and Jones walked three in a row to force in run No. 2.

Contest Gives Chance To Win Rolls-Royce

A chance to win a $13,995 Rolls-Royce car was offered today by Catania Sound in San Rafael.

It is the prize in a nationwide contest to the person who listens to a dealer's demonstration of a Shure stereophonic phonograph cartridge and writes the best 25-word description of its sound reproduction. The store has entry blanks.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Chisox Capture Lead, Hip Floundering N.Y.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The White Sox aren't the hitless wonders of long ago but they still make one run go a long way.

They've score fewer runs than any other American League team except Baltimore, but they're back in first place by a half-game today because their pitching and defense win the close ones.

They came through with one of their most important decisions of the season last night when Billy Pierce's sturdy pitching and Al Smith's two-run eighth-inning homer produced a 4-3 win over floundering New York Yankees. A crowd of 43,829—largest of the season in Chicago's Comiskey Park—saw the White Sox dump the world champions into fifth place.

The Cleveland Indians slipped back into second place when they lost, 8-4, after beating the Boston Red Sox, 5-2 in a double-header; the Kansas City A's stretched their winning streak to a major league season high of nine by beating the Washington Senators, 6-1, and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Orioles, 8-3, in other A.L. games.

The Los Angeles Dodgers climbed within a half-game of the National League lead when they beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-4, and the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the San Francisco Giants, 3-2. The Chicago Cubs nipped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-4, and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-4.

Gary Bell pitched a six-hitter and Jim Baxes hit his 13th homer for the Indians in their opener, but then homers by Frank Malzone and Pete Runnels led the Red Sox to their nightcap victory.

The Athletics went past the Yankees into fourth place only a half-game behind the Orioles on the five-hit pitching of Johnny Kucks.

Don Mossi pitched a three-hitter to win his ninth game for the Tigers who racked up Hoyt Wilhelm for six runs in 2⅓ innings.

The Dodgers dealt the Pirates their eighth straight setback with an 11-hit attack that featured a homer and double by Wally Moon in addition to doubles by Norm Larker and Don Demeter. Stan Williams shut out the Pirates for the last six innings to win his fourth game.

Roy McMillan, back in the starting lineup for the first time since June 14, singled home the winning run in the eighth inning after the Reds overcame St. Louis' early lead by scoring four runs in the seventh.

Bowdry Has Sensational Kayo Record

Fourth-ranked Jesse Bowdry may became the first St. Louis born fighter to win the light heavyweight championship of the world, believes his co-managers, Bernio Glickman and Eddie Yawitz.

Bowdry arrived in San Francisco Sunday for his 10-round match against Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo tomorrow night at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium.

The city of St. Louis has produced good fighters over the years, but only two, Dixie Kid and Virgil Akins, both welterweights, ever won world titles. Dixie Kid goes back to the turn of the century; Akins is still active.

Bowdry, 20 years old and standing 5 feet 10 inches tall, has a sensational knockout record. He stopped 20 opponents in 26 victories, 12 of these coming inside of the first two rounds. His biggest win came recently when he thrashed Tony Anthony in a nationally-televised bout, which boosted the Midwesterner into title contention.

Tickets for the Bowdry-Rodriguez bout are scaled from $2.50 to $7.50.

Indian Valley Golf Won By Mrs. May

Mrs. William May accumulated 43 points to take first place in the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club's Stableford tournament held yesterday at the Novato links.

Mrs. Bud Sparrow with 37 points and Mrs. Warren Smith with 36 were runners-up in Class A.

Mrs. Sidney Kersten and Mrs. Robert Keller tied for first in Class B with 38 points, followed by Mrs. Richard Alcorn with 37.

Over 500 Marin 4-H Club Members Sincerely Thank

Each year many of Marin County's 500 4-H members raise fat steers, lambs and hogs as their year's project. These fat animals are nearly always shown and sold at the Sonoma County Fair. Since the kids pay a premium price for their animals and feed them expensive feed they must get a premium price in order to show a profit for the year. In order to do this the 4-H'ers depend largely on the support of local businesses and individuals.

In past years this support, in Marin County has been carried largely by a few.

This year these few were joined by many. The support was very gratifying to all 4-H'ers selling fat stock at Santa Rosa. Spirited bidding by all buyers made the sale a success. In appreciation all Marin County 4-H members and their families join in thanking the following buyers for their generosity.

Brice Bros. Markets — 10 lambs, 4 steers, 3 hogs
H. Pini & Co. — 3 hogs, 4 lambs
First National Bank — Petaluma:2 lambs,—Novato: 1 lamb
Central Valley Bank — 2 lambs
R. C. Briggs, Contractor — 1 lamb
Pronzini Hay — 2 lambs
Wright & Son, Heating — 2 lambs
Hickey Plumbing — 1½ steers
Marin Town & Country Realty — 1½ steers
Payless Drug Store — 1½ steers
Hotel Santa Rosa — 1 steer
Malm Metal Products — 1 steer, 3 hogs
Ed Clementino, dairyman — 1 lamb
Pini Hardware — 1 steer
Sonoma Co. Farmers Ins. Agcy. — 1 steer
Manuel Brazil, livestock — 1 steer
Sebastopol Meat Co. — 1 steer
Coca-Cola Bottling — 1 lamb
Golden Eagle Milling Co. — 2 hogs

The highlight of the sale occurred when Joan Marzell's lamb went on the block. First National Bank, Brice Bros., and the Central Valley National Bank competed for the animal and their spirited bidding ran the price to a final of $1.25 which was paid by First National Bank.

As consolation for those youngsters whose animals did not grade high enough to sell, H. Pini & Co. is sending each one a ten dollar feed order.

Pensioners Spend Less On Food, Study Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Old folks on social security rolls spend only about two-thirds as much for food as average consumers.

This clue to the diets of social security "clients" who live independently emerged from a still-incomplete study by the Agriculture Department's Institute of Home Economics.

Experts on the problems of aging Americans, have long been concerned over the question of a healthy diet for old folks living alone on limited incomes.

Many believe that a large number of older citizens don't eat properly—in many cases because they do not take the trouble to cook properly balanced meals.

The Agriculture Department study is based on a survey of 337 households in Rochester, N.Y., in the spring of 1957. One-third of the households included only one person. Two-thirds had two persons. In all cases, at least one person in each household studied was over 65. No survey was made of any household including anyone under the age of 55. The average age of all the people surveyed was 72.

Janet Murray, an Agriculture Department research specialist, said the Rochester sample was picked because it was believed to represent a fair picture of oldsters drawing social security in much of the nation.

Department technicians are now analyzing the diets of the Rochester group to see how many fall below the nutrition levels recommended by scientists for their age group.

There are indications, partly borne out by the food spending figures included in a recent preliminary report on the survey, that a considerable number of the old folks' diets may fall below recommended nutrition standards.

The average weekly food bill for two-person families in the survey was $16.44, compared with $24.83 for all two-person households in the Northeast. The weekly bill for single-person households in the survey was $8.27 compared with $12.35 for all single-person households in the Northeast.

Some of the gap, research specialists pointed out, is due to the fact that food needs of the older families were smaller than those of younger persons. Another factor in the relatively low food expense for the old folks is the fact that they spent far less than the normal amount of money on food eaten away from home.

But experts fear that some of the difference may simply be due to a failure on the part of America's "senior citizens" to eat as well as they should.

Heart-Shaped Cake Good For Many Events

Heart shaped cakes or heart decorations are appropriate for many occasions—not just Valentine's Day or a bridal shower or reception. This symbol is equally suitable for anniversary and birthday cakes, too. And there is nothing in the etiquette books which says it cannot be used for any cake whether a party cake or just for a family dinner.

The new Cherry Supreme flavor cake mix seems almost made for the heart. This mix makes a high pink cake with the delicate fruit flavor of cherries—the only layer cake mix with this wonderful cherry flavor. The Cherry Supreme mix and its companion flavor, Deluxe Chocolate Mint mix, are both available now in stores all over Marin.

A new process is used in blending these mixes. Because of this process, the mix is fluffier, providing cakes which are moister and more flavorful than ever. Freshness is guaranteed by a triple-wrap package, which also guards the aroma and flavor.

NO HEART?

To make a heart shaped cake you need a heart shaped pan. If you don't have one, just trace a heart on top of the cake. Cut a piece of paper the size of the cake, then fold it in half and draw half a heart on it. Cut it out and you will have a heart with two matching halves.

But of course, first you have to start with making the cake. See the instructions on the box of Duncan Hines Deluxe Cherry Supreme mix. You can make two 8" layers or one high 9" round or square cake. If you make two layers, use a cherry glaze or even a cherry jam between the layers. Then cover the whole cake—top and sides—with whipped cream. Now place your paper heart lightly on the whipped cream and outline it with halved maraschino cherries. Remove the paper and there's your cake.

Another way is to just cover the sides of the cake with whipped cream. Then lay your heart on top and outline it with whipped cream using a pastry tube. Lift the paper off and fill inside the outline with cherry glaze and outside with whipped cream.

To make the cherry glaze, mix together in small saucepan a half cup of sugar with two tablespoons of cornstarch and a quarter teaspoon salt. Stir in two-thirds of a cup of water and two tablespoons maraschino cherry juice. Cook over a medium heat until thick and clear. You will need to stir constantly. Add three or four drops of red food coloring to make the glaze a hearty cherry color.

PENNY PINCHER—A pinched penny never tasted so good as when rolled into four miniature loaves (bit of pork sausage and half a pound of ground beef for all) with some clever stretching techniques that actually make them more intriguing. Pop into the oven and forget until serving time.

Clever Meat Loaves In Corn Dispel The Pre-Payday Blues

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

What's cooking the day before pay day?

Our latest try at a low-cost dinner dish for four makes a half-pound of ground beef stretch to serve hearty appetites.

We'll say right now that we "saved" a little pork sausage (only ⅛ pound) to put with the ground beef, and stretched it further with whole-wheat bread crumbs and an egg.

We like this dish for its good flavor and because it saves pan washing; the meat is made into individual loaves and baked with frozen cut corn in one casserole. If you follow our advice you'll put four potatoes into the oven to bake along with the meat and corn.

Should company suddenly descend on you for this meal, you can use frozen broccoli stalks for a quick haute-cuisine salad.

Cook the broccoli according to package directions and drain; pour a marinade of olive oil, wine vinegar, prepared mustard, salt and freshly-ground pepper over the hot broccoli. Then cool off the vegetable while the meat and corn are baking.

For dessert have fruit, cookies or cheese and crackers — whatever's in the house.

INDIVIDUAL MEAT LOAVES

Ingredients: 1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut corn, ¼ cup diced pimiento, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup cubed trimmed whole-wheat bread (2½ thin slices), ⅓ cup milk, ½ pound ground lean beef chuck, ⅛ pound bulk pork sausage, 1 teaspoon grated bottled horseradish, 2 tablespoons grated onion (pulp and juice), ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 egg, paprika.

Method: Separate corn kernels by striking package against kitchen work surface before opening; turn corn into buttered shallow baking dish (about 1 quart size) or a deep heat-resistant glass pie plate (8½ by 1½ inches); sprinkle with salt and pimiento; allow to stand so corn will defrost partly while preparing meat.

Mix bread and milk well; add beef, sausage, horseradish, onion, mustard and egg; mix well. Form into 4 individual loaves. Place loaves in 4 "nests" in the corn.

Cover with casserole top or by tucking foil firmly over dish. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 45 minutes. Uncover last 15 minutes of baking; stir meat juices into corn.

Sprinkle loaves with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

Vagabond's Lunch One For The Road

Travelers and amateur photographers want to take along easy-carry easy-eat foods to save time. Here's a travel lunch that's easy to fix and eat. Crispy juicy apples, small buttered bread sandwiches made of whole wheat party rye, or oatmeal bread, wedges of mild nut like flavored Gouda, and a thermos or two of hot beverage . . . are perfect traveling foods.

Slice the cheese at home. Cut top half or red wax covering off by running a sharp knife around outer edge of cheese. Twist slightly and remove covering.

Map Company Keeping Pace With Space

CHICAGO (UPI)—You can still be up-to-the-missile with the old, round family globe.

He conceded that scientists from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who revealed our planet's tendency to bulge a bite at the bottom, have a point.

But it's a pretty small point, in Mapes' opinion. Not more than 100 feet variation in 8,000 miles.

"Why, the thickness of paper that we mount on our globes wouldn't represent the difference," he said.

Although Vanguard's discovery that the world is slightly pear-shaped hasn't made much of an impression on Rand-McNally, the firm is officially keeping apace with space.

"We now have swinging ring mountings for globes which can be adjusted to plot satellite orbits," Mapes said. "And maps of the moon, outer space and the various planets are hot items."

But he returned quickly to the subject of the earth's figure. The geophysicists weren't the first to think the world is pear-shaped, said Mapes. Christopher Columbus had the same idea.

"I find the world is not round as they (ancient geographers) describe, but that it is shaped like a pear, which is everywhere very round except where the stalk is—for there it is very prominent . . ."

Disposable Fashions

Japan is currently sending large orders of summer clothing to our shores. The real news is that these garments are made of paper — low-priced, sunfast, durable, and claimed to be washable!

STRAWBERRY SPECIAL

Plastic Brushes

An all-plastic scrub brush will eliminate matted bristles, as well as rotting and mildew.

The Spanish Answer

When the old saga of leftovers plagues you, turn to this recipe if the leftover is smoked cooked ham. Just cut the ham into cubes and combine it with Spanish rice which has been seasoned with chopped green pepper and grated onion.

Savory Barbecued Franks For Lazy Summer Supper

During the hot summer days any labor-saving idea in the kitchen is a good one. A meal easy to prepare and as easy to serve is doubly appreciated since it saves scouring those extra pots and pans.

Such a meal is this frankfurter "barbecue," cooked and served in a glamor skillet. This skillet looks and feels like fine china yet can easily go from freezer to rangetop to table. It saves so much time and energy when you can cook, freeze, reheat and serve in the same dish.

BARBECUED FRANKFURTERS

To serve six, prepare the barbecue sauce by adding the following to 2 tablespoons of melted fat in skillet; ¼ cup chopped onion; 1 cup tomato catsup; cup water; 2 tablespoons brown sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon black pepper; ⅛ teaspoon cayenne; 2 tablespoons vinegar; ¼ cup lemon juice; 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce; ½ teaspoon prepared mustard.

Cover dish and simmer over very low direct heat for 20 minutes. Slash 12 frankfurters at one-inch intervals, arrange in sauce in skillet, simmer 15 more minutes, covered.

BASEBALL MYSTERY

What Causes Hitting Slump? No One Knows

By ALEX KAHN

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—One of the great mysteries of baseball is the hitting slump and what to do about it, Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston said today.

Every club has them and the remedies are legion, Alston says. But the trouble is nobody knows what really helps a player get out of his slump.

ZIMMER IN TROUBLE

Right now shortstop Don Zimmer is hitting less than his weight and the earnest infielder has done everything under the sun trying to get out of it, to no avail.

Alston's remarks were prompted by the recent slump of the Dodgers during which the club as a whole was able to drive in only 32 runs in 11 games.

"I ordered extra-batting practice for only one man—catcher John Roseboro — because we had noticed that his hitting improves with extra work," Alston said.

BASICALLY TIMING

"But that doesn't work with other players. Some of them will snap back if they are given a few days rest. If we learn from experience that will work for a player, we take him out of the lineup and bench him for a while."

Alston said that basically a hitting slump was the result of a player's timing going bad. But it can be much more complicated than that, he added.

"We watch the man at the plate and in the batting cage to see if we can learn what bad habit he has picked up or what he is doing wrong. Sometimes we discover he is taking his eyes off the ball. In other cases he has his feet placed wrong so that he is awkward going after certain pitches, mostly the low and outside throws. Other men develop a hitch in their swing.

HODGES HELPED SELF

"If we can find those flaws and correct them it's fine and we congratulate ourselves. But then we have the cases of men who don't appear to be doing anything wrong, who may even hit well in batting practice, but who can't buy a base hit in a game.

"About all we can do is wait and hope that the man works out of his slump by himself. That was pretty much the case with Gil Hodges last year. We played around with his stance for a while but it only made him hit less. So we left him alone and he finally came around," Alston added.

He pointed out players like Hodges worried so much when they got into slumps that they voluntarily came out early and batted with the rinkydinks and the pitchers to get in more practice.

The heavyweight division saw minor shakeups. Bosley Wasn't Invited, But He Reported Early

By JACK STEVENSON

MORAGA (AP)—San Francisco 49er Bruce Bosley nearly gave up pro football a year ago, but this time he couldn't wait for practice to start.

So the former University of West Virginia All-American turned up at the rookie camp this week, uninvited but welcome. A year ago he blasted the low pay of linemen and decided to stay on his job at a health studio instead of playing.

He changed his mind and came back belatedly to the gridiron for the latter part of the season. During the winter the health studio, part of a national chain, went into bankruptcy.

TALKS WERE BRIEF

This time his contract talks with the 49ers lasted an estimated five minutes, and he came away satisfied.

"I want to get into good shape, so there was no use waiting," he declared on checking in at 239 pounds, six less than he played at last season even after finally getting into shape.

"I wanted to get into the spirit of things.

"I really look forward to playing more this year than any year before. There are things I want to prove to myself and to other people."

Bosley didn't elaborate, but many feel that in his three seasons of pro ball he hasn't yet lived up to his football potential.

Coach Red Hickey confirmed that the big lineman asked to report to camp early. Although there will be a lot of shuffling of positions, Bosley will be used exclusively as a guard on offense.

OUT OF SHAPE

"He looked very good the latter part of the season after he got in shape," Hickey asserted. "There's no way to play this game until you get into condition."

Bosley admits he was out of shape when he finally did report last season, explaining, "I was working at my job 12 to 14 hours a day and that was no way to get into condition. I actually thought I wouldn't be playing again, but once football gets in your blood it kind of stays there."

Sign-Up Time For Sausalito Net Tourney

The competition is slated for three successive Saturdays, Aug. 8, 15 and 22.

Tournament director John Minton said entries will be accepted in person any time this Saturday morning at the Richardson Bay School courts. Or, he said, they may be telephoned to him at home or to Mrs. Ann Hicks, the tournament's co-director.

There will be four divisions of play: Junior boys singles (age 18 and under); boys singles (age 13 and under); junior girls singles (18 and under), and girls singles (13 and under).

Minton urges all Sausalito youngsters interested in tennis to sign up for the competition. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded winners and runners-up in each division.

Little Luis Is Keeping Chisox In Contention

CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio, the little bandit of the basepaths, from Maraciabo, Venezuela, has Chicago White Sox rivals cursing with admiration.

The 25-year-old shortstop, the solid center of Chicago's well knit defense, is keeping the Sox in contention for the American League pennant not only with his fielding but also his superb base-running.

Luis has been the American League's top base stealer since breaking in the majors in 1956. As a rookie he had 21 stolen bases. Two years ago he led the league with 28, last year he was tops with 29 and this year he already has 31.

The minute Luis gets on base White Sox fans begin their hammering chant of "go, go, go." He has been caught stealing only eight times and three of these involved the tough attempts at third base or home plate.

In the field, Luis has no peer in either league. There are those who claim he is the greatest shortstop of all time. Many who won't go this far refuse to name anyone greater and add "he's as good as any" they've seen.

BEAM . . . World's finest bourbon since 1795

JIM BEAM

T. JEREMIAH, son of Col. James Beam, is 5th generation head of the house of Beam. He superintends the making of Beam bourbon from the purchasing of the grain to the taste-testing of matured whiskey.

CARL, 5th generation, Beam's Master Distiller—supervises the production of Beam bourbon, ably assisted by sixth generation members, Booker and Baker.

What makes Beam bourbon taste so good? More than anything — it is the fact that today, as for 164 years, it is still the Beams who make BEAM, under the same Beam formula, in Kentucky where bourbon was born. That's why you can always buy Beam bourbon with trust.

BEAM'S Pin Bottle
Rare bottling of Kentucky straight bourbon, 8 or 10 years old, (86.8 proof) with exclusive built-in pourer.

BEAM'S CHOICE

4 Million Americans Wear Contact Lenses

NEW YORK (UPI)—You wouldn't notice it—of course — but more than four million Americans now wear contact lenses.

They are spending more than 100 million dollars a year on the tiny slivers of plastic and their numbers today, according to the Eye Research Foundation, compares with 200,000 in 1950 and about two million two years ago.

Behind this boom is an improved contact lens—a far cry from the old kind, which was oval shaped and covered even the whites of the eyes. The new lens is about the size of a small thumbtack head and weighs about as much as a down feather.

It floats on the natural tear layer of the eye and is held into place by a force known as capillary attraction—a kind of suction. And it covers less than 60 per cent of the iris.

The modern design lenses can be worn 16 or more hours daily and, if correctly prescribed, cause no pain. They can't pit, won't steam up or cloud in weather changes or streak in the rain.

And, because the lens follows the eye and because of the absence of spectacle frames, there is a 15 per cent gain in margin vision — the peripheral view.

According to the Eye Research Foundation, the lenses are used most frequently for these vision disorders: myopia (nearsightedness), hyperopia (extreme farsightedness), astigmatism (distorted, blurred vision), aphakia (post-cataract removal), and keratoconus (cone-shaped cornea).

Children and teen-agers wear 27 per cent of the contact lenses in use today. Fifty-nine per cent of the wearers are female; 41 percent maile.

Women do so primarily to improve their appearance and vision. They also said their mates — or dates — prodded them into getting rid of the spectacle-frame look. Sixty per cent of the gals who wear the lenses are single.

Men said they changed be cause of ego, athletic activities, the influence of women and because "contacts" are less bothersome.

Adolescents said they changed to improve their appearance and to gain more social acceptance.

Among recent improvements in contact lenses is a process for grinding the lens' edge to hitherto unattainable angles. This means the edge never touches the eye-lid or the eye. And this reduces adaption time by 80 per cent.

The process was developed by Dr. Gilberto Cepero, of Havana, Cuba. The opthalmologist recently reported 90 per cent of 217 patients adapted to such lenses in less than one week, wearing them 10 to 12 hours on the first day.

Another aid is an electronic device developed by Dr. A. E. Reynolds of Tulsa, Okla., which determines the exact curvature of the cornea and allows the grinding and polishing of a perfect fit in contact lenses for the first time.

Now You Can Purchase Pre-Packaged Zoo

The package, or starter-set, zoo is a natural outgrowth of Carroll's career. For about a dozen of his 29 years, he has traipsed and trapped his way through jungles to pick up suitable specimens for various customers all over the world.

Carroll has a complaint about some zoos.

"Too many of them have become static and haven't tried to reproduce the animal's natural habitat as closely as possible. Gorillas must feel dirt under their feet. And zoo directors must continually find new ways to make the animals healthier and happier with better diets and cleaner surroundings.

"You know," Carroll said, "in the jungle, lions eat entrails and viscera. But in our zoos, they get big chunks of meat. I once persuaded a zoo director to feed his cats on the jungle diet and the animals started to look better, with shiny coats of fur, bright eyes, and better health. But along came some old dowager-type lady complaining about the cheap food the lions were getting. The director went back to the chunk meat diet and the cats went back to their listless, dull ways, too."

Carroll's chief dream is to build a permanent animal world's fair. "We have the land near Naples, Fla.," he said, "and all we need is about two-and-a-half million dollars. We'll place animals on islands so visitors can watch them as they appear in the jungle. We'll build life-size statues of animals that are no longer around, such as dinosaurs."

While he finds fault with the operation of many zoos, Carroll believes in the idea behind them. "I think there are definite cultural advantages to having zoos. Yes, we take away the animal's freedom, but in exchange, we give the animal food. They no longer must risk their lives in the search for food. We take them away from their enemies."

During his career, Carroll has been nipped on the arm by a 10-foot dragon on the island of Komodo in the South Pacific. He has wrestled pythons in Malaya; ridden rhinos in South Africa; been kicked by a wounded leopard; rubbed shoulders at night with gorillas; searched for blue whales off Alaskan waters and for the legendary abominable snowman in the mountains of Nepal. After 45 days of chasing around for the snowman, Carroll concluded: "I'm beginning to think it's just a story."

In travelling well over one million miles, he has collected about 150 pythons, 30 tigers, 16 rhinos, 10 giraffes and a comical and highly-prized proboscis monkey. He has been temporarily blinded by a spitting cobra and has suffered from malaria, dysentery and jaundice simultaneously. He also has picked up a facility for such languages as Indonesian and Swahili, not to mention Spanish, Italian, French and Portuguese.

"On our expeditions, we only kill for the pot. We bring the animals back alive. As a matter of fact, I've let as many animals go as I've brought back and I've given away as many as I've sold. I have a great deification for natural history. I love these animals. I don't believe it takes any great courage to shoot them," he said.

The most dangerous animal in Africa, said Carroll, is the little ant. "They kill more people than wild game. The most dangerous animal in the world? I'd say the rat. They carry so many diseases."

His future apparently was laid out when he was a small boy living in Norwich, Conn.

"My father gave me some maps of the world for Christmas when I was seven. I marked them up," Carroll recalled. "When my dad asked what I was doing, I told him I was planning future trips. I had laid out seven trips: To the Matto Grosso in Brazil; to Spanish Guinea; to the Belgian Congo; Asia, including China; to the Upper Amazon regions of Peru and to Alaska. My only divergence from this plan came when I couldn't get into China. I went to Alaska twice instead."

"I know that doesn't sound adventurous," he said, "but adventure is a state of mind. I like to be in the company of interesting people.

"I'm not a thrill-seeker. It's just that I'm fascinated by natural history, so I keep going back to the jungles," said Wyman Carroll, the insurance salesman who is probably his own worst risk.

OF COURSE the tossed green salad is an unbeatable favorite at Marin barbecues. A tangy dressing sets it off quickly and easily. Roquefort dressing is another memorable one.

FRESH FRUIT summer salad is a colorful, healthful course to serve. This one is made up of apple slices, grapes and pomegranates arranged attractively on lettuce. French or thousand island make good dressings for it.

AN EASY trick that makes a fancy dish is to place cantaloupe rings on slices of lettuce. Fill center with fresh melon balls or other fresh fruits and garnish with berries.

Try Colorful Summer Salads To Accompany Barbecue Meal

Whether you serve these salads for luncheon or for a patio dinner, they will make an attractive course for family members and their guests.

FRUIT SALAD BOWL

2 bananas, cut lengthwise in strips
4 slices avocado
4 slices red-skinned apple
2 slices pineapple, halved
8 slices orange
4 long slices cantaloupe

Dip the cut banana, avocado, and apple in lemon juice to prevent discoloration. On a bed of lettuce or chicory lay the long fingers of banana and cantaloupe; then arrange the other fruits around them, sandwiching each apple slice between two slices of orange. Use the watermelon balls and strawberries for garnish. In serving, see that each person receives a portion of each kind of fruit. Serves 4 generously.

GRAPEFRUIT-GREEN SALAD

In a salad bowl mix torn leaves of lettuce, chicory, and Romaine or watercress. Add diced celery, sliced radishes, and grapefruit segments in any desired proportions. Diced avocado may also be included. Sprinkle with celery seed and chopped chives or green onions. Dress with French dressing made with grapefruit and lemon juice, to which a little catsup has been added. Toss and serve.

MELON BOWL SALAD

Any type of melon may be hollowed out to serve as a bowl for fruit salad. A watermelon shell may be used for a large salad, serving as many as 8 or 10; a honeydew or honeyball melon is the right size to serve 2 or 3. Halves of small cantaloupes make attractive individual salad bowls.

Cut a piece off the bottom of the shell so that the bowl will stand upright. With a teaspoon or a French vegetable cutter, scoop out the flesh of the melon in attractive shapes. Any assortment of fresh or canned fruits may be combined with the melon: pears, peaches, apricots, pineapple, banana, grapefruit or orange segments, whole fresh strawberries, raspberries, or seedless grapes. Heap the fruit mixture into the melon shell and pour over all a sweetened French dressing. Garnish with sprigs of mint and serve. A fruit salad dressing may be passed at the table.

Bohemian Beef Dinner Has Flavor

Bohemian Beef Dinner has a flavor distinction unique in itself and is cherished by epicureans of fine foods.

The dish actually consists of beef cubes braised slowly and served over sauerkraut. However, the seasonings dress up the meat in typical Bohemian fashion. Salt, pepper, onions, garlic, dill seed, caraway seed, paprika and sour cream all blend flavors along with the beef cubes to present a meal you won't want to miss.

2 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 medium onions, sliced ¼-inch thick
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1 teaspoon paprika
½ cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) sauerkraut
Paprika

Brown beef in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper, onion, garlic, dill seed, caraway seed, 1 teaspoon paprika and water. Cover tightly and simmer 2½ to 3 hours or until meat is done. Add sour cream and heat through. Heat sauerkraut. Serve meat and sauce over sauerkraut. Sprinkle with paprika. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Spinach Takes On Italian Flavor

Ingredients: 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, 2 quarts boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 clove garlic (crushed), 3 tablespoons grated fine-flavored Parmesan cheese.

Cover and boil rapidly until tender—about 5 minutes. Turn into a colander to drain; lightly press out most of remaining cooking liquid with a fork.

Return drained spinach to kettle with oil, butter, crushed garlic and 1 tablespoon of the cheese; turn with fork over high heat to "fry" slightly. Turn into small shallow baking dish—an 8-inch heat resistant glass pie plate is fine. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons cheese.

Boon From Baby

Vitamins Aside, A Carrot Glazed In Orange Will Win

You may shout vitamins or point to the pretty color, but what really "sells" a vegetable is its flavor. Orange glazed carrots will stand on their own as a delicacy any spring day.

ORANGE GLAZED CARROTS

Ingredients: 3 cups thin diagonal sliced pared carrots, 1 cup boiling water, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons cornstarch, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ cup strained orange juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Method: In a 1½-quart saucepan, rapidly bring boiling water and ½ teaspoon of the salt to a boil; add carrots, cover and cook just until barely tender—about 8 minutes; drain. In the saucepan (without the carrots), mix together the cornstarch and sugar; stir in the orange juice gradually until smooth. Cook and stir over moderately low heat until thickened and clear, stir in butter until melted and orange rind. Mix in carrots and reheat. Makes 4 servings.

Leave The Fell

Many good cooks remove the fell—the thin outer covering of lamb—before roasting because they believe it is detrimental to flavor; but recent research indicates that the fell does not affect the flavor or roast lamb.

Bacon Dressing Sets Off Crisp Tossed Salad

Of course, each new salad combination must be accompanied by an even newer salad dressing.

Home economist and meat expert Reba Staggs has this Zesty Salad Dressing With Bacon to offer. It's a nippy combination featuring bacon, salad dressing, French dressing, vinegar, chopped onion, chopped parsley and capers.

Capers provide that something which makes this salad a standout while the bacon lends a crisp texture different from that of the greens.

DRESSING WITH BACON

6 slices bacon
½ cup salad dressing
¼ cup French dressing
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 tablespoons capers

Cook bacon until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Break into pieces. Mix together salad dressing, French dressing, vinegar, onion, parsley and capers. Chill. Serve over salad greens. Sprinkle with bacon pieces. Yield: 1 cup dressing.

The Reasons Why

There are four reasons why a butter-type cake may fall in the center: too much fat or sugar; too much baking powder or other leavening; too slow an oven; not baked long enough.

Refreshing

JELLIED FRESH FRUIT FOR SHORTCAKE

MADE WITH M.C.P. "LOW SUGAR" PECTIN

Jellied Fresh Fruits Will Not Soak Into Shortcake

SAVE THIS!...One Recipe for All Fruits Without Cooking

1. Measure 2 cups crushed or ground fruit and 1 cup M.C.P. "Low Sugar" Liquid Pectin into kettle. Mix well.
2. Add 2 cups sugar; blend mixture thoroughly to dissolve sugar.
3. Some tart fruits, such as Red Raspberries and Loganberries, may be tart enough to jell the fruit, but other fruits will need lemon juice. The amount of lemon juice to add ranges from ¼ cup to ½ cup, depending upon the kind of fruit being used.
4. First, try adding ¼ cup lemon juice, mix well. If texture and tartness suit you, do not add more lemon juice. If jellied fruit is not firm enough, then add ¼ cup more lemon juice; but no fruit will need more than ½ cup lemon juice for this basic recipe.
5. The fruit will jell immediately when the proper amount of lemon juice is added and it is then ready for use on shortcake, or if you want to keep it for future use, it will keep for weeks stored in refrigerator same as milk.

"Jellied Fresh Fruits" can be frozen in regular freezing containers for long storage. When thawed out, jellied fruit will retain its perfect texture and fresh fruit flavor.

The above recipe will make 2½ lbs. of "Jellied Fresh Fruit." This recipe may be doubled, tripled, etc., by multiplying all the ingredients by the same number.

They were Mrs. George Hospador, president, and Mrs. Thomas Burkell who reported on the convention.

Mesdames Russell Bettencourt and Joseph Hines reported on the successful rummage and bake sale and thanked those who made it possible. Chairman for the evening was Mrs. Joseph de Martini.

On Aug. 11, the group will welcome an official visit from the grand president, Mrs. Russell Silva of Petaluma. In charge of refreshments on that evening will be Mrs. Thomas Burkell.

VENETIA FORWOOD IS ENGAGED TO WED THOMAS FRANKLIN HOLT

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Forwood of Mill Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Venetia Forwood, to Thomas Franklin Holt of San Francisco.

Oct. 4 has been tentatively set for the date of their wedding at Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito.

The bride-elect attended school in England and in Washington, D. C. while her father was with the British Embassy there. Then she attended the Ecole de Commerce and the University of Neuchatel in Switzerland. She is employed at a San Francisco store.

Until they came to the United States in 1956 the Forwoods lived in the third oldest lived-in house in England. Grevel House, one of the first non-moated dwellings, is located at Chipping Camden in Gloucestershire. They kept it open to visitors because of its great historical interest.

Venetia's fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Holt of San Luis Obispo. His father is principal of the San Luis Obispo High School and Junior College.

He attended the Junior College and was graduated from the New Mexico Military Institute in 1952 and received his bachelor and master of arts degrees from the Stanford Business School. He was a member of Delta Kappa Upsilon Fraternity.

From 1954 to 1956 he served with the U. S. Army as a lieutenant with the Quartermaster Corps. He is presently employed as assistant bank examiner with the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco.

SECOND TRIP

Helen Gapen Oehler To Leave Next Week On African Safari

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

Helen Gapen Oehler, Mill Valley's noted artist who has been listed in many Who's Who editions, is leaving next week for her second African safari.

Mrs. Oehler returned home only a year ago after five month abroad that included three months in Africa, but this year she believes the safari will be even more exciting.

Only 10 people who have traveled extensively in Africa have been accepted for this adventure that will feature many "firsts." For 74 days the party will travel into many regions never visited before by a tour party and where the American is virtually unknown.

"We expect to experience quite a bit of discomfort," Mrs. Oehler said, "in order to see the really wild places, but I'm sure the records I hope to bring back will make it all worth while.

"Our itinerary will take us through lands laced by ancient caravans and ageless cities, to equatorial jungles and great plains where there are the world's most fabulous flora and fauna, fascinating people and unforgetable wonders."

"Since it is spring there we expect to see hundreds of miles of wild flowers in Namaqualand. Other highlights will be the thundering Aughabies falls, Ngorongoro crater, where only five of us will be permitted to go down to its floor at one time, and the lands of the whirling dervishes and the pure aboriginal bushmen of the Kalshari desert dating from the stone age."

Well known for her lectures illustrated with colored slides she takes on her world travels, Mrs. Oehler expects to gather unique collector's items and much fresh material on aspects of Africa not found in the political news of the day.

"Many people take pictures," she pointed out, "according to a scientific and arithmetical formula, but those of us who have an art education prefer to think of photography as artistic expression and work naturally in terms of color and composition."

After taking side trips to London and Ireland, she expects to return to Mill Valley the end of December and will have a one-man show of her works at the gallery Artist Associates maintains in Mill Valley's El Paseo.

LOTUS LINE FEATURED IN PARIS STYLES

PARIS (AP)—The lotus line featuring busts in bloom joined the fall and winter fashion parade in Paris today with the showing of Pierre Balmain's collection.

Stem-slim skirts were a little longer and jackets a lot longer. Many were tubular, hardly fitted at the waist but snug on the hips, with broader shoulders and classic collars.

Balmain brings back a longer waisted look. His skirts are several inches below the knee and his sleeves seven-eighth length. Beige and brown are his favorite colors for daytime, black for night.

Belt Can Limit Life Of Dress

A belt can often limit the life of a dress, so be a careful belt buyer advises the National Institute of Drycleaning. The Institute suggests you look for the wording "drycleanable" stamped on the back of the belt because many belts aren't.

Sometimes it's because the backing is made out of such stuff as cardboard, imitation leather — even paper. These come apart in the cleaning solvent. Sometimes there is an adhesive in rubberized innerlinings which dissolves and stains the outer belt covering.

Other belt problems your drycleaner can tell you about are: Linings and buckram facings that fade or bleed because of inferior dyes; belt and buckle backings which are fastened with an adhesive or glue which dissolves in the drycleaning solvent.

Beware, too, of glass or metal decorations which won't withstand even the mild mechanical action necessary for the drycleaning process.

Two New Members For Sea Point

With a "By the sea" theme, Miss Sue Erkelens and Miss Kathy Silva were welcomed into the membership of Sea Point Parlor 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West at its recent meeting at Perry's Hall, Sausalito.

The outgoing deputy grand president, Mrs. William Faber of Marinita Parlor, San Rafael, introduced her successor, Mrs. Louis Soldavini, also a member of Marinita Parlor, and the supervising district deputy grand president, Mrs. Frank Faustine of Sea Point Parlor.

Plans were made for a whist party to be held on Aug. 18 at Perry's Hall, to benefit the Children's Foundation. Also planned was a float entry at the Admission Day parade in Santa Rosa on Sept. 9.

The committee for the evening was composed of Mesdames Edward R. Souza, Walter Silva and Raymond Rodrigues.

New Look

When the glue dries, apply a sealer of clear, colorless shellac to protect the pretty surface and give it a fine gloss.

Making The Grade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal grades for beef have stimulated price competition, held down the costs of marketing and contributed to changes in the organization of the wholesale meat industry, reports the Department of Agriculture.

Most independent packers wholesale distributors and independent retailers, as well as chains, favor either the present voluntary system of beef-grading or a compulsory grading system, according to U.S.D.A. researchers.

Elegance Keynotes Parisian Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Sophistication is the swelling note in Paris fashions for fall and winter—less prettiness and more elegance.

Diagonal drapes are going strong, but most other trimmings have been trimmed off the new "plucked" silhouette, with a slimmer line and slightly longer skirts.

Cardin's promised suit revolution turned out to be long-jacketed tunic suits, mostly slim but unwaisted tubes. Jackets strike halfway between waist and knee. Tunic dresses have sheath underskirts showing about an inch at the bottom.

Cardin refuses to be pinned to one hemline. Some are short, barely covering the knee-cap. Others come down to mid-calf, as long as anything likely to be seen.

Big smuggler collars turn down to become small capes. Coats range from shapely barrels with curving stave seams to flaring trumpet shapes. Some have braid buttons and big flapped pockets.

Black and brown are the stars of the season, but sage, greens, white, carrot, eggplant purple, orange pink and rosy reds all are present in the Cardin collection.

The small belted waist is out; the wide variety ranges from bloused-over tops giving the illusion of a longer waist to slightly waisted effects.

HUSH PUPPIES — Some like 'em sweet, a bit; some like 'em with onion, but these are the basic South Carolina kind, which go with fish fries like . . . like . . . well, like hush puppies with a southern fish fry.

HUSH PUPPIES

Balls Of Sunny Cornbread Bobbing In Bubbling Kettle

Just watch those sunny-colored balls of corn meal batter bobbing around in our kettle of hot fat. Now they turn a mouth-watering golden brown. Flip them over and in another minute or two they're ready to be drained.

When we call "Hush puppies coming up!" everyone at our house hurries to come and get them. They're gobbled up as fast as we can fry them. Some eaters break them open and add the luxury of buttter. Others bite straightaway into the crisp batter bread.

Hush puppies are a by-product of outdoor Southern fish frys. They came into being when some old-time cooks stirred up the cornbread batter and dropped spoonfuls of it into the fat in which the fish had been fried. But outdoors or in, with fish or some other dish, or just by themselves, in the South or the North, hush puppies are still mighty good eating.

The amount of corn meal in the fried bread varies. Some cooks use all corn meal; others add flour in varying proportions.

An there are other variations, but talk about them softly because folk often get hot-tempered over these. Should hush puppies contain a smidgin of sugar? Should they be seasoned with onion? We've heard battles have been fought on behalf of or against these additions.

Here's where we bow out. Our recipe is a basic one—the version that according to one well-known Southern cook book is definitely South Carolina—sans both sugar and onion. If you think your eaters will relish the addition, you may add minced chives to it.

HUSH PUPPIES

Ingredients: 1¾ cups enriched yellow corn meal, ¼ cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons minced chives (if desired), 1 large egg, 1 cup mlik, fat for frying.

Method: Sift together the corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt. If used, add the minced chives. In a medium-sized mixing bowl, beat egg until yolk and white are combined; beat in milk to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients, stirring lightly until boistened. (Batter thickens quickly after mixing.) Drop a heaping teaspoonful of batter for each hush puppy into hot (375 degrees on deep-fat frying thermometer) deep fat. Fry only a few at a time — or as many as will float uncrowded on fat—until golden brown, 2 to 4 minutes, turning once. (Do not pierce with fork when turning.) Drain on brown paper or on several thicknesses of paper towels. Serve at once with butter. Makes 2½ to 3 dozen.

Frying? Broiling?

When panbroiling a meat cut, no additional fat or water is added. The pan is not covered and the drippings are poured off as they accumulate. In panfrying, a small amount of fat is added. Water is not added nor is the pan covered.

Basswood Blinds Don't Slice Light

If you don't like your light sliced up by Venetian blinds, and yet you value their combination of privacy plus illumination, consider using the handsome new blinds made of basswood splints.

These blinds diffuse and soften the light while protecting your privacy. All of their many colors can be washed easily in soap or detergent suds as often as necessary.

Stuffed Shoulder

If in need of an economy lamb cut that could be served for company or a Sunday dinner, purchase a cushion-style lamb shoulder. This meat cut can be roasted in a 300° F. oven — the same as a leg of lamb. For a color and flavor accompaniment, have the meat retailer cut a pocket in the shoulder. Stuff the pocket with either a spinach or carrot-raisin stuffing.

Wash, Then Open

Do you always wash food containers and jars when you bring them home from the store?

They are bound to collect dust, and if you open a can or jar with this dirt still clinging, some of it is almost certain to contaminate the food contents. Swab the container with warm soap or detergent suds, rinse it, and then open it.

Child Resistant

This year's prettiest new window shades—made of plastic interwoven with Fiberglas—are fire-resistant and child-resistant.

Anything—even fingerprints—that can be sudsed off an enamel surface will also disappear from these talented blinds if you apply a sponge dipped into soap or detergent suds.

SOMETHING TO GO WITH A SWELL MEAL

Heart-Shaped Cake Good For Many Events

Heart shaped cakes or heart decorations are appropriate for many occasions—not just Valentine's Day or a bridal shower or reception. This symbol is equally suitable for anniversary and birthday cakes, too. And there is nothing in the etiquette books which says it cannot be used for any cake whether a party cake or just for a family dinner.

The new Cherry Supreme flavor cake mix seems almost made for the heart. This mix makes a high pink cake with the delicate fruit flavor of cherries—the only layer cake mix with this wonderful cherry flavor. The Cherry Supreme mix and its companion flavor, Deluxe Chocolate Mint mix, are both available now in stores all over Marin.

A new process is used in blending these mixes. Because of this process, the mix is fluffier, providing cakes which are moister and more flavorful than ever. Freshness is guaranteed by a triple-wrap package, which also guards the aroma and flavor.

NO HEART?

To make a heart shaped cake you need a heart shaped pan. If you don't have one, just trace a heart on top of the cake. Cut a piece of paper the size of the cake, then fold it in half and draw half a heart on it. Cut it out and you will have a heart with two matching halves.

But of course, first you have to start with making the cake. See the instructions on the box of Duncan Hines Deluxe Cherry Supreme mix. You can make two 8" layers or one high 9" round or square cake. If you make two layers, use a cherry glaze or even a cherry jam between the layers. Then cover the whole cake—top and sides—with whipped cream. Now place your paper heart lightly on the whipped cream and outline it with halved maraschino cherries. Remove the paper and there's your cake.

Another way is to just cover the sides of the cake with whipped cream. Then lay your heart on top and outline it with whipped cream using a pastry tube. Lift the paper off and fill inside the outline with cherry glaze and outside with whipped cream.

To make the cherry glaze, mix together in small saucepan a half cup of sugar with two tablespoons of cornstarch and a quarter teaspoon salt. Stir in two-thirds of a cup of water and two tablespoons maraschino cherry juice. Cook over a medium heat until thick and clear. You will need to stir constantly. Add three or four drops of red food coloring to make the glaze a hearty cherry color.

Pensioners Spend Less On Food, Study Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Old folks on social security rolls spend only about two-thirds as much for food as average consumers.

This clue to the diets of social security "clients" who live independently emerged from a still-incomplete study by the Agriculture Department's Institute of Home Economics.

Experts on the problems of aging Americans, have long been concerned over the question of a healthy diet for old folks living alone on limited incomes.

Many believe that a large number of older citizens don't eat properly—in many cases because they do not take the trouble to cook properly balanced meals.

The Agriculture Department study is based on a survey of 337 households in Rochester, N.Y., in the spring of 1957. One-third of the households included only one person. Two-thirds had two persons. In all cases, at least one person in each household studied was over 65. No survey was made of any household including anyone under the age of 55. The average age of all the people surveyed was 72.

Janet Murray, an Agriculture Department research specialist, said the Rochester sample was picked because it was believed to represent a fair picture of oldsters drawing social security in much of the nation.

Department technicians are now analyzing the diets of the Rochester group to see how many fall below the nutrition levels recommended by scientists for their age group.

There are indications, partly borne out by the food spending figures included in a recent preliminary report on the survey, that a considerable number of the old folks' diets may fall below recommended nutrition standards.

The average weekly food bill for two-person families in the survey was $16.44, compared with $24.83 for all two-person households in the Northeast. The weekly bill for single-person households in the survey was $8.27 compared with $12.35 for all single-person households in the Northeast.

Some of the gap, research specialists pointed out, is due to the fact that food needs of the older families were smaller than those of younger persons. Another factor in the relatively low food expense for the old folks is the fact that they spent far less than the normal amount of money on food eaten away from home.

But experts fear that some of the difference may simply be due to a failure on the part of America's "senior citizens" to eat as well as they should.

PENNY PINCHER—A pinched penny never tasted so good as when rolled into four miniature loaves (bit of pork sausage and half a pound of ground beef for all) with some clever stretching techniques that actually make them more intriguing. Pop into the oven and forget until serving time.

Clever Meat Loaves In Corn Dispel The Pre-Payday Blues

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

What's cooking the day before pay day?

Our latest try at a low-cost dinner dish for four makes a half-pound of ground beef stretch to serve hearty appetites.

We'll say right now that we "saved" a little pork sausage (only ⅛ pound) to put with the ground beef, and stretched it further with whole-wheat bread crumbs and an egg.

We like this dish for its good flavor and because it saves pan washing; the meat is made into individual loaves and baked with frozen cut corn in one casserole. If you follow our advice you'll put four potatoes into the oven to bake along with the meat and corn.

Should company suddenly descend on you for this meal, you can use frozen broccoli stalks for a quick haute-cuisine salad.

Cook the broccoli according to package directions and drain; pour a marinade of olive oil, wine vinegar, prepared mustard, salt and freshly-ground pepper over the hot broccoli. Then cool off the vegetable while the meat and corn are baking.

For dessert have fruit, cookies or cheese and crackers — whatever's in the house.

INDIVIDUAL MEAT LOAVES

Ingredients: 1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut corn, ¼ cup diced pimiento, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup cubed trimmed whole-wheat bread (2½ thin slices), ⅓ cup milk, ½ pound ground lean beef chuck, ⅛ pound bulk pork sausage, 1 teaspoon grated bottled horseradish, 2 tablespoons grated onion (pulp and juice), ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 egg, paprika.

Method: Separate corn kernels by striking package against kitchen work surface before opening; turn corn into buttered shallow baking dish (about 1 quart size) or a deep heat-resistant glass pie plate (8½ by 1½ inches); sprinkle with salt and pimiento; allow to stand so corn will defrost partly while preparing meat.

Mix bread and milk well; add beef, sausage, horseradish, onion, mustard and egg; mix well. Form into 4 individual loaves. Place loaves in 4 "nests" in the corn.

Cover with casserole top or by tucking foil firmly over dish. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 45 minutes. Uncover last 15 minutes of baking; stir meat juices into corn.

Sprinkle loaves with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

Vagabond's Lunch One For The Road

Travelers and amateur photographers want to take along easy-carry easy-eat foods to save time. Here's a travel lunch that's easy to fix and eat. Crispy juicy apples, small buttered bread sandwiches made of whole wheat party rye, or oatmeal bread, wedges of mild nut like flavored Gouda, and a thermos or two of hot beverage . . . are perfect traveling foods.

Slice the cheese at home. Cut top half or red wax covering off by running a sharp knife around outer edge of cheese. Twist slightly and remove covering.

Map Company Keeping Pace With Space

CHICAGO (UPI)—You can still be up-to-the-missile with the old, round family globe.

Despite the satellite Vanguard's findings that mother earth is a trifle pear-shaped, Rand McNally, Inc., map-makers, are not disturbed.

He conceded that scientists from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who revealed our planet's tendency to bulge a bite at the bottom, have a point.

But it's a pretty small point, in Mapes' opinion. Not more than 100 feet variation in 8,000 miles.

"Why, the thickness of paper that we mount on our globes wouldn't represent the difference," he said.

Although Vanguard's discovery that the world is slightly pear-shaped hasn't made much of an impression on Rand-McNally, the firm is officially keeping apace with space.

"We now have swinging ring mountings for globes which can be adjusted to plot satellite orbits," Mapes said. "And maps of the moon, outer space and the various planets are hot items."

But he returned quickly to the subject of the earth's figure. The geophysicists weren't the first to think the world is pear-shaped, said Mapes. Christopher Columbus had the same idea.

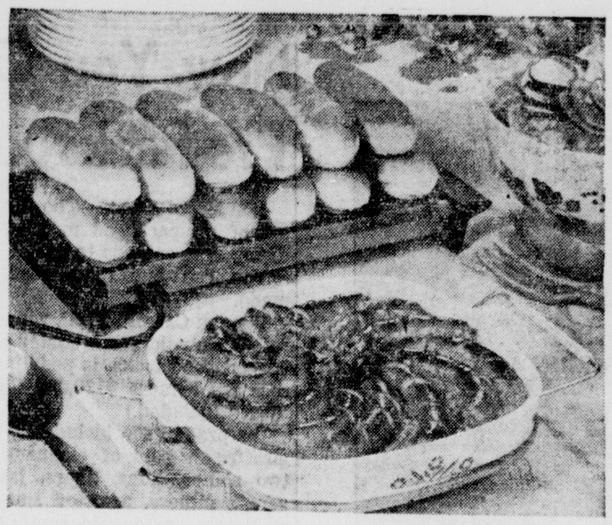
"I find the world is not round as they (ancient geographers) describe, but that it is shaped like a pear, which is everywhere very round except where the stalk is—for there it is very prominent . . ."

Disposable Fashions

Japan is currently sending large orders of summer clothing to our shores. The real news is that these garments are made of paper — low-priced, sunfast, durable, and claimed to be washable!



POT SAVER—A handsome skillet does double duty, setting off a savory arrangement of barbecued frankfurters. From here on, just pop into a bun and finish forthwith.

STRAWBERRY SPECIAL

A snowy angel food is twice as elegant when adorned with plump red strawberries. For a pink cake, add a few drops of food coloring just before adding egg white mixture. The icing is—what else?—whipped cream.

Plastic Brushes

An all-plastic scrub brush will eliminate matted bristles, as well as rotting and mildew.

This type of scrubber, which comes in red, turquoise, or yellow, retains its stiffness and stays sanitary by washing with hot soap or detergent suds.

The Spanish Answer

When the old saga of leftovers plagues you, turn to this recipe if the leftover is smoked cooked ham. Just cut the ham into cubes and combine it with Spanish rice which has been seasoned with chopped green pepper and grated onion.

Savory Barbecued Franks For Lazy Summer Supper

During the hot summer days any labor-saving idea in the kitchen is a good one. A meal easy to prepare and as easy to serve is doubly appreciated since it saves scouring those extra pots and pans.

Such a meal is this frankfurter "barbecue," cooked and served in a glamor skillet. This skillet looks and feels like fine china yet can easily go from freezer to rangetop to table. It saves so much time and energy when you can cook, freeze, reheat and serve in the same dish.

BARBECUED FRANKFURTERS

To serve six, prepare the barbecue sauce by adding the following to 2 tablespoons of melted fat in skillet; ¼ cup chopped onion; 1 cup tomato catsup; cup water; 2 tablespoons brown sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon black pepper; ⅛ teaspoon cayenne; 2 tablespoons vinegar; ¼ cup lemon juice; 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce; ½ teaspoon prepared mustard.

Cover dish and simmer over very low direct heat for 20 minutes. Slash 12 frankfurters at one-inch intervals, arrange in sauce in skillet, simmer 15 more minutes, covered.

HISTORICAL REVIEW

4 Million Americans Wear Contact Lenses

NEW YORK (UPI)—You wouldn't notice it—of course — but more than four million Americans now wear contact lenses.

They are spending more than 100 million dollars a year on the tiny slivers of plastic and their numbers today, according to the Eye Research Foundation, compares with 200,000 in 1950 and about two million two years ago.

Behind this boom is an improved contact lens—a far cry from the old kind, which was oval shaped and covered even the whites of the eyes. The new lens is about the size of a small thumbtack head and weighs about as much as a down feather.

It floats on the natural tear layer of the eye and is held into place by a force known as capillary attraction—a kind of suction. And it covers less than 60 per cent of the iris.

The modern design lenses can be worn 16 or more hours daily and, if correctly prescribed, cause no pain. They can't pit, won't steam up or cloud in weather changes or streak in the rain.

And, because the lens follows the eye and because of the absence of spectacle frames, there is a 15 per cent gain in margin vision — the peripheral view.

According to the Eye Research Foundation, the lenses are used most frequently for these vision disorders: myopia (nearsightedness), hyperopia (extreme farsightedness), astigmatism (distorted, blurred vision), aphakia (post-cataract removal), and keratoconus (cone-shaped cornea).

Children and teen-agers wear 27 per cent of the contact lenses in use today. Fifty-nine per cent of the wearers are female; 41 percent maile.

A recent survey by the Eye Research Foundation tells why men, women and adolescents are switching to contact lenses, which sell for $150 to $300.

Women do so primarily to improve their appearance and vision. They also said their mates — or dates — prodded them into getting rid of the spectacle-frame look. Sixty per cent of the gals who wear the lenses are single.

Men said they changed because of ego, athletic activities, the influence of women and because "contacts" are less bothersome.

Adolescents said they changed to improve their appearance and to gain more social acceptance.

Among recent improvements in contact lenses is a process for grinding the lens' edge to hitherto unattainable angles. This means the edge never touches the eye-lid or the eye. And this reduces adaption time by 80 per cent.

The process was developed by Dr. Gilberto Cepero, of Havana, Cuba. The opthalmologist recently reported 90 per cent of 217 patients adapted to such lenses in less than one week, wearing them 10 to 12 hours on the first day.

Normally, it takes two to six weeks to reach this goal.

Another aid is an electronic device developed by Dr. A. E. Reynolds of Tulsa, Okla., which determines the exact curvature of the cornea and allows the grinding and polishing of a perfect fit in contact lenses for the first time.

Now You Can Purchase Pre-Packaged Zoo

Before winter arrives, Carroll expects to be off for East Africa, filling orders for perhaps three more currently zooless American cities.

The package, or starter-set, zoo is a natural outgrowth of Carroll's career. For about a dozen of his 29 years, he has traipsed and trapped his way through jungles to pick up suitable specimens for various customers all over the world.

Carroll has a complaint about some zoos.

"Too many of them have become static and haven't tried to reproduce the animal's natural habitat as closely as possible. Gorillas must feel dirt under their feet. And zoo directors must continually find new ways to make the animals healthier and happier with better diets and cleaner surroundings.

"You know," Carroll said, "in the jungle, lions eat entrails and viscera. But in our zoos, they get big chunks of meat. I once persuaded a zoo director to feed his cats on the jungle diet and the animals started to look better, with shiny coats of fur, bright eyes, and better health. But along came some old dowager-type lady complaining about the cheap food the lions were getting. The director went back to the chunk meat diet and the cats went back to their listless, dull ways, too."

Carroll's chief dream is to build a permanent animal world's fair. "We have the land near Naples, Fla.," he said, "and all we need is about two-and-a-half million dollars. We'll place animals on islands so visitors can watch them as they appear in the jungle. We'll build life-size statues of animals that are no longer around, such as dinosaurs."

While he finds fault with the operation of many zoos, Carroll believes in the idea behind them. "I think there are definite cultural advantages to having zoos. Yes, we take away the animal's freedom, but in exchange, we give the animal food. They no longer must risk their lives in the search for food. We take them away from their enemies."

During his career, Carroll has been nipped on the arm by a 10-foot dragon on the island of Komodo in the South Pacific. He has wrestled pythons in Malaya; ridden rhinos in South Africa; been kicked by a wounded leopard; rubbed shoulders at night with gorillas; searched for blue whales off Alaskan waters and for the legendary abominable snowman in the mountains of Nepal. After 45 days of chasing around for the snowman, Carroll concluded: "I'm beginning to think it's just a story."

In travelling well over one million miles, he has collected about 150 pythons, 30 tigers, 16 rhinos, 10 giraffes and a comical and highly-prized proboscis monkey. He has been temporarily blinded by a spitting cobra and has suffered from malaria, dysentery and jaundice simultaneously. He also has picked up a facility for such languages as Indonesian and Swahili, not to mention Spanish, Italian, French and Portuguese.

"On our expeditions, we only kill for the pot. We bring the animals back alive. As a matter of fact, I've let as many animals go as I've brought back and I've given away as many as I've sold. I have a great deification for natural history. I love these animals. I don't believe it takes any great courage to shoot them," he said.

The most dangerous animal in Africa, said Carroll, is the little ant. "They kill more people than wild game. The most dangerous animal in the world? I'd say the rat. They carry so many diseases."

His future apparently was laid out when he was a small boy living in Norwich, Conn.

"My father gave me some maps of the world for Christmas when I was seven. I marked them up," Carroll recalled. "When my dad asked what I was doing, I told him I was planning future trips. I had laid out seven trips: To the Matto Grosso in Brazil; to Spanish Guinea; to the Belgian Congo; Asia, including China; to the Upper Amazon regions of Peru and to Alaska. My only divergence from this plan came when I couldn't get into China. I went to Alaska twice instead."

In his early career, Carroll used to raise cash for expeditions by selling insurance around New Haven, Conn.

"I know that doesn't sound adventurous," he said, "but adventure is a state of mind. I like to be in the company of interesting people.

"I'm not a thrill-seeker. It's just that I'm fascinated by natural history, so I keep going back to the jungles," said Wyman Carroll, the insurance salesman who is probably his own worst risk.
